POLITICAL OVERTONES

Murphy Is Now Seen as Likely Candidate for Governor . . . Said to Be Seeking Nomination With Dever's Sanction . . .

An impression is growing in political circles that Democratic House Leader Robert F. Murphy of Malden may carry his party's banner against Governor Christian A. Herter in next fall's campaign.

Boston's Mayor John B. Hynes, the Democrat who undoubtedly could have made the strongest fight against Herter, has eliminated himself as a possible candidate, and Democratic politicos are gradually becoming convinced that former Governor Paul A. Dever meant what he said, when he announced that he would not "seek" any nomination this year.

Because Dever declined to say whether he would accept a draft, if one developed at the Democratic State convention early in June, many observers assumed that he was leaving the door open to such an eventuality. It now appears, however, that this may not have been the case.

Mr. Dever, it can be reported authoritatively, not only is doing nothing to promote or encourage a draft of himself, but he actually has undertook to persuade at least two well known Democratic figures to enter the gubernatorial race.

was leaving the door open to such an eventuality. It ow

Proclamation

WHEREAS, Cancer last year struck almost one in five Americans, claiming a total of 227,000 victims, almost half of whom were in the best years of life when they were most needed by their families, their work and their communities; and

WHEREAS, all citizens are aware of the danger of cancer, which strikes beyond the patient to the family and community behind him; and

WHEREAS, scientific research supported by the American Cancer Society continues its search indefatigably for a cure and the cause of cancer, holding out ever-increasing hope that cancer someday will be conquered, and already has developed techniques of treatment that make possible the cure of cancer when it is diagnosed early and treated promptly; and

WHEREAS, all citizens share equally the great responsibility of helping in the fight against cancer by contributing to the Cancer Crusade and by spreading lifesaving knowledge of cancer's danger signals:

NOW, THEREFORE, DO I, Howard Whitmore, Jr., Mayor of the City of Newton, Mass., proclaim the month of April as CANCER CONTROL MONTH in this community, and call upon all citizens to join in the Cancer Crusade of the American Cancer Society by contributing generously; and do further call upon all citizens to help spread knowledge of cancer's danger signals and thereby save lives.

LWV Opens Annual Fund Drive Today

As the League of Women Voters of Newton opens its annual campaign to secure financial support from the community today (Thursday), it is fitting that the people of Newton be reminded of the services that the League performs in their behalf.

The League of Women Voters is a non-partisan organization dedicated to stimulating the interest of citizens in understanding and participating in their government. The dues of the League are kept low in order that anyone who is interested will feel welcome to join. Additional funds come from men and women who believe that League work benefits the general public.

The dues paid by League members amounts to less than one half of the total League budget for 1953-54 of $3905. The amount of services that the League performs is thus directly related to the amount which League members and their friends contribute for their program.

Among the many services which the Newton League has performed this year, the publication of "Know Your Newton," the first complete guide to the government of the city of Newton is an outstanding example. The guide, compiled and written by League members has been distributed throughout the city and has received high commendation from city officials and leading citizens.

One of the new services performed by the League this year has been the telephoning of all new residents to the city with information about registration and voting. Thirty-nine per cent of those called have become registered voters — no small proof of the success of this new undertaking. Other services to the voter include a non-partisan candidates meeting held in the fall at which all candidates for city office appeared and expressed their views; votemobiles which toured all villages on election day with voting information; sound trucks which toured the city on election day to remind citizens to vote; distribution of candidates questionnaires and three "Candidates Meetings of the Air."

Designed to create and hold individual interest in civic affairs and to develop citizen responsibility the League conducted seven discussion groups, twice monthly, from October through March. Subjects under discussion included Newton city government, state taxes, treatment of juvenile offenders, congressional budget procedure, and civil liberties. These units represent the heart of League work, for here members meet to exchange views, and to learn about these topics which affect each one so vitally.

Other League work includes open meetings, and study and action in regard to the activities of the Newton Board of Aldermen and School Committee.

The annual finance drive of the League opens today. Mrs. Seymour Getter is chairman of the campaign. She has announced the following roster of captains who will help solicitors work throughout Newton: Mrs. J. Ernest Smith, Mrs. Charles Williamson, Mrs. Franklin Flaschner, Mrs. Herbert Goldberger and Mrs. William Knickerbocker. The drive will continue through April 15.

Extend Red Cross Fund Drive One Week; 80% of Quota In

Edward C. Michaud, Chairman of the 1954 Fund Drive for the Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, announces a one week's extension in its current campaign for $94,400.

"People who have been away or who have been too busy to have yet made their Red Cross donation will thus be given additional time to make their contribution," said Mr. Michaud. "As of March 29, we have raised 80% of our total goal. Still outstanding are donations from a substantial number of known donors and these may be expected to swell the total. We are pleased at the progress of the campaign to date and are making every effort to meet our goal in full. Red Cross services reach every individual in our nation at some time during their lives. We know that the need is real and that both the local Red Cross Chapter and the National Organization need every penny that can be raised. Neither Red Cross nor the public can afford to have any service lessened or eliminated.

Interviews About Newton

"Should The Postal Service Pay Its Own Way?"

Mrs. Nathan Rosenblum, 60 Pilgrim road, Natick. Newton Visitor. "I don't think that neither the government nor private citizens should pay for any loss. I think the news publishers and magazine publishers should pay more then it wouldn't be necessary for us private citizens to have to pay for the loss. The publishers are getting enough money for their advertising and can well afford an increase in postal rates."

Peter Sostilio, 9 Josselyn place, Newton Highlands. Contractors Ass't. "Yes, if it can. But I think the government should pay for any loss rather than have the postal rates go up. I think most people would rather see this happen than to have the rates go up any higher than they are now. In fact, I think they're high right now."

Miss Theresa Curtis, 19 Curtis street, Newton Highlands. Secretary. "I think the government should pay the loss because I'd rather the postal rates did not go up any more than they are right now. If you send a package out now it costs almost as much as the package is worth just to mail it. Rates are high enough.

Mrs. Marcella DiDonato, 166 Elliot street, Newton Upper Falls. Housewife. "I think the government should take care of any loss there might be. Why, when you think of the cost of money orders alone, well they are really high and if they were any higher, I don't think people would use them at all. Personally, however, I think the cost of sending letters is fairly cheap."

Abp. Cushing to Officate in Ground Breaking Ceremony

Archbishop Richard J. Cushing will break ground for a $1,000,000 addition to the campus of Newton College of the Sacred Heart on Saturday at 4 p.m.

The new building will provide accommodations for 50 additional resident students, as well as increasing the classroom space and providing a 400-seat dining room, assembly hall, day students' lounge and offices for the president and other members of the administration.

James V. Whalen is chairman of the $2,500,000 building fund campaign. Mrs. John Elston and Mrs. Charles F. Hurley head the women's committee. This building, to be called Stuart House, is the first of 11 new additions to be raised on the campus as part of the college development program.

According to Mother Eleanor S. Kenney, R.S.C.J., president of the College, the invited guests to Saturday's ceremonies include Rev. Joseph R. N. Maxwell, S. J., president of Boston College; Rev. Furlong, pastor of Our Lady Help of Christians Church, in whose parish the college is located.

Others include Eugene Kennedy Jr. and Arthur Kennedy, representing Charles D. Maginnis of Maginnis and Walsh, architects of the new building; James H. ## Carlon Ray To Be Acting Principal

The new Beethoven elementary school, located on Beethoven avenue near the intersection of Beacon street in Waban, will open its doors Monday, to approximately 250 eager youngsters now attending the Angier and Hyde Schools. The school, housing kindergarten through grade six, is a one-story building of masonry construction with face brick. It contains eleven classrooms, kindergarten, auditorium and playroom.

The teaching staff will be under the leadership of Carlon W. Ray, principal of the Angier-Hamilton schools, who will be acting principal of the Beethoven School for the balance of the school year.

The architectural firm of Kilham, Hopkins, Greeley and Brodie, Boston, planned the building, and it was constructed by J. F. Rand and Son, also of Boston.

N.C. Improvement Ass'n Polls Residents on Selling School

Before taking a stand on the question of selling the Mason-Rice School as the first step in replacing the old buildings, the Newton Centre Improvement Association is polling residents for an expression of opinion on the "ultimate disposition" of the property.

In a letter sent to 5000 Newton Centre homes, the Association wrote, "Over 100 years ago, this Association was formed to preserve and beautify Newton Centre. During this entire period, the Association has attempted to keep the citizens informed on matters which affect the character of the village.

"A proposal has now been made to sell the land on which the Mason School stands to finance, in part, a school near the playgrounds. The proceeds would be approximately $12 per resident of Newton Centre.

"Do you favor sale of this property, or would you prefer that it be kept for civic or municipal purposes?

"We believe the residents of Newton Centre should be offered an opportunity to express their opinions on this vital matter. Please mark your preference in the space below and return this card to us."

Three choices were listed: retention of the land for public use, sale of the land for apartments and sale of the land for commercial establishments.

Explaining the poll, William P. Ripley, president of the Association, stated, "We are not limiting this mailing to our membership as we believe everyone in the village should

The closing days of the campaign are at hand. As of March 29, 80 per cent of the goal of $94,400 has been reached.

Bloodmobile at Temple Emanuel Next Monday

The Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, announces that 164 pints of blood were collected at Newton Corner on Wednesday, March 24th. The success of the visit was due to the participation of Doelcam Corporation, New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, Ucinite Company, members of A. F. of L., Local 800 (state, county and municipal employees union), and residents of Newton.

The next Bloodmobile visit will take place Monday, April 5, at Temple Emanuel of Newton Centre — donor hours: 2 to 8 p. m.

Court of Honor Awards Made to Scouts

Advancement awards were given 111 Newton Scouts and two others were presented special awards last Friday evening as Norumbega Council held its Spring Court of Honor at the Weeks Junior High School. Three of the Scouts attained the rank of Eagle and one received the Eagle Bronze Palm.

Special awards made Nobscot Guardians of Robert Everett and David French, the chief and assistant chief of the Order of the Arrow service organization. To become Nobscot Guardians these Scouts first demonstrated their familiarity with the trails, cabins and equipment of Norumbega Council's Nobscot Reservation in Sudbury-Framingham as well as their knowledge of conservation, wildlife, fire prevention and use of fire-fighting equpment. The final test was proving their camping ability; this they did in the presence of a camping committee judge several weeks ago at the Rudnick campsite in Natick. As Guardians, Everett and French will be able to conduct Scouting groups on the Nobscot Reservation, both day and night, much the same as the customary supervision provided by adult leaders.

The three Newton Scouts to receive badges of Eagle rank were Charles Robins of Troop 17, James C. Dangel of Troop 7, and J. Dixon Bergman of Troop 24. The Bronze Eagle Palm was awarded David Raab, Eagle Scout of Troop 9.

BRIGHT EYED AND ALERT, Charles M. Robins and J. Dixon Bergman are two of Newton's newest Eagle Scouts. They, together with James C. Dangel, not shown, received their Eagle rank badges at Norumbega Council's Court of Honor last Friday and are shown here being congratulated by Felix Knauth of the council's advancement committee. (Garden City Photo Service, Photographer)

Requirements for Eagle rank have been somewhat tightened during the past several years. Additional emphasis now is placed on the service aspects of Scouting and upon character and citizenship development of the individual Scout. The Scouts who reach Eagle rightfully command the respect and admiration of their brothers in Scouting, their leaders, parents have an opportunity to express their opinion as to the ultimate disposition of the Mason School property.

"We believe," he continued, "that Newton Centre Square is unusual in the number of public buildings and open areas adjacent to the commercial area. We believe that a change in the Mason School property could vastly affect the character and appearance of the square.

"We sincerely hope that everybody will mark their preference on this ballot and return it to us at the address indicated."

The poll was started as the result of a mass meeting of parents and members of the Mason-Rice Parent Teachers Association two weeks ago, demanding replacement of the old school buildings. At the meeting, Mayor Howard Whitmore suggested that he might authorize architects drawings of a new school if the older buildings could be sold at a reasonable price.

More Than Hundred Displays At Weeks JHS Science Fair

Tuesday evening the public viewed the exhibits in the gymnasium of Weeks Junior High School at their seventh annual science fair.

Parents and friends crowded the hall to see the more than 100 displays, projects, and experiments done by individual members of the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades. These were the result of interest initiated in classroom work, or through outside hobbies, for participation in the fair was voluntary, and separate from the classroom instruction in science.

Charles Howard, who headed the committee of faculty and students running the fair, announced the winners of the fair which was judged by a group of science teachers from nearby schools. One first, one second, and one third prize, and a group of honorable mentions were awarded in each class. Winners are eligible to participate in the science fair at Newton High School today (Thursday) and tomorrow.

In the seventh grade, the first prize was awarded to Fred Roisen for his exhibit consisting of an incubator which he had made, and his experiments on the embryology of chickens entitled, "Is It Possible to Hatch Colored Eggs?" Second prize went to Ken MacKenzie who had constructed a Canturium Star Finder. Minna Horowitz with her "Experiments in the Conduction of Cold" took third place. Honorable mention was given to Mike Greenwald, Bernadette Di Corio and Carole A. Berberian, Bob Stephanson and Bill Morris, Stephan Johnson, and Frank Maurer.

Dick Cohen and Peter Derow were awarded the first prize in the eighth grade for their three-dimensional proof of the Pythagorean theorem. James MacCausland and Ronald McEldowney, with their exhibit entitled, "Interesting Facts in The Life Cycle of New England Insects" won second prize, while Allan Gordon's work in plastics won third prize for him. Kent Barrabee, John Hegnalier, Janice Meissner, Peter Soltz and Geoffrey Cavanaugh were given honorable mention.

Paul Elkins was awarded the first prize in the ninth grade for his plaster of paris model of the human ear which he had constructed. Second place went to David Lyons for his exhibit entitled "Parapsychology," while third prize was awarded to Nancy Milender for her work, "Bacteria in Water." Honorable mention was given to David Ryder, Francis Trapp, Judy Shapiro, Leslie Moskovitz, Nancy Myers, Barbara Robbins, and Leslie Madfis.

North Little League Expands Into Pair of 4-Team Loops

The Newton North Little League, whose All-Star team participated in the 1953 Little League World Series, will be expanded to two leagues of four teams each this year if sufficient sponsorship can be obtained, according to an announcement by Frank Donnellan, prominent basketball official and new president of the Newton North loop.

"The decision to expand our activities is the result of a National Little League regulation that limits a four-team league to an area of 15,000 population," said Donnellan. "Our new league will extend eligibility to most of the nine to 12-year-old boys on the north side of the city," he said.

The North League will include the area within the following boundaries:

From the Waltham line at North street, to Albemarle road, across Watertown street to Harrington street to Washington street; easterly on Washington street to Church street to Centre street; south on Centre street to Franklin street to the Brighton line; along the Brighton line to the Charles River.

The new West League will include the area bounded as follows: from and including Decatur street at the Waltham line along North street to Albemarle road, across Watertown street to Harrington street; westerly along Washington street to the railroad at the Woodland Country Club; along the railroad to the Charles River in Auburndale and following the river to the Waltham line.

Both sides of the streets that form the dividing line between the North and West leagues will be included in the North league area.

The proposed breakdown of the North side of the city will not include the area south of Washington street from Church street to the railroad at the Woodland Country Club. Anyone interested in forming a Little League in this area is urged to contact James E. Murphy at BIgelow 4-6802 or T. Frank Copp at the Roy S. Edwards Lumber Company in Newtonville.

Plans are underway for distribution of registration cards through the schools in the area. The time and place for tryouts in both leagues will be announced at a later date.

Spring at Jackson Homestead Brings Nostalgic Memories

"Oh! Aunt Cutty, Aunt Cutty, Spring is here" we children would joyously shout when we noticed the first buds on the trees. But the dear Aunt would usually say: "Not quite spring yet. Mother Nature is not wholly awake from her long winter sleep, so be patient a bit longer."

To me, spring was such a glorious season at the Jackson Homestead. The very tall purple lilacs with the fragrant blossoms, all across the front wall, which gave privacy to the flower beds, each square plot edged with boxwood hedge. And all over the front of the house lavender clusters of wisteria blooms, and tiny soft green leaves. The root of this vine was brought from England by Edwin F. Smallwood who was one of the first settlers of Hunnewell Hill in Newton, and whose son, Edwin, married one of the Jackson aunts.

There were many large and beautiful trees on the lawns; the horse chestnut like a giant's bouquet, covered with white flowers and the brown "satin" nuts we gathered. The thorn tree we admired as unusual, still it was the one tree we didn't attempt to climb.

During the summer, taking our dolls, we children would play by pthe pond and brook, watching the many frogs hopping about on the grass and jumping into the water. Tiny fish swimming around the rocks at the ponds edge where red cardinal bloomed, also cow slips, jack-in-the-pulpits, forget-me-nots and violets grew. Sitting beneath the willow tree, we listened to the song of many birds nesting in the tree tops, and watched squirrels scampering about. Beyond, in the meadow, were white valley lilies and white lilac bushes, also a patch of pink lilies of the valley, the roots of these were brought from Holland by a beau of one of the aunts. Those were the days of sailing vessels.

Aunt Cutty reveled in the flower gardens, weeding and planting. Such a riot of color, all season. At springtime the geranium plants, which had blossomed during the winter in the front windows were planted outside, but the ivy in the diningroom was never taken out. I often wondered, as a child, what kept the ivy growing all around the room, so near the ceiling; why it did not fall down.

I wonder how many, now living in Newton, remember the pond and brook in the meadow? About 1900 the city of Newton built Jackson Road, on some of the Homestead land. Therefore the brook was "diverted" and now flows underneath Jackson Road through big drain pipes. In the book of Jackson poems is one called "The Brook" written by Miriam Jackson Smith; part of one verse follows:

"Ne'er thinking or dreaming it ever could be
That our brook would be taken, diverted they say
And left in its place—a dusty highway."

Eventually spring, then summer came, the tiny shoots pushing up through the earth, and the flowers and gay colored blooms coming in the front yard. The pride and joy of Aunt Cutty was a yellow rose bush which had been planted by great grandmother "Jack." Never a season came but the big golden roses would cover the bush, and be gathered to place beneath the portrait of Grandmother "Jack."

Near the side door stood a black heart cherry tree, which we children would climb and eat the fruit to our heart's content. The robins did not seem over greedy in those days so we had plenty.

Always, at springtime, my thoughts return to the happy memories at Jackson Homestead.

Lobster, Roast Beef Favorites At 1812 House

What kind of food do people choose when they go out to eat?

That's a simple answer, according to Robie Faulkner, manager of the 1812 House, a Treadway Inn, in Framingham which opens for the season today (Thursday). The overwhelming choice is lobster and roast beef.

So that's what Faulkner serves in the white clapboarded inn. Lobster comes in five varieties, including lobster shortcake which is served for noon meals. The roast beef is rare or well-done. Other dishes like 1812 House Clam Chowder and chicken are served, but lobster and roast beef are the steady favorites.

The 1812 House, a famous Framingham landmark, was a New England homestead for several generations before it became a restaurant. It stands on a tract of land originally called "Salem End" because of the early colonists who settled there after being driven from Salem by the witchcraft persecutions.

A Force for Good

American women could elect the next President of the United States if they took advantage of their superior members. They could elect the next Mayor of Newton also. These women—and their menfolk also—are blessed by the existence of the League of Women Voters. This non-partisan organization, with its splendid record of stimulating interest, clarifying issues, and encouraging independent thinking, is dedicated to making women aware of the important roles they play in the political scene. It is dedicated to making them—and their menfolk also—play this role intelligently and actively.

Newton is fortunate to have in its midst a large and active chapter of the League of Women Voters. Its members do a thorough job of informing us about election issues and voting information. They attend all meetings of the Board of Aldermen and School Committee and take an alert interest in their functions. They sponsor open meetings for Newton citizens on topics of importance to us all from local tax problems to world trade. They study and report to us about the city government and its schools. And they carry on a continuing program of keeping each other informed about world affairs.

Surely such activity deserves the support of every citizen of Newton. This week the league is asking for this support in the form of financial contributions to aid their work. League dues are kept low so everyone can join. The amount of their services to us depends on how much we give to them. Don't let them down. To do so is to let down a force for good government in our city, our state and our country.

Political Overtones

His first choice was Mayor Hynes, but Hynes insisted that he had a responsibility and obligation to the people of Boston to serve out his term and finish the job he started.

Next, persons very close to Dever unquestionably acting with his consent and possibly at his direction, sought to induce Congressman Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., of Cambridge to make the fight against Herter.

O'Neill, who is now serving his first term on Capitol Hill, felt that he wasn't quite ready to strike out for the Governorship and that he should serve a longer stewardship in Washington before seeking promotion.

Now, Democratic House Leader Murphy, who is making passes at the gubernatorial nomination, has confided to friends that he is doing so with Dever's consent.

Murphy, the top Democratic spokesman on Beacon Hill, is a sound and able politician, has an excellent grasp of State problems and undoubtedly would be a forceful and vigorous campaigner.

However, he would not be a colorful candidate, and except in his home city of Malden and among the politicians at the State House he is not particularly well known.

It might also be argued that Governor Herter was not especially well known prior to the 1952 campaign, and in a sense that is true. But he had served in the State Legislature, had been Speaker of the House of Representatives and had achieved considerable prominence from the 10 years he spent in Congress.

At the moment Murphy must be rated as the leading candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial endorsement. Murphy, of course, would step out of the picture, if Dever consented to be drafted. In fact, he would not be launching any campaign, if he felt there were any likelihood of that happening.

Murphy would get powerful backing from the Democratic legislators, many of whom will control blocs of votes at the convention, and if he also has the support of the Dever organization, he would be the favorite to win the convention endorsement.

If Dever is not a candidate and discourages a draft, Murphy's most potent opposition probably would come from Sheriff Howard Fitzpatrick of Middlesex County.

One of Murphy's problems is that if he is going to run for the Governorship he can't afford to wait until June to start making himself known to the voters. The same thing could be said of Fitzpatrick.

Congressman Philip J. Philbin will shortly announce himself a candidate against State Terasurer Foster Furcolo and ex-Governor James M. Curley for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator.

That will be simply a formality as far as Philbin is concerned. He already is campaigning energetically and reportedly has made considerable headway in lining up convention delegates.

The big question mark in that contest is Mrs. Maurice J. Tobin. Supporters of the late Secretary of Labor declare that they will place Mrs. Tobin's name in nomination at the Worcester convention unless she specifically requests them not to do so.

Mrs. Tobin will only say that she is watching developments and hasn't made up her mind what she will do, but she quite definitely has not ruled out the possibility of running, and it's possible she might be the most colorful candidate on the Democratic ticket.

Neither Furcolo nor Philbin would remain in the race, if not nominated by the State convention. That wouldn't necessarily be true of Mrs. Tobin, and ex-Governor Curley declares that, for sure, it would not be the case with him.

The Democratic picture is heavily weighted with uncertainty. One group of party members is going ahead on the assumption that ex-Governor Dever will be drafted to head the ticket. Another contingent, including many persons regarded as close to Dever, now declare there is no basis whatever for that belief. A third wing until now has been clinging to the vain hope that Mayor Hynes might change his mind and carry his party's banner into State-wide battle.

Meanwhile, Governor Herter appears to be solidifying his position a little more firmly every day, and, barring a sudden shift in the political trend, he will not be an easy opponent for any Democratic candidate.

By the time the McCarthy committee gets around to holding its public inquiry into the so-called "Schine" case and the exchange of conflicting charges between McCarthy and the army, many persons are likely to have forgotten what started the dispute in the first place.

It is now three weeks since the army made its allegation that McCarthy and his committee counsel, Roy M. Cohn, had tried to pressure Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens and Army counsel John G. Adams into giving a commission and a New York assignment to Private G. David Schine, the committee consultant who was drafted last November.

Some Washington observers predict that the hearings, when they finally are held, will not settle anything, that charges and counter charges will be hurled, that no clearcut evidence will be presented and that the controversy will be veiled in just as much doubt and uncertainty as exist now, with most persons still believing what they want to believe.

Former Boston School Committeeman Isadore H. Y. Muchnick may undertake a political comeback next autumn as a candidate for Congress, according to some of his friends.

Muchnick made an unsuccessful bid for the Congressional nomination two years ago but was defeated in the primary by City Councillor Frederick C. Hailer, Jr., of Roslindale.

At that time Muchnick did not live in the Curtis district. He has since moved into the district and now resides in West Roxbury.

News Brevities

Oppose TV Tower Site

A group of Newton Upper Falls residents, fearing that a proposed Channel 5 television broadcasting tower in their vicinity would shutout all other channels, registered opposition to a request for a zoning variance, brought in behalf of Radio Station WHDH which would permit the construction of such a tower. The protest was made to the Aldermanic Claims and Rules Committee at City Hall last week.

R. C. Chairman Asks Greater Fund Giving

In reporting on the progress of the 1954 Red Cross Fund Campaign, Edward C. Michaud, fund chairman, said, "I wish to remind the citizens of Newton that the success of the Red Cross Drive depends upon the necessity of receiving from each contributor an amount equally as great, or greater than that given a year ago."

"Although 60 per cent of the 1954 Fund goal of $94,400, has been raised, the difference between limited and complete services next year will be determined by the support given the drive these remaining few days," stated Mr. Michaud. "Who is going to be hurt if the total of $94,400 is not collected by March 31st?

"Frankly, you are, no one else", continued Mr. Michaud. "Because you are the Red Cross. It is your son or brother in the Army, Navy or Air Force who receives your help through the Red Cross.

"You may be the one to receive the pint of blood given through the Red Cross that will save your life. You may be the one who will be given a back rub in the hospital by the nurse's aide trained by the Red Cross. You may save your daughter's life only because you learned how to apply a tourniquet in a Red Cross first aid class.

"Do you think you will be immune from sickness and accident? If you are like the rest of us, you and yours will one day be sick or injured. The Red Cross volunteers in the hospital will be a source of comfort and the techniques learned in a Home Nursing Class will make home care easier.

"You are the Red Cross. It's your Red Cross. It cannot be taken for granted when you have not fed and nurtured its being. You can keep the Red Cross at the side of those stricken by disaster, or you can destroy the Red Cross by turning your back on it now.

"Your Red Cross has definite responsibilities given by our government. To fulfill these requirements you must give blood, you must take time for volunteer and safety duties, and you must give money.

"If you have given no blood—give a pint. If you have time to give — give it. If you have given money—give a little more if you can.

"If you have not yet been solicited, please mail your contribution to the Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, 21 Foster street, Newtonville. If you have not yet given, please do it now. Your Red Cross in Newton must succeed."

Channel 2 Subject of Newton Community Council's Meeting

"What Does Channel Two Mean To You?" is the subject of the annual meeting of the Newton Community Council next Thursday at 6:30 p.m. in the Normandie Room, Auburndale.

Do you know that within a matter of months without any adjustment to your present TV receiver, you will be able to enjoy the rich resources of Massachusetts' renowned educational institutions, museums, art centers, and civic and industrial enterprises, as well as educational programs from all over the country?

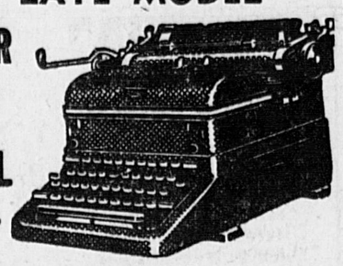

Parker Wheatley, managing director of the new educational TV channel, will give us some very practical points about the program planning of the station such as: the kind of programs; live, film and kinescope; subject content; schedule hours; how we can use the channel to best advantage; what individuals or groups can or cannot appear on TV; and what our responsibilities are concerning the channel.

This new channel will affect the entire life of our community, as individuals and as members of organizations. The Council has a committee on educational TV headed by Mrs. Lloyd Fogg, which will act as a clearing house of information and as a liaison between the station and the citizens of Newton. She has been assisted in planning the meeting by William Winston of the Newton Public Schools, and Mrs. Harry D. Brenner of the P.T.A. Council.

Miss Adelaide B. Ball, retiring president of the Council, will conduct the meeting. She is the first woman ever to be president of the Council and the first person ever to serve a three-year term. She has served on the Governing Board several years performing many important tasks, especially during the past year as chairman of the Human Relations Committee

Anyone interested may attend the meeting. Reservations may be made by calling the Council Office, LAsell 7-5121.

TELE-VIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS
Since last week, when a member of our family won an OSCAR for the sound work in FROM HERE TO ETERNITY, it has occurred to me that I have been talking too much about Video and not enough about Audio.
Apparently, too many of you are not familiar with the fact that we, too, pride ourselves on our audio know-how and that we have a special Hi-Fidelity Studio in a private room above our store.
We have equipment in this room that is capable of reproducing faithfully any sound audible to the human ear — nay even more. Up to now only a relative few "long-hairs" have been interested in such audio response, but I believe the day has now arrived when practically everyone is cognizant of the audio limitations of the average mass-produced instrument.
If you want to hear music at its best; if you want to be able to identify every instrument in a symphony orchestra — to be able to differentiate between the mellow low note of a bass saxaphone and the growl of the same note on a bass tuba, come in any day between 9:00-6:00, or of an evening by appointment. And if you are interested in improving and modernizing any of your old equipment, or would like a custom installation of a Hi-Fidelity music system in your home, there will be someone on hand to advise you and quote you prices. Bring your own records, too, if you wish.
And in the meantime, remember that the most expert and prompt service for your TV or Radio-Phonograph is available locally by phoning

N-W Hospital Jr. Aid Association

Members of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Junior Aid Association are well informed on the work of the F. B. I. after their meeting last Thursday evening at the hospital. At the conclusion of the regular business meeting Mrs. Henry Pinney, program chairman, introduced F. B. I. Agent John J. MacGillicuddy who took his audience behind the scenes of that famous organization. "The F. B. I. is open 24 hours a day for anyone to make a complaint or offer information", Mr. MacGillicuddy said. He said that the chief function of the F. B. I. is to "furnish maximum protection to the American people" and to "protect the nation against the violation of federal laws." Since 1939 the organization has also had to be concerned with the subversive elements which have been and are such a danger to the American way of life, first Nazism and later Communism. Mr. MacGillicuddy related case histories from the files as examples of the often long and tedious investigation which must be carried on in order to successfully conclude a case. A film entitled "A Day with the F. B. I." was the next best thing to a personally conducted tour of the Bureau's headquarters in Washington, D. C. and the F. B. I. Academy. An informal discussion period followed.

Refreshments served at the conclusion of the program were provided by the hospitality committee. Headed by Mrs. Richard McEldowney, members of the committee included: Mrs. Richard Haward, Mrs. Robert Steinsieck, Mrs. Robert E. McCourt, Mrs. Blake A. Tennant, Miss Ruth Waldron and Miss Althea Stone. Coffee hostesses were Miss Sally Pride and Mrs. Douglass Haward. Mrs. Stuart Hills provided the floral centerpiece for the table.

YOU are part of their prayers . . .

ONE MORE SPRING has come to our spinning earth. The dark soil stirs: the vines revive. Who can doubt now that the resurrection and the life are real—? It is a time for joy and hope; a time for faith; and never, surely—never—a time for despair . . .

Yet thousands of Americans will come this week to the church or temple of their choice—unjoyously, with despair in their hearts—to pray for a miracle.

They are the lovers of the doomed. They have listened to the most terrible words that those who love can ever hear:

"I'm sorry . . . Your wife . . . Your mother . . Your brother . . Yes, Cancer. We discovered it too late . . "

In so little time now, they must learn to live alone. For those they love will die: a year from now; a month from now; a few weeks, more or less. Only a merciful miracle can change the story: the final, sure cure for cancer. It is for this they pray.

And you are a part of their prayers. For man is the instrument of God's works. The miracle men pray for, in the battle with man's cruelest enemy, must come from the laboratories of men . . . the laboratories you support, through your contributions to the American Cancer Society.

You can turn the page now — and forget about the whole thing in twenty seconds. Or you can pause and consider how much you want to give.

years. Mr. Shattuck is a partner in the firm of Shattuck and Clifford, Advertising Counselors, and has been identified with campaign activities for many years and last year was Assistant Campaign Chairman.

George L. White was reelected Treasurer and H. J. Pettengill, Clerk of the Corporation. Mr. White is Vice-President and Trust Officer of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Co. and Mr. Pettengill is the Executive Director of the Chest.

Mr. Bellman also was appointed Chairman of the Budget Committee for the coming year and Mr. Shattuck Chairman of the Campaign Committee. Robert R. Walker, Public Relations Counselor, was reappointed Chairman of the Public Relations Committee and William M. Cahill, retiring President, Chairman of the Nominating Committee.

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., was the featured speaker of the evening, and Theodore Chase, Chairman of the coming 1955 Red Feather Campaign for Metropolitan Boston, also spoke. Rev. Howard R. Dunbar, Rector of the Trinity Episcopal Church, Newton Centre, gave the invocation.

President Cahill paid tribute to three retiring members of the Board of Directors who had served the Newton Community Chest in important positions for many years. He pointed out the contributions of Frank L. Richardson of Waban, retiring after twenty two years service, Joseph B. Jamieson seventeen years, and L. Sumner Pruyne ten years. Mr. Cahill also spoke highly of the fine leadership David Berkman, 1954 Newton Chairman, had given last fall's Red Feather Campaign when $301,052 was raised and expressed sincere thanks of the Chest Board of Directors for the fine work of the whole Campaign organization under Mr. Berkman. He also thanked Nathan D. Bugbee, Chairman, and the Budget Committee for their spendid accomplishments of the year.

Mr. Chase said that while fund raising was a vital function of United Community Services of Metropolitan Boston, planning and budgeting were essential to the success of the work. He said a lot more is raised by the 300 Red Feather Agencies associated by United Community Services than if they tried to raise their own funds and in addition thousands of dollars are saved through the operation of the central services. He stated that there are 1700 persons engaged in the year-round planning of the organization whose function it is to see that standards are not impaired and money is economically spent.

Mr. Chase paid tribute to Newton as being in the forefront in the Chest and Council movement. He called attention to the fact that approximately $60,000 more is raised each year than is allocated to Newton agencies and said that it is a fine example of Newton's generosity to help provide additional funds for hospitals and other important Red Feather services outside the borders of Newton.

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., selected as his subject, "The Citizen's Contribution on Behalf of His City." He said in part,

"I very much appreciate the opportunity afforded me this evening to present to you, who are so active in the causes of community betterment, the thanks and appreciation of all the citizens of Newton. Through your sacrifice of time, your devoted energies, your liberal monetary contributions and your enthusiastic leadership our city becomes a better place in which to live. Your unselfish and constructive activities provide far more in the fields of individual and collective human needs than can your city government. Through your contributions life for so many becomes happier and worthwhile.

"A leading psychologist, Dr. Edward L. Thorndike of Columbia University, conducted studies to determine what makes a city a good place in which to live. He concluded that money or individual wealth was not an important factor. Per capita wealth was not as important as the manner in which citizens spent their money. The cities where people spend their money on homes, provide schools for education, give unselfishly to churches and charities are the outstanding cities. Perhaps our city is no better than any other city of its population class and perhaps the people who live here are no better than people who live elsewhere, but in my opinion, I think we are fortunate in having the finest city of its class in the Country, and the best, most civic-minded and charitable people.

'I think of the Community Chest as the continuous conscience of the community. You make your annual appeal, allocate its monies with scientific impartiality. These funds serve every day of every year. A portion of the money you spent last year is still at work; still rendering its service to the community. Indeed, it is no exaggeration to say that the effects of your expenditures may be evident five, ten or twenty years from now. Part of your money, as you know, goes into the strengthening of our character-building agencies. It is invested in boys and girls, young men and young women, implanting in them the ideals and principles of sound citizenship. This investment, though slow to mature, yields lasting dividends.

"The people of Newton look upon 'your services' with pride and gratitude and, like Mark Twain, upon first seeing the Atlantic Ocean—all of us term it a 'huge success.'"

Seated at the head table were: retiring President William M. Cahill and Mrs. Cahill; Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., and Mrs. Whitmore; United Community Services Campaign Chairman Theodore Chase and Mrs. Chase; President-elect Nathan D. Bugbee and Mrs. Bugbee; Rev. Howard R. Dunbar and Mrs. Dunbar; Treasurer George L. White and Mrs. White; immediate past Campaign Chairman David Berkman and Mrs. Berkman; Executive Director H. J. Pettengill and Mrs. Pettengill; and Public Relations Chairman Robert R. Walker.

The present series of five meetings is being led by Miss Katherine MacDonald, director of the Newton Visiting Nurse Association, and Miss Ruth Irwin, nutritionist-in-charge of the Newton Nutrition Center.

Special consideration in hygiene for the person with diabetes were discussed at this morning's meeting. Subjects discussed at previous meetings were food selection, the role of insulin and diet in controlling diabetes, methods of checking on control and their importance.

The second series of classes will start April 22. These meetings will be held in the evening to accommodate those unable to attend morning meetings. Six registrations have already been received for this series. Classes are limited to 12 registrants.

"Something there is that doesn't love a wall, that wants it down." The words sing in the colored sunlight of the stained-glass medallion engraved in the North window of the Newtonville Library. They were first heard here in December 1939 when Robert Frost himself read his poem, The Mending Wall at the dedication of the library building. Artist C. J. Connick caught and preserved the opening words in blue, red, and green lights to illuminate the North window.

The library shows the artistic skill of architect of E. Donald Robb. The building is serenely Colonial, has two Reading Rooms on the main floor, a Boys' and Girls' Room in the South basement, and a Community Room for 125 persons in the north wing. The lighting is beautiful and dramatic throughout, also there are windows on all four sides to permit open sunlight whenever the day is fair.

The Newtonville Library Association campaigned and collected $30,000 for the purchase of a lot on which to build a library. Then a special committee of the Association called on Mayor Edwin O. Childs to urge him to recommend the erection of a library building by the city, assisted by a federal grant. The city appropriation amounted to $111,200. of which 45% was refunded by a check from the federal treasury.

The cornerstone of the building was laid March 18, 1939 by John R. Prescott who had contributed $1,500., the entire proceeds from the sale of his charming booklet, "Surburban Living at its Best."

Since the opening of the library, there has been a continuous series of exhibits of paintings of local artists, and hobby and educational exhibits by local collectors. In January, there was a display of distinctive and exquisitively designed sterling silver jewelry by Kurt Christoffersen (recipient of the silver medal for excellence of design and craftsmanship from the Royal Academy of Copenhagen, Denmark.) This month, a collection of fascinating buttons loaned by Mrs. Ned Kenison is on exhibit in the glass cases.

In the Children's Room below street level enchanting pastel birds — robins, and nestlings, goldfinches, downy wood-peckers and white-breasted nuthatches decorate the walls above the book-cases. These Bird Panels are the work of Gertrude Allen who specializes in soft chalk illustrations.

Mrs. Arico, Children's Librarian was discussing the plot of a returned book with a delicate, long-legged child who wore her hair in two blonde braids.

Some kindergartners were comparing picture books. A round oak table supported the reference books of three young boys working out school problems of Math and Geography.

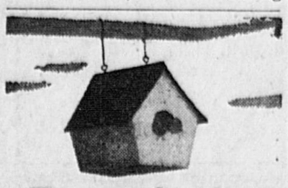

A chapter in Dorothy Canfield's book, "Something Old, Something New," held me spellbound. "What is war? a four-year old asked an older brother. He didn't think he could explain. But Mother did. "Any child that's old enough to scratch and kick and slap to get what she wants, knows what makes people go to war. It's their mothers and fathers that can't understand. Squabbles and wars always start the same way. Always, two sides want to have the same thing — or else, one wants to do one thing and the other not — so they can't think of any way except to fight about it. Only grown people pile up bombs and poison-talk before-hand."

"What ends little wars? At home, Mother pulls the children apart, washes their faces with cold water, and feeds the children cookies and milk. In school, Student Councils work out problems of friction between groups.

"What's a better answer than fighting, children?" Mother asks. "Share and share, you see—Mother, what's the matter, Mother, you're crying!' " The youngsters wonder, "Didn't we give the right answer?"

I returned to the upstairs Reading Room to chat with Mrs. MacMullen who has been in charge for a number of pleasant years. She is assisted by Mrs. Parker who told me the circulation for the past year was 105,000.

The Emily Dickinson Window in the South, ornamented with another of the stained-glass gifts of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Connick quotes, "There is no Frigate Like A Book to Take Us lands Away." Decidedly, numerous residents of Newtonville have taken that advice and visited the Library frequently to widen their horizons.

Spring Activities Well Under Way At Temple Shalom

Irving Rabinowitz, youth commission chairman of Temple Shalom of Newton, announces the opening of the Temple's spring program of activities for the Junior High School boys and girls.

The major event was a "Spring Frolic" sponsored by the JOTS for the JOTS and their friends which ushered in the season on Saturday at the Temple. The committee consisted of Carolyn Kleinman, Carolyn Spelfogel, Linda Levitev, Linda Hyman and Barbara Bean.

This evening of dancing and fun was the first of many Saturday night programs at the Temple. Beginning March 27, every other Saturday night the JOTS and their friends will be found at Temple Shalom participating in varied activities. On the alternate week when the canteen program is not held, the JOTS are planning interesting trips in addition to parties and special events to be announced soon.

Completes Movie Equipment Repair Course in Boston

Leslie W. Bell, Jr., of the Fitts Photo Shops, 293 Washington street, Newton, has just completed a course in servicing Keystone movie cameras and projectors. During the training period held at the Keystone factory in Boston, repairs and maintenance of 8mm and 16mm equipment were covered.

As a result of this course, the Fitts Photo Shops will be able to furnish even faster service on Keystone equipment than in the past. Mr. Bell competed a similar course at Bell and Howell in Chicago last year. This latter training made it possible for Fitts Photo Shops to become an authorized Bell and Howell service station.

Fast service on all types of camera repair work is featured at the Fitts Photo Shop in Newton. Factory parts only are used with a large stock maintained at all times. The latest electronic equipment is available for precision checking of all photographic equipment.

N.H. Men's Club Final Meeting Of Season Tues.

The Men's Club of Newton Highlands will hold its final dinner meeting of the season Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Newton Highlands Congregational Church.

After dinner, the membership will be offered the following slate of officers for the 1954-55 season:

Donald L. Willis, president; John D. Hodges, vice-president; H. C. Littlefield, treasurer; James D. Wynne, secretary; Loring Powell, meetings; C. Edward Fox, publicity; Fred J. Carpenter, membership; Ralph K. Shaw, special events; Herbert W. Gleim, auditor; and Anthony N. Malfa, sports.

Under the presidency of William J. Oliverio, the club has enjoyed an active season of good fellowship. Outstanding speakers were brought to the meetings by Howard Whitmore, Jr., program chairman. Ladies' Night featured entertainment and a dancing party. A military whist and a Christmas party for the children were other high lights of the year.

The club's Bowling League, with Frank J. Fanara as chairman and Donald K. Tarbell as treasurer, has had an action-packed schedule, with 10 teams dueling for the title of "Champs." The first half was won by Team 4, captained by Whitmore. In the second half, Team 1, captained by Cannon, is running neck and neck with Team 4 for the lead. A roll-off, if necessary, is scheduled between the first-half and second-half winners. The bowling banquet will be held at Crosti's, Ashland, on April 26.

The members of the Men's Club are planning a golf tourney later in the spring, at which time some of the crack putters expect to even scores with some of the bowlers "who just don't know how to miss a spare."

Newton Agencies Urge Financial Aid for Channel 2

Newton school children have taken home flyers urging financial support of Channel 2.

In June, 1953, the generosity of the Twentieth Century Fund, the Filene Fund, the Lincoln and Therese Filene Foundation, Inc., and the Ford Fund for Adult Education provided $600,000 for the construction of an educational TV station licensed to the WGBH Educational Foundation.

The immense educational, informational and cultural resources of the Lowell Institute Broadcasting Council will form the nucleus of Channel 2's programming, although many other sources will be used.

An additional $453,000 is required for operating costs and certain important items of equipment. It is hoped that those who displayed great interest in securing Channel 2 last year will contribute voluntarily towards its support.

This financial appeal is locally endorsed by the Newton Council of Churches, the Newton Community Council, the Newton PTA Council, the Newton Teachers' Federation and the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs. The PTA Council Committee on Educational Television is headed by Mrs. Harry D. Brenner, assisted by Mrs. Thomas F. A. Flynn, Mrs. Wilbur M. Hayes, and Mrs. Sylvester McGinn.

Contributions should be sent to Mrs. B. Alden Thresher, 667 Chestnut street, Waban 68. Checks may be made payable to Channel 2.

Cancer eventually will strike one of every five Americans according to present rates. Strike back by supporting the American Cancer Society.

Showboat Theme Of Davis School Cub Pack Meeting

An old-fashioned showboat, with each Den performing a minstrel routine, was the theme of the recent monthly meeting of Cub Scout Pack 7 at the Davis School, West Newton.

A scenic effect of a showboat complete with paddlewheel at one end of the hall provided the setting for the individual skits. Performances included Den 1, rendition of "Dixie;" Den 2, the Riverboat Quintet with silk hats and banjos in songs and jokes; Den 4, a "Tom Sawyer Painting the Fence" act; Den 5, blackface tambourine routine of "Way Down Upon the Swanee River;" Den 8, trombone, trumpet, clarinets, drums and cello orchestra with Explorer Scout Peter Cobb at the piano; and Den 10, finale as a banjo outfit.

The most coveted badge in Cub Scouting — the only one carried over into Boy Scouts and worn on the Scout uniform — the Webelos Badge, was awarded to Jeff Hartbower of Den 4 and Peter Bowen of Den 8. The boys were sponsored by their fathers, Carl E. Hartbower, assistant Cubmaster, and J. Ellis Bowen. Pack 7 secretary-treasurer.

Following a count of the parents present, the parental attendance banner was awarded to Den 8 which had a 66.7 per cent turn out.

Newtonites Take Part in Boston Hospital Drive

Residents of Newton will take important parts in a campaign, announced this week, to obtain $500,000 by public subscription for the reconstruction and modernization of certain areas of the Boston Lying-in Hospital.

H. Frederick Hagemann Jr., of Chestnut Hill, past president of the hospital, is one of the active leaders in the undertaking. Others who will participate include Dr. James H. Currens, Dr. Walter T. Goodale, Dr. Howard N. Jacobson, Dr. Francis R. Lane, Dr. Herbert T. Leighton, Dr. Murray Pendleton, Dr. Charles C. Roby, Dr. Frank G. Sheddan Jr., Dr. Charles P. Sheldon, Dr. Franklin F. Snyder, Dr. Judson A. Smith, Dr. John M. Tyler and Dr. Albert E. Weiner, members of the staff, all of Newton; and Mrs. Richard H. Hale Jr., Mrs. Richard S. Humphrey Jr., Mrs. Homer Rose Jr., and Mrs. Henry K. White of Chestnut Hill and Mrs. E. Geoffrey Nathan of Newton Center, members of the Service League.

Increasing demands on the hospital's services as a maternity, research and teaching center make expansion and reconstruction imperative. Plans call for construction of fourth floors on two three-story wings, for remodeling and modernization of the delivery and dietary departments and for reconstruction of certain patient areas.

Success of the fund-raising effort will make possible the first expansion of floor space in the hospital since Richardson House was built 22 years ago.

An estimated 700,000 Americans will be under treatment for cancer during 1954, according to the American Cancer Society. Strike back at cancer by giving to the 1954 ACS Crusade.

Veterans Council Plans 4th Annual Dinner for Clergymen

Plans for the annual testimonial dinner given to clergymen who participate in the monthly sendoffs for Newton inductees were completed at the monthly meeting last week of the Newton Veterans Council at the quarters of the Lt. Stanton Amesbury Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, in the Auburndale Library.

The fourth annual dinner, which will be held April 28 at 6:30 p.m., Tallino's Restaurant, Chestnut Hill, will honor Rev. Wilbur J. Kingwill of St. John's Episcopal Church, Newtonville; Rev. Francis P. Crisci of the First Baptist Church, Newton Upper Falls; Rabbi Harold Kastle of Temple Reyim, West Newton; Rev. Daniel Carroll, S.J., of Boston College; Rev. Arthur H. Block of the Newton Centre Lutheran Church; Rabbi Murray I. Rotham of Temple Shalom, West Newton, and Rev. Patrick J. Gilmore of Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre.

In charge of arrangements for the dinner is Nuncio Pellegrine, service officer of Nonantum Post, American Legion. He is being assisted by Joseph Greco of Nonantum Post and Henry R. Lever, past commander of Newton Post, Jewish War Veterans.

Plans for the formation of the new Newton Veterans' Honor Guard which will function as a firing squad at Newton veteran burials were outlined by Mr. Greco. This guard is scheduled to be ready to participate in the Memorial Day parade and in the dedication of the new war memorial the same day.

William J. Maloney, chairman of the N.V.C., announced that the Amesbury Post, V.F.W., will sponsor the next sendoff of selectees to be held April 26 at Selective Service Headquarters in Newtonville.

The cancer death rate would drop 40 per cent if every practicing physicians this year discovered only one early curable case of cancer, the American Cancer Society points out.

End X-ray Survey Of Newton School Personnel Friday

A chest X-ray survey of all Newton School Department personnel began Monday. This survey is sponsored by the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, the Newton School Department, and the Newton Health Department with the cooperation of the Newton Teachers' Federation.

Mrs. Therese D'Abre, health educator for the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association and coordinator for the project, estimates that about 1000 chest X-rays will be taken before the survey ends tomorow (Friday).

The mobile X-ray unit will be moved to different school locations to enable the teachers to have their X-ray in the shortest and most convenient way possible.

Labor Dispute Expert Speaks

"The difficulty in settling labor disputes is not so often the inability of labor and management to reach agreement on wage scales or working hours, as it is the inability of individuals on each side to think of each other as individuals," Rev. Emerson Smth told the adults and High School young people at the last session of the Newtonville Methodist Church's University of Life last Sunday evening.

"The problems of human personalities — the fear, antagonism, or jealousy of one individual for another in the opposite camp — too often proves the stumbling block to quick settlement of difficulties, and hundreds or thousands of innocent people suffer real hardship because of these personal conflicts," he declared.

Mr. Smith, a pioneer in the field of Protestant labor relations work, is the chaplain of Industrial Relations for the Methodist Church in New England. He is called in by lagor, or management. or by government or religious officials in many labor disputes throughout the New England states. He described the types of problems he encounters, and showed how, by getting men on each side of the dispute to come to know and understand each other better as individuals, specific disputes could be worked out.

He described his work as that of a mediator, as well as that of an interpreter and liason person between the so-called "labor" and "management" camps. Actually, each side of the labor question has the same end — what is best for labor is ultimately best for management, and Mrs. Smith sees the understanding of this fact as the real solution of industrial problems.

"Communists say that there will always be a laboring class and a class of managerial overlords. They preach that the only way labor can win its cause is by ultimately overthrowing management. The Christian solution is for the two to understand each other and discover that what is best for one is best for all," Mr. Smith said. He teaches a practical course in the understanding of industrial problems for future Methodist ministers in training at Boston University.

Mr. Smith does not believe that the future for industry in New England is as dark as some pessimists paint it. He has observed that the textile people who have moved their mills to the south have, in many instances, retained their New England property, too, and he believes that there will soon be a swing back to New England and our highly skilled labor in this field.

"Nature and its Oddities" was the subject of Gilbert Merrill's program for the Junior High, Junior and Primary Department children.

Rawson Lauds Election Law Group's Work

The committee on election laws of the state legislature, under the chairmanship of Rep. George E. Rawson of Newton, was the first major committee to finish its work for the 1954 session after turning down "a large number of unnecessary and ill-considered bills."

Reporting on his committee's work, Rep. Rawson declared, "All attempts to sabotage the 1953 pre-primary convention law have been defeated. The perennial efforts to pass discriminatory legislation against the towns have been rejected. We have made several technical improvements in the election laws and a few major changes.

"Chapter 101 amends the absentee voting law by enabling those absent from their place of residence because of employment to vote by absentee ballot. This act is designed to silence those groups which have for years sought time off with pay for voting on election day.

"Chapter 79 amends the Servicemen's Absentee Voting Law by providing that the spouse of a serviceman absent with him from their place of residence on election day may vote by absentee ballot under the same conditions that he votes.

"Chapter 183, the so-called Uniform Signatures Act," the Newton representative continued, "provides that all primary candidates for nomination for representatives must secure 25 valid signatures, candidates for senator 50 valid signatures, candidates for councillor, county offices and congressmen 250 valid signatures, regardless of the number of towns or wards in the district.

"An act passed by both branches and awaiting the governor's signature provides that the incumbent of an office for which he was chosen by the General Court and who is a candidate for nomination at a primary shall have his name placed first on the ballot — the same position as the elected incumbent now has.

"This is important legislation," he pointed out, "because if a constitutional officer (secretary, treasurer, auditor or attorney-general) or a councillor dies, resigns or is removed while the General Court is in session, the constitution requires the General Court to fill the vacancy.

"Of the nine recommendations of the Recess Commission to Study Corrupt Practices in Legislation, six have been passed. The most important of these is designed to cure the abuse of several committees organized to further the candidacy of an individual candidate.

"The act provides that any non-elected political committee organized to secure the nomination or election of a candidate shall state the name of such candidate in its title and file the same with the state secretary. This will focus public attention of the amounts of money collected and spent for the candidate under one heading.

"In the 1952 campaign," said Rep. Rawson, "one candidate had seven committees working for him under various titles, so the need for this legislation is apparent."

Appeals For Funds to Outfit Newton Veteran Firing Squad

Edmund T. Dungan, commissioner of veterans' services for Newton, appealed this week for funds to uniform a firing squad which will be available for honor guard duties at veterans' funerals seven days a week.

"Up until a short time ago," Mr. Dungan told the Graphic, "we were unable to get a firing squad for the burial of veterans when requested by the family of the deceased or by the undertaker.

"Then men in the firing squad were composed mostly of World War I veterans, usually city employees who were allowed time off for this purpose. Due to retirements and deaths," he continued, "very few of the World War I veterans are now available for this purpose.

"In order to carry out the last honors to which a veteran is entitled, it is necessary to form a Newton Veterans Honor Guard which will be available for such duties as requested any week day and Sunday.

"A distinctive uniform is proposed so as not to represent any veteran organization, and funds are needed to purchase these uniforms. Any contribution you care to give will be appreciated. Checks may be made payable to Newton Veterans' Honor Guard, Room 107, Newton City Hall, Newton Centre."

Some funds have already been collected by volunteers, Mr. Dungan explained. He paid special tribute to the efforts of Mrs. Warren B. Manhard of 45 Wesley street, Newton, and Mr. and Mrs. William Rollins of 152 Adams street, Newton.

Elected Women's Banking Official

Mrs. Green, who resides at 70 Freeman street, Auburndale, with her daughter and mother, is also serving as a member of the Women's Committee of Boston Chapter, American Institute of Banking. She has been with the bank for 24 years.

The Chamber of Commerce & Newton's Business Progress

By RUPERT C. THOMPSON
Executive Secretary, Newton Chamber of Commerce

In the early days of Newton it was soon realized that the farm lands were not productive enough to serve the increasing population or allow a proper standard of living, and it was as a result of this condition that Newton's industrial development had its start.

The first developments were on the Charles River at both the Lower and Upper Falls and also at Bemis on California street. The first undertaking was at Upper Falls when a saw mill was erected, the next at Lower Falls where one of the first paper mills in the country was built and operated until recently. A second paper mill owned by Hon. Alexander H. Rice, Governor of the State, manufactured news print for the Boston Herald. At the Lower Falls there followed iron works, four snuff mills doing the most extensive business of that kind in New England, a tannery, leather mill, forge shop with trip hammer, fulling mills, wire mill, screw factory, nail works (producing more than 500 tons of nails annually) blacksmith shops, rolling mills, saw mill, clothing mill, machine shops, many stores and two hotels open all the year around. The Lower Falls was so important industrially that the first Post Office in Newton was established there in 1818.

At Bemis on California street were several prosperous mills. Among them were paper mills erected in 1779 and operated by David Bemis. His paper and textile mills are said to have been the first buildings in the United States to be lighted by gas. The first ship to use American sail cloth was equipped from these mills. The contributing factors that made this industrial growth possible were the Charles River, which provided transportation, and the falls that produced the necessary water power at the Lower and Upper Falls and at Bemis, and lastly men who were determined to create for themselves and their families a higher standard of living than they had experienced in the Old Country. Lower Falls which contributed so much to Newton industrial growth is now off to a new start and once again is becoming an Industrial and Business Center.

Newton Highlands and Newton Upper Falls, through which passes the "Miracle Mile", is growing rapidly with many national concerns building what one magazine describes as picture book factories. Thus, after a lapse of many years, Newton is again turning to industry for assistance, — this time, however, for the necessary revenue to finance not only the new schools that will be needed, but also to keep our tax at a fair level.

With the discovery of the use of steam power, many of the original manufacturing companies moved elsewhere; also with steam power available, many companies built in other sections of the fast growing community.

The Chamber of Commerce came into being in 1922 and for the first few years devoted the greater part of its energies to civic matters, the most outstanding of which was the successful campaign to secure lower insurance rates which took ten years before all the changes suggested by the National Board of Underwriters and the city secured the lowered rating. The outlay of money by the City was considerable but the total amount subsequently saved our citizens through lowered premiums has in the aggregate been very large and will continue to be so.

The building of the present City Hall on land in Newton Centre was recommended by the Chamber of Commerce. While this suggestion was opposed at the time, it is now recognized that it was a wise move as the building is about in the geographical center of the City, and is today a landmark. Both the securing of the lower fire insurance rates and the building of City Hall was accomplished during the term of the Honorable Sinclair Weeks as Mayor.

In 1935-1936 the Chamber consistently advocated putting to full use the land zoned for manufacturing purposes. Later on in this article the results of that policy are given.

We have all been reading with interest the changes that have taken place during the past 125 years in residential Newton. Let us now take a look at the Newton of today. —a great modern city teeming with activities, ever growing, ever expanding. Of the 15 villages that comprise the City of Newton, 11 have business areas. In 1940 there were 630 retail stores and 300 service businesses employing an average of 3,200 persons, exclusive of proprietors, doing a total annual business of $24,131,000 with a payroll of $3,270,000. Ten years later there were 545 retail stores and 251 service businesses employing an average of 2,757 persons, exclusive of proprietors, doing an annual business of $55,161,000 with a payroll of $6,288,000.

From these figures emerges a clear picture of what is happening in the retail field. With an increase in population in the decade 1940-1950 of 17.3 per cent while wages rose 90 per cent and sales rose 128 per cent, the number of retail outlets decreased 14 per cent, showing clearly that the small retail unit is being replaced by larger stores who can and do operate with fewer employees. This is especially true with the food stores who to a large extent are self-service operated.

Since 1940 many of our retail establishments have been modernized and enlarged. Also a shopping area has been created at Chestnut Hill with 16 stores and a parking area accommodating 1500 cars.

While Newton is primarily a residential city with only 3.3 per cent zoned for industry and other commercial purposes, the available land zoned for industry—1.7 per cent—is being rapidly developed. Though the area is small compared to the overall size of the City (18 square miles) all interested manufacturers have been carefully screened in order to maintain a level of products and processes which will in no way be detrimental to a city so essentially residential as Newton. In 1940 the average number of employees was 3,050 with payrolls of 3,069,780; in 1953 the average number of employees was 9,204 with payrolls of $27,554,688.

Since 1945 the then remaining industrial land, largely city owned and railroad land, (from which the city received no revenue) has been purchased and is rapidly being developed. Many manufacturing plants and warehouses have been built, and together with those now under construction and those planned for 1955-1956 will, when completed, return at our present tax rate between $350,000 and $400,000 additional taxes to the city.

Residential construction has been, as elsewhere, very active since 1945. For 1953 there were issued 480 residential building permits for an estimated $6,181,500 together with 417 permits for alterations and repairs for an estimated amount of $1,196,359.

Describes Recent Trip to Israel At Temple Reyim

Bernard Garber, president of the Brighton-Brookline-Newton District of the Zionist Organization of America, described a recent trip to Israel Sunday to the Brotherhood of Temple Reyim.

Mr. Garber showed slides depicting current life in the new country and made running comments about the hardships encountered by the pioneers and immigrants of Israel. In the face of all obstacles, he continued, the Israelites have made tremendous progress in agriculture, industry, education and medical facilities.

He said that all Americans, Christian and Jew alike, should come to the aid of Israel, which is no larger than the state of New Jersey. "Israel is a Democracy International," said Mr. Garber. "The United States must support it at all costs against Arab Fascism which would never support the Democratic West. All Jews must now be counted in the struggle for Israel's survival."

Nominated for a second term as president of the Brotherhood was Dr. Herbert N. Shepard. Other officers nominated were Samuel Barres, first vice-president; I. Edward Kraft, second-vice - president; Myron Idelson, third vice-president; Sol Cohen, treasurer; Edward Wasserman, financial secretary; Arthur Galer, recording secretary; Harry Miller, corresponding secretary; Saul Chipman, sergeant-at-arms; Myer Cutler, Leon Glick, Sumner Marcus, Bertram Lappan, Hyman Wyman and Mac Greenberg, board of directors.

Elections will take place at the April meeting.

Norumbega Coun. Opens 'Good Turn' For Conservation

Responding to a call from the president of the United States, the Scouts of Norumbega Council this week are beginning a National Conservation Good Turn. It will include practical conservation projects in the community and arousing public recognition of the need for conserving national resources.

The president's request for the Good Turn was expressed in a letter to the Boy Scouts of America in which he stated, "I believe it would be particularly fitting if the Boy Scouts would undertake by concerted action to arouse public recognition of the needs for adequate protection and wise management of our soil, water, mineral, forest, grassland and wildlife resources. I am confident that the Boy Scouts of America can make a very important contribution in conservation education."

Conservation is not new to the Scouts and Scouters of Norumbega Council. They have been regularly using good conservation practices for many years at their more than 500-acre woodland campsite, Nobscot Reservation in Sudbury-Framingham. Whenever they convene there, they have a volunteer fire prevention force on hand with necessary equipment for forest fire-fighting. And a salaried Ranger is on full time duty at the Reservation.

Most Scout Troops in the Council have a cabin at the Reservation and each is continually responsible for fire lane clearance. Even in their gathering of firewood, the Scouts are careful to conserve the forest resources by practising selective tree cutting. Now moth control projects, poison ivy control, tree planting and setting out animal and bird feeding stations are among the projects to get increased attention under the Conservation Good Turn at the Reservation.

In Norumbega's Newton, Wellesley and Weston community area, the Good Turn is being supervised by the Council's camping committee under the chairmanship of Curtis B. Forbes with the assistance of the Cub Scouting committee, David C. Hoover, chairman and the Explorer Scouting committee, Arthur Mennard, chairman. Scout leaders in the three communities will find many practical suggested projects have been summarized by these committees and they can look to the following local men for cooperation and guidance in carrying out unit programs: F. C. Williams, John B. Starkweather, James D. Blackall, Amos Kent, Donald B. Sloan, Douglas S. MacLean, William P. Nelson, Dr. Norman Zamcheck, Vinton Butterfield, Roy I. MacArthur and Samuel Colub.

Cub Scouts, who do not usually have an opportunity to share in activities which are national in scope, will take part in the concerted action. There are so many neighborhood aspects to conservation that the president's Good Turn request presents them an exciting and challenging chance to show their service capabilities. The Cubs will engage in such specific projects as: building and setting out bird houses and feeding stations in backyards and park areas, planting shrubs to give fod or cover for wildlife, planting proper grass seed or other ground cover to prevent soil erosion and making conservation signs for the Nobscot Reservation in cooperation with the older Boy Scouts and Explorers.

Mexican Teacher At Newton Trade School for Study

Ramon Martinez Zepeda, a teacher and director in the Institute Politecnico Nacional at Mexico City, Mexico, is studying vocational training methods at the Newton Technical-Vocational High School.

Senor Martinez is primarily interested in Mechanical Training and Shop Organization With the mechanization of Mexico's extensive agricultural production and the establishment of new manufacturing industries, there is an acute shortage of trained men to service all types of machines. Diesel engineering in particular is a rapidly-growing field in Mexico.

After observing and participating in the shop and classroom methods in Newton's vocational school, Senor Martinez will spend considerable time in factories where heavy equipment is made and assembled. He is an automobile technician and holds a Master Mechanic's diploma from the National Politechnical Institute. He has also studied English in the Mexican-North American Institute of Cultural Relations in Yucatan.

Senior Martinez, who is in his early forties and is unmarried, has a pleasing personality and is rapidly making friends in Newton and in Massachusetts vocational training circles. Students in the Automobile Department, where much of his interest lies, find him a friendly and understanding instructor.

The directors of Newton Technical-Vocational High School, James Forbes, spent a year recently in Central America where he was technical advisor in the establishment of a larger vocational school in Manague, Nicaragua. It was through Mr. Forbes acquaintance among Latin - American educational leaders that Senor Martinez has come to New England.

Appointed Officer Of Group Aiding Hebrew University

Saul S. Elgart of 1285 Beacon street, Waban, has been named executive vice-president of the American Friends of the Hebrew University. The organization is the means of channeling support from the —United States to Israel's only university.

Aid of Red Cross Proves Valuable In Auto Smashup

William Falconer, chairman of the Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, is proud of the service rendered by the chapter following a recent automobile accident. "It is unfortunate that the public is not more aware of the day-to-day service so routinely given by Red Cross everywhere.

"The following 'log' reports one such incident," said Mr. Falconer.

Late afternoon: Automobile accident. Four persons, seriously injured, taken to Newton-Wellesley Hospital. All patients in shock, one in operating room.

Early Evening: All available hospital blood of necessary type used. Six pints of blood of patients' type needed from Red Cross as soon as possible. Because of Newton Red Cross 24-hour coverage, director of blood program was able to be reached at a bridge party. Regional Blood Center in Boston contacted. Fortunately the blood was available.

Director placed phone call to Red Cross motor service chairman to request immediate pick-up and delivery of blood to Newton-Wellesley Hospital. Line busy, telephone operator contacted. Director, identifying self and nature of emergency, requested operator cut in on motor service line.

Motor Service chairman checked time. Driver on assignment to West Roxbury Veterans Administration Hospital would be about to return to Newton. Phoned hospital, driver paged and contacted as just leaving. Requested to report at Regional Blood Center for blood and deliver same to Newton-Wellesley Hospital immediately. Blood Director so advised, who in turn notified local hospital that blood was on its way. Blood received at hospital in minimum amount of time after original request.

Next morning: Newton-Wellesley Hospital phoned Red Cross to extend thanks for the service and cooperation rendered. Patients out of shock and living because of the blood and prompt service given through Newton Red Cross.

Unitarian Church

Beatrice Henderson, banjo virtuoso and whistler extraordinary, with her brother, Jack Henderson as piano accompanist, scored the hit of the evening as the surprise professional guest stars of the "Talent Night" cabaret held Saturday evening at the West Newton Unitarian parish house. Billed recently at a mammoth charity benefit in Providence, and known over the country as "America's foremost whistler," Beatrice and Jack Henderson, of Arlington, have toured from coast to coast with their colorful act.

Appearing through the invitation of Mrs. Harry E. Raymond, president of the West Newton Branch Alliance and co-chairman of the activities committee of the First Unitarian Society in Newton, Beatrice and Jack Henderson's banjo-whistling-piano artistry proved the highlight of the entertainment. Miss Henderson, once a child prodigy as a young whistler on the B. F. Keith vaudeville circuit, studied further at the Woodward School of Whistling in Los Angeles. Together they have appeared in night clubs, theatres and on the radio. Both have been lifelong students of music. Mrs. Raymond was Miss Henderson's first elocution teacher in Cambridge.

Dr. Hans Waine made a suave master of ceremonies for the "Talent Night" program, assisted by the Rev. John Ogden Fisher, with both men also taking part in the show itself. Except for the unheralded visiting stars, the entertainment was recruited from amateur parish talent, including two-piano numbers by Peter Cobb and Jonathan Fisher; ballet dance by Joan Silver; violin patter by Kenneth McCabe; Hawaiian grass-skirt song and dance by K. Tingley Rohsenow; an orchestral "jam" session; the Washington St. Barber Shop Quartet; the Washerwomen's Ballet comedy act, and song hits from Show Boat by Miss Virginia Chace, Contralto.

Mrs. Florence Raymond gave her familiar, hilarious monologue, "A Day at the Seashore." The Washington St. Barber Shop Quartet, directed and accompanied by Mrs. Dorothy Stallworth Fisher, comprised John O. Fisher, L. Fabian Bachrach, Jr., John Gurry and William L. Tisdel.

The cast for the "Washerwomen's Ballet" skit included Dr. Hans Waine, George C. Thompson, John A. Stackpole, L. Fabian Bachrach, Jr., John Gurry and William Tisdel.

In the parish orchestra, which played both as part of the entertainment and for general dancing afterwards, were Warren M. Rohsenow, pianist; Joseph C. Ckinner, piano-saxophone - clarinet; Edwin K. Smith, violin; Robert H. Cobb, drums; and Bill Tisdel, piano and one-string fiddle.

The church budget benefitted by $102 from this "Talent Night" variety evening, sponsored by the activities committee of the First Unitarian Society in Newton, according to Mrs. Morris H. Adler, chairman.

Refreshments were served at the tables during the stage and floor show numbers by girls of the Jaynes League under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Stackpole, sponsors. Members of the activities committee assisting with refreshments included Miss Elizabeth L. Nicholson, Mrs. Ernest W. Kuebler, Mrs. Robert H. Cobb, Miss Annette Sirotin, Mrs. Matthew Peppard and Mrs. Edward Y. Walker.

Assistant Manager

Joseph F. Walker has been appointed assistant manager of Home Specialties Company Inc., of Newton Centre, after returning from three years in the Coast Guard.

In addition to his administrative duties, Mr. Walkey finds time to teach painting at the Museum and to tutor an informal group of adults in Dover. He is the first director of the Dana and DeCordova Museum, which was formally opened in 1949 in the town of Lincoln.

"We are grateful to all our volunteer workers and solicitors and at this time wish to particularly congratulate the following who have exceeded 100%:

Thomas Gallinelli, Residential Chairman, Nonantum

Mrs. Willard G. Rice, Captain Stores, Newton Highlands

Kurt H. Theophile, Captain Stores, Newton Lowell Falls

J. S. MacLean, Captain Stores, Waban

"We urge all solicitors to be vigorous in completing their calls and to complete their reports as soon as possible."

Mr. Michaud expressed the hope that those who have not yet made their contribution would do so by mailing it to the Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, 21 Foster street, Newtonville.

Donald Nolan, 12 Marshfield road, Newton Center. Newton High Student.

"I honestly feel that the government should pay for the loss itself. They have cut down on all their employees and are trying to make each department pay its own way but I don't think that this can be done by the Postal Department. That's just my own opinion, of course."

One of every seven deaths last year was caused by cancer. Help reduce this death rate by giving to the American Cancer Society Crusade.

Spotlight on Weeks

On Wednesday, March 10, division 314x presented an assembly in the form of a play. It was based on a letter from a soldier in Korea to his cousin in the United States. Between acts, we saw a film from Korea showing how badly warm winter clothes are needed in that war-devastated country.

Division 314x is now sponsoring a drive for clothes for Korean children. In each home room there is a box for donations so that these clothes may be sent over.

The Glee Club presented a program on Wednesday, March 17. It consisted of spirituals, popular songs, and rounds.

Some of the songs sung were: Sentimental Journey, Oh Suzannah, Louisiana Hayride, Tzena, I Got Rhythm, Joshua, Dip the Oars, Row, Row, Row Your Boat, and several others.

Many thanks to Mr. Gene Gray, our music teacher, for his excellent job of directing.

Offering Service To Aid Parents

Bed-wetting in children and young adults has long been one of mother's most perplexing problems. It is well that parents become aware of the seriousness of the problem when the child has passed the age of five, when it is no longer normal, and a keen realization must exist that bed-wetting is serious, not because of the nagging inconvenience of the laundry problem but because of the adverse psychological impact which it has upon the enuretic. The child is made aware that he is doing something which is not normal. He is told that he can't drink liquids after five, he can't go away to camp with his chums, he can't have his chums over to spend the night —all of this adds to the feeling of inadequacy suffered by the child. Isn't it readily apparent that this child should develop a terrible inferiority complex? And this is but the beginning. The next step is the serious one. Because of the suppression and feeling of inadequacy, the child inclines to the other direction seeking to gain recognition — he looks for nourishment for a deflated ego. How? By becoming overly aggressive! This is manifested in ways too numerous to recount and often leads to serious complications in the proper development of the child's character and personality.

Bed-wetting is an insidious trouble-maker wherever it exists and children who are victims of this unfortunate habit look for understanding and help.

Up until recently, there was little that could be done and parents waited hopefully for the child to "outgrow" the difficulty. Research and study, however, has at long last developed concrete help and it is now not necessary for this problem to exist over a period of years.

Service at 419 Boylston St., The New England Training Boston, is performing a real service throughout New England in offering help to parents who, in most cases, have "tried everything" without success. Through sympathetic understanding, full information and help is offered with the only near-positive method ever developed. Their staff, consisting of experienced and trained women are helping parents to eliminate this distressing problem in an increasing number of cases, leaving happy and well-adjusted children as a result.

Statement-

"Such a deplorable incident acutely brings home to all of us the full meaning of the fatal combination of youth and deadly weapons. This tragedy calls for the cooperation of all so that a recurrence here or elsewhere will not be possible.

"The School Committee and all school personnel extend their deepest sympathy to the Frankenberger family.

Register April 5 For Community Center Day Camp

Registration for the Newton Unit of the Summer Day Camp operated by the Brookline Jewish Community Center will begin during the week of April 5, according to Miss Miriam Kallen and Louis Winer, co-chairmen of the Day Camp Committee.

The camp will be located at the Ward School, Newton Centre, through the courtesy of the Newton School Committee and will be open to children of all faiths, age four to 11 years, who are residents of Newton.

During the 8-week season starting June 28, campers will enjoy the excellent facilities of the Ward School and the adjoining playground. Swimming twice a week at a lake waterfront will be provided campers age six to 11 years, and a wading pool will be available daily for the four and five year olds. A staff of mature, experienced counselors will be supervised by Haskell Hollander, a member of the Center's full-time staff. For further information, telephone the Center office at LO 6-7067.

Delay Is Fatal

One-third of the 227,000 cancer deaths last year was due mainly to delay in detection and treatment the American Cancer Society says. Support the ACS educational and fund-rasing Crusade.

Cottons To Be Featured In Summer Styles

Cotton is king again this summer—as far as dress fashions are concerned. Woven in a variety of finishes, this wonderful all-purpose fabric will help you to feel and look cool throughout the warm months, says Fashion Editor Ruth Drake. Writing in Redbook Magazint for April, she describes heveral charming dresses, airy and light but sophisticated enough for town wear:

"A striking geometic printed coat-dress in black and white cotton broadcloth by Pat Hartley has a becoming shirt collar, three-quarter cuffed sleeves, gently flared skirt and black patent belt. Another Pat Hartley creation is done in a bright navy splashed print, on sparkling white cotton broadcloth. The shirtwaist top has push-up sleeves, full skirt and patent belt.

"A Lynbrook design by Albert Chaiken features an oriental motif in polished lawn with an Everglaze finish. It has a surplice neckline, grosgrain belt and softly pleated skirt. Peg Palmer scatters embroidered violets on a fine pique sundress with molded bodice. It has a gracefully flared skirt and little matching jacket. Artificial violets accent the waist.

"A sophisticated print in royal blue, black and white cotton is used for an excellent town dress by Pat Hartley. The molded top, push-up sleeves, very full skirt and waistline pared to a minimum with a built-in black cummerbund give it an air of high fashion. Buttercups bloom on black broadcloth—a striking dark town print in Arthur Beir's crease resistant broadcloth. It is the material for a striking Lynbrook design by Albert Chaiken — with boat neckline, drop yoke skirt and yellow piping accents."

SCIENCE PARK SAYS that there is no truth in the old saying that snakes milk cows. So-called milk snakes are frequently found around barns and may take milk from a pan put out for pets, but biologists affirm that it would be physically impossible for a snake to milk a cow. (From Boston's Museum of Science).

"The American people have clearly indicated over the years that they approve the basic objectives and most provisions of the Taft-Hartley Law. Any changes that are made, if they are to be justified to the public, must uphold and give expression to American ideals of individual freedom, of fair play and simple justice, of acceptance of responsibilities along with privileges, and of full opportunity for individuals to work and live without undue restraints or interference, so long as the rights of others are not disturbed." — Industry's View.

What the best and wisest parents wants for his own child that must the community want for all its children.—John Dewey

Jr. High Boy Accidentally Shot in Class

Tragedy struck a peaceful Day Junior High School English class Tuesday afternoon when a 14-year-old boy, handling a foreign make automatic, fatally wounded a classmate when the gun accidentally discharged.

John Frankenberger, 15, of 613 California street, Newtonville, was struck in the left side by the .32 calibre bullet and pitched forward between the row of desks. He died while on the way to the Newton-Wellesley Hospital in the police ambulance.

The boy who accidentally shot his classmate was also treated at the hospital for a finger wound inflicted as the gun was unexpectedly fired. Both were eighth grade students at the junior high and were close friends.

Investigation by police as the 560 students at the school remained an extra 15 minutes past the regular dismissal hour indicated that the shooting was an accident and could in no manner be connected with revenge or juvenile delinquency.

The weapon, according to Insp. John N. McMullen, was obtained from another student, described by the inspector as "a collector of guns." A girl had seen the boy displaying the gun earlier in the day and had become upset, but had neglected to report it to a teacher, Insp. McMullen noted.

NHS Music Club Hears Concert On the Theremin

Mischa Tulin, noted performer on the theremin, an electronic musical instrument, appeared in a concert accompanied by his wife at the piano last Thursday at a meeting of the Newton High School Music Club.

The theremin uses the same principles as radar and has parts similar to a radio. As the hand of the performer approaches a vertical metal bar, a sound is produced, and the pitch becomes higher as the hand draws nearer. The intensity of the sound is controlled by moving the hand near a horizontal metal loop.

Mr. Tulin, accompanied by his wife, played "Nina" by the 16th century composer Pergolesi and "Air for the G String" by Bach. Mrs. Tulin soloed in "Toccata" by Khachaturian, "Ondine" by Ravel and a suite by Castelnuovo Tedesco. Mr. Tulin ended the program with Gershwin's "Summertime."

Humor was added to the program when several of the students tried to play the theremin. David Viscott attempted the chorale from Beethoven's Ninth Symphony and Haydn's "Surprise" Symphony. Also experimenting were Nancy Nelson and Peggy Lippincott.

John Robinson was elected president of the Newton Archers Sunday at the annual meeting of the bow-and-arrow enthusiasts at the Newton Centre Playground House.

Also elected were Raymond Buell, vice-president; Vera Andrews, secretary; and Paul Husman, treasurer. An active season has been planned with increased emphasis on instruction for new senior members and junior members.

Tournament dates were set, calling for the first major competition April 19. It was also decided to have more meetings of the club on an informal basis. A "kick-off" meeting for the coming season will be held Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the Newton Centre Playground House.

POLITICAL OVERTONES

Dever's Definite Withdrawal Leaves Democrats in Muddle

In a period of eight days the two strongest candidates the Democratic party could pit against Governor Christian A. Herter announced flatly and finally that they would not run.

Mayor John B. Hynes eliminated himself as a contender last week, and ex-Governor Paul A. Dever did so in forceful fashion this week.

Now the Democratic voters may have to wait until next September's primary to learn who their party's standard-bearer will be against Governor Herter in the November election.

The Democratic State convention will be held at Worcester early in June, but there is no definite assurance that all of the men with gubernatorial ambitions will abide by the endorsement made by the politicians attending the convention.

No Action Taken on Oak Hill Business Block, Gas Station

Oak Hill Park's controversial business block, long a source of dispute among residents of the veterans' housing project, nearly came to a vote before the Board of Aldermen Monday night, but was held back for further study.

The dispute over whether or not the long-planned Saw Mill Brook parkway block should be constructed so split the membership of the Oak Hill Park Association that the directors declined to take a stand on the issue.

No public debate on the block of seven stores took place at the regular session of the aldermen, although the reports docket for the evening listed the stores as receiving a favorable 5-2 vote. However, it was held by the committee for discussion and was not reported out after the closed-door session.

Opposition to the store block is based mainly on the fact that it is a "package" including a gasoline station in addition to the seven stores. The builder, at previous public hearings, has maintained that the block could not be operated at a profit unless the service station was a part of the project.

The block was originally planned as part of the veterans' housing development, but no action has been taken toward actual construction despite the fact that a permit was previously available. The land for the block at numbers 657 through 671 Saw Mill Brook parkway is the center of the project and has been vacant since the houses were built six years ago.

The sale of a 1917 Fire Department pump and hose wagon to the National Fire Museum at 29 Richardson street, Newton, was held for study after Alderman Winfield C. Anderson objected that the museum represented "a fire hazard in a business zone."

North, West Little Leagues To Register Boys Saturday

Registration for nine to twelve-year-old boys who wish to participate in tryouts for the Newton North and Newton West Little Leagues will be held on Saturday, according to Frank Donnellan, president of the two leagues.

North League registration will take place at Albemarle Playground at 9 a. m., while those hopeful of winning positions in the new West League will report to Lyons Playground in Auburndale at 2 p. m.

There will be no late registration. If a boy cannot report personally he should have someone register for him. Registration cards have been distributed to all schools in the area and will also be available at the registration sites.

The first tryout session will be held on Saturday, April 17, from 9 a. m. to 11 a. m. for the nine and ten-year-old boys, while the eleven and twelve-year-olders will try out from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. League officials request that parents offer their assistance at the tryouts by volunteering to handle supervisory posts so that managing personnel might be free to observe and rate the young candidates.

Any boy who must attend Easter Saturday church services will be excused from tryouts that day. Attendance at subsequent tryout sessions is mandatory and required by Little League regulations.

In Case of Another War Do You Think The Hydrogen Bomb Should Be Outlawed?

M. E. MANNING, 20 DeForest road, Newton Lower Falls—Sales Representative — "Yes, I think it should be outlawed. In fact, I think all atomic bombs as well as hydrogen bombs should be outlawed. It seems to me that such things should be used for peace rather than for war. It's terrible to think what 6 or 8 of those big bombs could do to a country.

A. L. ROY, 205 Newton street, Weston — Newton worker — "Well, everybody says that Russia has the hydrogen bomb too so I think that in case the Russians ever used those bombs on us that we should definitely retaliate with one. After all we've got to protect ourselves. In fact, if our leaders could see forward enough they shouldn't wait for Russia to use it first, we should get the jump on them.

LEO TRACY, 3 Warren avenue, West Newton — City of Newton worker — "No, I don't think the United States should use the hydrogen bomb. It's just too powerful. I was in the 2nd World War and I know of the power and destruction caused by the atomic bomb used on Japan in 1945. However, I think that if Russia used the hydrogen bomb, we certainly should too.

MISS VIRGINIA STEIN, 145 Edinboro street, Newtonville — Clerk — "No, I don't think the U. S. should use the hydrogen bomb if we are engaged in another war because they're much too dangerous and too destructive. If an enemy were to use it on us first then I think we should certainly turn around and retailiate but I hope this doesn't happen."

MATTHEW GALLAGHER, Gardner street, Newton — Assembler — "I think we should use the hydrogen bomb right now instead of waiting for a formal declaration of war and get this whole situation settled right now. As you can see, I am definitely in favor of using the hydrogen bomb.

DANIEL GENTILE, 12 Lincoln road, Newton — Venetian Blind Manufacturer — "I think all bombs — including the atom and hydrogen bombs — should be outlawed. I think that if we could get all the countries in the world to agree to this we'd all be a lot better off. I guess Churchill has the right idea in suggesting that the top leaders of the various countries keep getting together. Keep trying. Keep trying for peace."

$40,000 Fund For Church Is Assured

The speedy campaign of members of Centenary Church winds up with more than $40,000 assured. The parish will gather for a Victory Dinner tomorrow night (Friday) at 6:30 p.m.

At a solicitors' dinner last Friday evening, it became clear that the original goal of $40,000 for the building addition had been enthusiastically supported by the parishioners of Centenary Church. Not one gift was solicited outside the membership of the parish, although a few gifts had been sent in from friends in the community. With pledges running for a 36 month period, it seems clear that by the time half of the cash is paid in, actual construction of the educational and recreational units will begin.

With only 30 calls remaining, Chairman Emerson Sylvester is certain that by April 9 there will be a 100 per cent report of participation, and he has a "wide grin" when he talks about how much more than the $40,000 he expects will be reported.

2nd Student Exchange Group At Mid-Mark of Week's Stay

The second exchange group of 30 high school students to visit Newton this year arrived at the Newtonville railroad station Sunday morning from Cleveland Heights, Ohio.

The exchangers, staying at the homes of their "exchange partners" who will later repay the visit to Ohio, are scheduled to leave for home Saturday night after a full week of activities and trips.

Following the welcome Sunday, the visiting students spent the afternoon with the individual families until a social hour early in the evening at the Parish House of the Second Church, West Newton. The social was sponsored by Mrs. Edward Kendall, director of the Newton Junior Red Cross Chapter.

The exchange got into full swing Monday when the guests began school with their exchange partners. During the first period the Newton students attended regular classes while the visitors toured the

Vote of 19-1 Backs Protest By Residents

The five-year running battle with Reiss Associates of Elmwood street, Newton, plastics plant which has drawn the ire of nearby residents and city officials as well, continued Monday night as the aldermen turned down two requests for storage tanks.

The company had asked for a 5000-gallon and a 500-gallon tank for storage of inflammable phenolic resin used in its manufacuring processes. Both license applications were turned down by 7-0 counts by the committee on franchises and licenses, and the rejection was upheld after a discussion by the aldermen in executive session.

Before the board retired behind closed doors, sharp criticism of the committee's report was levied by Alderman Leo M. Cannon, who termed it "the

Annual Adult Class Exhibit In N.H.S. Gym

The annual exhibit of Newton adult education will be held tonight (Thursday) in the Newton High School gymnasium. In addition to the many displays of work done in practical arts and handicrafts, there will be a fashion show of clothing made in the evening classes.

Adult education,which is conducted in many school centers throughout the city from October to April each year, has grown from an enrollment of 1200 students in 1950 to approximately 2400. This year an additional school, the new Countryside in the Oak Hill district, has been added for the convenience of evening students. Most of the courses have met in the Technical-Vocational High School, utilizing the mechanical equipment of the many shops and laboratories.

The 1954 exhibit is under the direction of James Forbes, director of vocational and adult education, and Mrs. Alice C. Guiney, supervisor of practical arts and handicrafts. Albert A. Dulac is general chairman and will be assisted by many of the Technical-Vocational faculty in preparing the exhibition. Mrs. Dorothy Rounding will be the narrator for the fashion show.

Residents of Newton and vicinity are cordially invited to attend the exhibition and share in the pride of the many adult students who are contributing

Improper Handling Of Bread Claimed

A resolution aimed at unsanitary practices by motorized lunch vendors and bakery delivery wagons was unanimously passed by the Board of Aldermen, with the support of the Health Department, after a discussion of the matter in executive session.

Alderman Stuart M. Spaulding, author of the resolution, declared he was objecting mainly to the lunch wagons which peddle bakery and other products to factories and businesses. The bread situation in Newton "appears to be fairly good," he said. However, there are cases of improperly handled bread.

Mr. Spaulding cited the Health Department as doing "a spectacular job" with sanitation problems, but said the department had "not enough manpower" to completely cover the city, especially with respect to the canteen trucks.

"Some bakery products are being delivered in our city without any form of wrappings. Other products are enclosed in wrappings but are not properly sealed," he declared, pointing out that health regulations require all bakery products to be enclosed in a dust-proof wrapper.

"I have discussed this problem with our director of public health," continued Alderman Spaulding. "He stated that periodic inspections are made and that a resolution such as the one that I would like to present to the board this evening points up what has long been an endeavor of health officials.

"He further stated that his department is in complete accord with this resolution as it will strengthen our right to insist on compliance with regulations."

Alderman Spaulding's resolution follows:

Mrs. Sarah Martha Black, 70 Years A Resident, Honored

A surprise birthday party was given recently to Mrs. Sarah Martha Black of Jefferson street, Newton for the past 70 years a resident of this community.

The affair was arranged by Mrs. Black's two nieces, Mrs. Willis Cummings and Mrs. Stanton Barclay and was held at Mrs. Barclay's home on Pleasant street, Newton.

Twenty-seven relatives of Mrs. Black's were present and a buffet supper was held, after which a mock movie was shown called "This is Your Life Martha Black," produced by her grandson Arnold Black, an artist on a Boston newspaper. The movie showed Mrs. Black's life in Alburg, Vermont, where she grew up, taught school and was married before coming to reside in this city 70 years ago.

In Newton, Mrs. Black has had a very active life. She is a member of the Eliot Congregational Church and sang in the choir for 35 years. She is a member of the Woman's Association of the Church. the Community Club of Newton and the Eastern Star.

Mrs. Black still enjoys the best of health and is active every day and evening with her church and social life. Despite all these activities, she makes apple pies that "are out of this world."

my attention that some trucks and other vehicles in the city of Newton carry unwrapped or wrapped but not properly sealed bakery products in the back of their vehicles without proper sanitary protection for the health and welfare of our citizens.

"Be it resolved: That the Newton Board of Aldermen request the proper authorities to take immediate note of this condition and appropriate action to prevent the repetition of this practice."

Last month the Newton Druggists' Association attacked the sanitary practices of the mobile lunch vendors in a resolution calling for city ordinances to force the same sanitary requirements on them as for other food-handling establishments in the city.

In a statement issued after the druggists' action, Dr. Henry G. Godfrey, acting director of public health, claimed the city ordinances fully covered all such lunch wagons and that no extra legislation was needed.

worst report" he had ever heard. He objected that the report did not contain enough for the aldermen to base their vote on, after hearing the contradictory claims made a pair of public hearings on the tanks.

Alderman Earle D. Wood explained the feelings of the majority of the board by questioning whether refusal of the tanks would force the company out of business or would only make matters worse. If this would force Reiss Associates out of business, he said, "everything would be fine," but he didn't want to increase fire and explosion dangers.

Why not act directly, said Alderman Winfield C. Anderson, "if we want to curtail operations, and put them out of business?" The company should be forced out of business, he continued, since the firm's operations is a direct violation of the zoning ordinances.

The effect of the denial was explained by Alderman H. Eugene Jones, who claimed it would force the company to carry the resin into the plant by buckets. He said it was a matter of conjecture whether or not this would allow the plant to continue operations.

Hirsh Sharf urged holding the licenses for further study into the dangers involved in the already hazardous factory, but William M. Powers said addition of the tanks "would not make the hazards less." He offered a full report at the closed session.

After the closed meeting, "leave to withdraw"—or refusal—was voted by a 19-1 count, with Alderman Cannon the lone dissenter.

After attending classes with their partners the rest of the morning, the Ohio group was welcomed at a program attended by the junior class in the auditorium. The visitors continued through the rest of the classes, then took part in an informal get-together in the high school library with teachers and students. A social hour at one of the exchange homes concluded activities Monday night.

Tuesday morning both groups went back to school again. They left early in the afternoon for an official welcome to the city by Mayor Howard Whitmore at Newton City Hall. A tour of the Raytheon plant in Quincy occupied the rest of the afternoon. A supper and entertainment was sponsored by parents of the Hershey-Newton group at the Newtonville Methodist Church.

Yesterday (Wednesday) was spent in Boston, visiting historic and famous places, attending the state legislature as the guests of Rep. Irene K. Thresher, and meeting Gov. Christian A. Herter. The exchangers met their hosts in the evening for individual activities.

Today's schedule calls for a visit to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the morning, and to Harvard University in the afternoon. If time permits, the exchangers will tour one or more of the museums at Harvard. Another social hour is planned in the evening at an exchange home.

A "North of Boston" trip is planned for tomorrow (Friday) including the towns of Marblehead, Salem, Gloucester and Rockport. A feature of the trip will be an "old-time halibut dinner" at The Tavern, overlooking Gloucester Harbor. The evening will be spent at the Totem Pole.

Saturday morning will be spent in an evaluation of the trip at a meeting in the Red Cross Chapter House. The hosts are asked to bring a box lunch for two. An afternoon trip will be taken to Concord, Lexington and the Wayside Inn. After dinner with the families, the exchangers will leave at 8:03 p.m. by train from the Newtonville station.

The Newton hosts and their partners for the exchange follow:

Jean Bannister, 136 Eliot street, West Newton, Joyce Madorsky; Jacqueline Bean, 1735 Beacon street, Waban, Jo Ann Turoff; Betsy Beeuwkes, 123 Sargent street, Newton, Harriet Rosenthal; Nancy Braceland, 45 Cottage street, Newton Upper Falls, Nancy Green; Roberta Cooper, 37 Burr road, Newton Centre, Margaret Lenten.

Everything You Cook Will Be More Delicious because you get the CORRECT HEAT every time

Up to now you have been able to get perfect baking and cooking temperatures in the oven of your stove because of automatic heat control, but when frying or cooking on top of the stove you have never known whether or not the heat was too high or too low, which often results in cooking failures. The temperature of the open flame will vary. Unless the heating element is embedded in the frying pan you will not get accurate transfer of the heat.

Now, with the new Sunbeam Automatic Frypan you can fry and cook at the correct controlled heat every time. The Sunbeam's highly accurate thermostatic control maintains the perfect heat for wonderful cooking and frying results without constant watching. No guesswork. The shortening is always at just the right temperature, resulting in less grease absorption into the food.

Warren Junior High Notes

Through a moment of silence at the beginning of its assembly last Friday, the Levi F. Warren Junior High School Community paid its respect to the memory of John Frankenberger, who was fatally injured last week at a neighboring junior high school. Sympathy was also extended to the boy who accidentally caused the tragedy.

—o—

In accordance with the law requiring TB X-rays every three years for all personnel working with children, administrators, teachers, clerical staff, custodians and cafeteria staff at Warren had chest X-rays taken. A mobile unit spent the greater part of the day at the school, making it possible for elementary teachers in the district to be served too.

Mrs. Theresa D'Abre of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association was in charge of the general arrangements which were made with the cooperation of the Newton Health Department and the Newton Teachers Federation.

—o—

Walter H. Brent, New England's foremost wild animal showman and lecturer, paid a return visit to Warren last week. A seemingly unusual type of assembly program proved to be one of the most enjoyed of the year as Mr. Brent showed and talked about "Ricky", a tame raccoon; "Brazil", a South American porcupine; a spider monkey, a turtle, a tortoise, a lizard and a cotton mouth water mocassin from Florida.

—o—

Four science projects were entered in the Newton Senior High School Science Fair by the following Warrenites: Robert Pollock, Jr. I, plastic tooth models; Solace Walker, Jr. II, the story of light; Gerard Healy, Jr. II, a model radio tower; John Kattwinkel, Jr. II, Donald Rust, Jr. II, and Horst Plendl, Jr. III, a gasoline engine car. The Warren Junior High School's own science fair was held in conjunction with the spring Open House Night, April 30.

NHS Students to Represent State in N.E. Drama Festival

A quartet of Newton High School students will represent Massachusetts in the New England Drama Festival April 23 and 24 at Sanford, Me., after taking top honors Friday in statewide competition at John Hancock Hall, Boston.

Members of the cast presenting "This Way to Heaven" are Nancy Hedricks, John Vaccaro, Bruce Whitney and Judy Daniel. They are coached by William Spink. Previously, the young actors had won a rating of "excellent" in the preliminary festival last month at Randolph High School.

Also representing Massachusetts will be the Malden High School cast, with "The Murder of Lidice." Named as alternate is Cambridge High and Latin, with "Doctor Faustus."

Music at the statewide competition was supplied by the Newton High School Orchestra. Paula Cohen, Fred Charm and Dick Phaneuf of the Newton stage crew handled all backstage arrangements.

At the Saturday night banquet, attended by nearly 300 actors, directors, ushers, and stagehands, Harvey Smith, a junior at Newton High School, acted as master of ceremonies and introduced the speaker, Cyrus Durgin, well-known drama critic.

Of the Newton cast, Judy, Nancy, and John were named members of the All-State cast, along with three Malden pupils, three from Cambridge High and Latin, one from Gloucester, and one from Boston College High.

Among the other plays presented in all-state competition were "Harvey," by Durfee High School; "Angel Street," by Quincy High; Act III from "Our Town," Gloucester High; "Submerged," by Boston College High; and "State Fair," by Arlington High School.

The four Newton players received emblems, as did the Malden cast, and both schools will get certificates from the National Thespian Society.

Pomroy Dramatic Club Entertains Stone Institute

Sixteen members of the Dramatics Club at Rebecca Pomroy House, a Newton Red Feather agency, presented an entertainment last week for women at the Stone Institute for the Aged.

They staged a play titled "Belling the Cat". Afterwards, some of the members danced and sang while others served punch and cookies. The club is composed of girls seven to nine years old who meet once a week under the direction of Dolores Dunham.

The members are Linda Allen, Ellen Roche, Patricia Ryan, Patricia Hannon, Ann Antonellis, Patti Hamill, Porraine Hamill, Pamela Meek, Carol Lansed, Geraldine Fleming, Dawn Fleming, Betty Panzera, Barbara Panzera, Barbara Ann Caira, Judy Baden and Patricia Meehan.

Costume Exhibit at Jackson Homestead Continues in Apr.

The exhibit of 19th century dresses, hats and accessories now on display at the Jackson Homestead, 527 Washington street, Newton, is being held over for another month because of the widespread interest it aroused.

At the Open House to be held Sunday afternoon from three to five, the visitors will see a choice collection of baby clothes donated by Miss Anne Bunker, Mrs. John F. Wheelock and others. Wedding dresses which have attracted much comment will still be shown on forms. In the dining room is an early cotton print dress of exceptional charm. All but a few items in this exhibit are from the Homestead collection.

A portrait of Governor William Claflin has recently been accepted as a permanent loan from Miss Nancy Keyes, great-granddaughter of the governor, and it now hangs over the dining room fireplace. Governor Claflin gave to the city the land where the High School now stands.

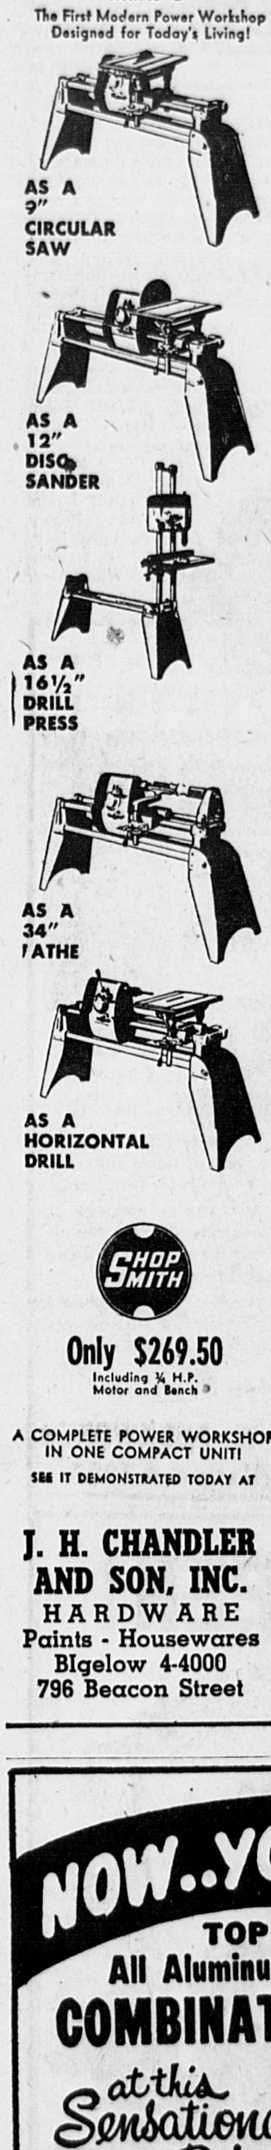

Also to be seen is an oil painting of nasturtiums done by Harriet Beecher Stowe at the time of a visit to the Claflin family. Miss Keyes' mother, as a little girl held an umbrella over Mrs. Stowe to protect her from the rain while she picked the nasturtiums which she later painted.

The public will be welcomed at the Open House. Special guests will be City Hall and Library employees of the City of Newton. Mrs. Robert G. Reed, Mrs. Frank W. Reilly and Mrs. George S. Wattendorf, representing the Auburndale Garden Club, will furnish flower arrangements. Girl Scouts from Mariner Ship 15 will act as junior hostesses, wearing lovely old gowns.

Political Overtones

Dever's withdrawal means a free-for-all battle at the Worcester convention hall and possibly in the primary three months later as well.

At the moment the top gubernatorial prospects appear to be Democratic House Leader Robert F. Murphy of Malden, Middlesex County Sheriff Howard W. Fitzpatrick and State Bank Commissioner Timothy J. Donovan.

However, a number of influential Democrats are quietly conducting a survey to determine whether there is any other outstanding personality in their party who could be built into a more formidable candidate than any of those three, and they may come up with a surprise choice.

The main problem confronting the supporters of Murphy, Fitzpatrick and Donovan is that those three men are not known to vast numbers of voters throughout the State, and a tremendous buildup job would be needed to place any of the trio in a position to challenge Governor Herter.

The same objection could be offered to any of the other Democratic gubernatorial possibilities who have been named to date.

Former Undersecretary of Labor William J. Galvin has been trying for months to convince Democratic politicians that he is seriously running for Governor. He has succeeded in establishing that fact but not in persuading them that he has any chance whatever of achieving the nomination.

Supreme Court Clerk Chester A. Dolan, Jr., of Roxbury, former Democratic leader of the State Senate, might be able to fight his way into the contention, but he has not been politically prominent or active for the past several years.

Chief Justice John P. Higgins of the Supreme Court probably will be mentioned as a possible candidate, as he is in many campaigns, but it is improbable that he would give up his seat on the bench to gamble on the Governorship.

There have been rumors that State Treasurer Foster Furcolo, who announced himself a candidate for the U. S. Senate, might shift and run for Governor. The fact, however, is that Furcolo isn't much better known than Murphy or Fitzpatrick, and if he makes any switch it is likely to be run for some lesser State office.

A year ago at this time, it appeared that the Democratic party in Massachusetts had an abundance of candidates for the highest public offices.

In the intervening span of months, however, former Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin died suddenly of a heart attack, and Mayor Hynes and ex-Governor Dever eliminated themselves from contention.

Now matters have reached the stage where it would not be at all surprising if former Governor James M. Curley changed his mind and bid for the Governorship. The venerable Mr. Curley is certainly the most widely known of all the Democrats now making passes at nominations.

One thing that has been definitely established by Messrs. Dever and Hynes in the statements they issued taking themselves out of the gubernatorial contest is that it is not possible to draft a man who doesn't want to be drafted.

Hynes and Dever have served notice in a most decisive fashion that they cannot be drafted by the Democratic State convention because they will turn down any nomination offered to them.

Dever's statement declining to run was about the most emphatic this writer has ever seen. It had even a sardonic tinge that presumably reflected a slight sense of irritation that many persons had not taken him at his word when he announced two months ago that he would not "seek" any nomination.

At that time, however, Dever declined to say whether he would yield to a draft. That prompted the belief that he might be receptive. He now explains that he felt it would have been "unpardonably presumptuous" to have made such a statement in February.

It seems reasonably clear at this point that the Democrats will be unable to find any candidate who would have been as formidable an opponent against Governor Herter as would have been either Hynes or Dever.

Hynes undoubtedly could have made the strongest Democratic candidate and would have had the best chance of winning of any member of his party. But the serious-minded Mayor feels that his obligation to the people of Boston to serve out his term and finish the job he has started overshadows all other considerations.

Exactly what was responsible for Dever's withdrawal is a matter of conflicting conjecture in political quarters, but the guessing is that reasons of health played a part in shaping his decision.

The draft-Dever demonstration at Worcester last Sunday fell considerably short of the expectations of its sponsors.

More than 17,000 invitations were mailed out to Dever workers in all parts of Massachusetts. Boston supporters of the ex-Governor rounded up as many people as they could and went up over the road in political excursions. Other groups were brought in from various parts of central Massachusetts.

Yet, a count at the meeting showed not more than 1,000 people in attendance, and they were mostly the party faithful who populate almost any Democratic rally.

That was no reflection of the popularity of Mr. Dever. But it did mirror the difficulty of getting a draft movement off the ground and throwing it into high gear, when no encouragement was being offered by the object of the draft.

One person who may step out as a potential contender for either Governor or some other State office is Governor's Councillor Patrick J. Sonny McDonough of Dorchester. McDonough is the only Democratic member of the Executive Council. He also is well known throughout the State for the part he played in the three Dever campaigns and might be built into an attractive candidate, if he chooses to make the race. He undoubtedly could command extensive support at the Democratic State convention.

Arersted in London for counterfeiting, Auditor Philip J. Pratt refused either to plead guilty or to take the matter seriously. "Ridiculous!" he informed police. "I look on it as an amusing hobby."

Colorado State Institutions Director J. Price Briscoe recently reported that about 20 per cent of the jewelry and leather goods turned out by prisoners for sale in prison stores are filched by shoplifters.

Mayor Orville Hubbard of Dearborn, Mich., ordered his department heads to lock themselves in their offices for half an hour each morning and to utilize the time jotting down any "hot ideas" that came to them. "That is the way Newton discovered the law of gravity," Mayor Hubbard observed.

Red Cross Drive Nears 90% Mark Of Newton Quota

With solicitors exerting every efforts in the closing days of the 1954 Newton Red Cross Fund Campaign, Chairman Edward C. Michaud reports that as of April 5, 90 per cent of the total goal had been reached.

"Our solicitors and office workers, all volunteers, have worked hard and long," said Mr. Michaud. "Many people who have not as yet been called upon have been kind enough to heed an appeal to send their donation to the Chapter House, 21 Foster street, Newtonville.

"Success depends on getting every possible donation, however small. In all drives the vast number of small contributors play a vital part in putting the fund over the top. It should be stressed that our established quota of $94,400 represents the minimum amount required to maintain our National and local Red Cross services.

"Citizens of Newton have been asked to give what they gave last year. By so doing we can be assured of continued Red Cross work in all its varied forms. Service to servicemen, veterans and their families, blood without charge to the receiver, water safety instruction at Crystal Lake, class instruction in home nursing and mother and baby care, vital help in our civilian and veteran hospitals, preparedness for the disaster we pray will not happen—all these and other necessary work cost money and can be carried on only if Red Cross is given the funds with which to work.

"We have every confidence that the one week's official 'overtime period' until April 8, will put us over the top. If you have not been contacted, your contribution is always welcome."

Form Newton Group to Aid TV Channel 2

Non-commercial television for the Newton area moved a step closer to reality this week with the organization of a local committee which will join with several hundred other community groups within a 60-mile radius of the proposed new Channel 2 transmitter atop Blue Hill in Milton to raise $453,000 needed for operating expenses and some important items of equipment.

The goal for Newton is $18,225. Serving as co-chairmen for the Newton drive will be Mrs. B. Alden Thresher and Murray E. Sholkin, both of Waban. Channel 2 plans to be on the air in the fall of this year. The reception will be the best in this area without any change in your present set.

Operated by the Lowell Institute Cooperative Broadcasting Council, a non-sectarian, non-partisan and non-profit organization, Channel 2 will be supported by voluntary contributions. Already available for construction of the new station is $600,000 contributed by the Twentieth Century Fund, the Filene Foundation and the Fund for Adult Education.

Already serving on the Newton committee for the local drive are Mrs. Harry D. Brenner, Mrs. Norman W. Davidson, Mrs. Ernest F. Dietz, Mrs. William N. Locke, Mrs. Stanley O. Robinson, Mrs. Abbott Spear, Mrs. Hugh M. Tomb, Mrs. Hyman B. Ullian and Mrs. Edward Ullian.

The campaign for Channel 2 is sponsored locally by the Community Council, Council of Churches, Federation of Women's Clubs, Federation of Teachers and the Council of Parent-Teacher Associations.

While commercial TV stations in Boston have developed several educational programs, these stations cannot be expected to set aside their most valuable time for educational programs. They must appeal to a mass audience and cannot afford to devote much time to education, culture and community service. Channel 2 is planning to specialize in many aspects of education, information, culture, civic affairs and matters of community importance.

City Raises 44% Of Easter Seal Campaign Quota

Newton has raised a total of $3711, or 44 per cent of its goal, in the Easter Seal Campaign, according to Miss Ruth Burns, assistant treasurer of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company and area treasurer for the campaign.

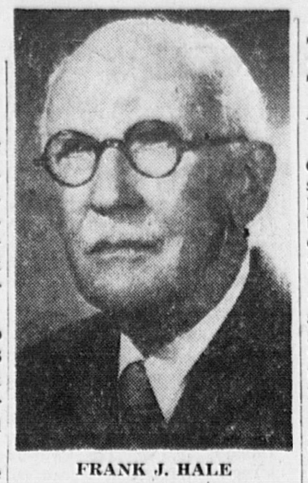

Statewide contributions to date of $113,996 represent 36 per cent of the $320,000 goal set by the Bay State Society for the Crippled and Handicapped for its 1954 Easter Seal drive.

Campaign Chairman S. Bruce Black, president of Liberty Mutual Insurance Company of Boston, urged everyone to mail in their Easter Seal contributions. "The demands on the Bay State Society for the Crippled and Handicapped are greater than ever before," he declared.

"We must not only maintain our present services but we must increase them if we are to do the job that faces us," Black said. "All of us can help give crippled children a new lease on life by supporting the Easter Seal campaign.

"It is bound to bring us personal pride to know that we have done our part for the crippled and handicapped of our community," he added. "The people of Massachusetts have always responded with open hearts to causes such as this. I am confident that they will do so again."

Easter Seal funds support the work of three rehabilitation centers in Boston, Worcester and Springfield.

FRANK J. HALE

Frank J. Hale Dies In His 92nd Year

Frank J. Hale, long prominent in textile machinery manufacturing and widely known throughout the textile industry, died last Thursday at his home at 80 Bigelow road, West Newton. He was in his 92nd year. Mr. Hale was born in Newton Upper Falls, the son of Amos L. Hale and Tamson Drake Hale. He was educated in the Newton schools.

Starting as office boy in the old Pettee Machine Works at Newton Upper Falls in 1880, he soon rose to a top executive position and was instrumental in building the company into one of the best known textile machinery manufacturing firms in the world. During this period he found time to be active in Newton community life where he served in the Common Council in 1888 and 1889, resigning in June of that year to accept an election to the School Committee, where he served until the end of 1898.

In 1912 he played a key role in the merger of companies which created the present Saco-Lowell Shops, of which he was General Agent until 1923 and a director until his death. During this time he also participated actively in promoting and reorganizing cotton textile mills both in New England and in the South, being at one time a director of more than twenty mills, including Dunean Mills, Greenville, South Carolina, Hoosac Cotton Mills, Adams, Mass., and Monarch Mills, Union, South Carolina.

A well known and widely respected business leader, he also took an active part in the banking activities of the Greater Boston community, serving at one time as director of The First National Bank of Boston, the Needham Trust Company, and a member of other institutions, including the Newton Trust Company, of which he was also a Vice President.

Until shortly before his death Mr. Hale regularly attended directors' meetings of the Saco-Lowell Shops, an unprecedented record of 66 years of continuous service in top management. At the time of his death he was also a director of Scott & Williams, Inc., of the Stone Institute and Newton Home for Aged People, a founding Trustee of the Newton Centre Savings Bank, and an incorporator of the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank. Mr. Hale was a member of the Algonquin Club of Boston, and at one time a member of a large number of clubs and organizations, including the Brae Burn Country Club, The Country Club, the Prouts Neck Country Club, and the Merchants Club of New York.

He was married to the late Grace E. Herrick. He leaves a son, Roger Drake Hale, of Lake Placid, New York, a daughter, Mrs. Marjorie Hale Gardner, of Newton Centre, four grandchildren, and four great grandchildren.

Kenyon Plan at NHS Rated High in School Dept. Article

The "Kenyon Plan," which gives gives exceptional students the opportunity to advance scholastically at a faster rate than in ordinary classes, was given an "overwhelmingly favorable" rating in the official publication of the School Department, "Newton School Age."

In a mid-year appraisal of the experimental plan, School Age stated, "The high school was prepared to junk the proposal if it was found to be harming the students in any way. With sophomores and juniors doing some work of college calibre, and enjoying it, the program is at the moment entirely successful."

The need for special handling of gifted students was explained: "In an era of attractive distractions, scholarship has too often gone by the board. In too many instances and places, the diploma has come to school attendance only . . . The teacher's job was becoming a more or less open fight against superficiality and distraction. 'The kids' were hurrying to 'finish off' assignments so as to get to TV. Student and teacher definitions of studying were and still are two different things in most cases . . .

"In large classes, the able students have too often been bored stiff. They have developed careless habits because pressure at the center of the class doesn't compel them to exert much energy to 'succeed'. Some were likely to waste time, even though they were well taught . . .

"At the moment the most significant aspect of the program is the feeling that at long last training the youngster to his potential—a primary object of education—is receiving its due, and at the end of the scale from which greatest returns to society can be expected."

The main questions about the Kenyon Plan and the answers offered by School Age, follow:

How about the pupils themselves? And first, who are they?

There are 119 enrollments in eight English classes, 91 in four French classes, 66 in three math classes, 48 in two biology classes and 17 in physics. The boys and girls are personable, well-adjusted, perhaps a little over-anxious, the girls particularly, although these students were always concerned to do their level best in school and always a trifle worried lest their best would fall short of perfection. Many of them are the school's leaders; their participation in the school's musical, civic, social, athletic, recreational life is above average.

Do they have to work harder than pupils in "regular" classes?

Ah, but they always did. Which accounts in part for their being selected for this program in the first place. And now they are quite certainly having to work harder than they did in classes in which competition with themselves was less keen. Put it this way: they are having to work more in keeping with their capabilities. This is regarded as healthy for any child in any class at any time. More important is that they are tackling with zest concepts of a higher order of difficulty.

Are they showing signs of fatigue and tension?

Not generally. Emotionally they are proving to be more mature than their fellows, better able to accept the challenges to their intelligence and curiosity, less inclined to hunt for excuses for not studying. (Emotional maturity was a basis of selection.)

They are distinguishable from their fellows, if at all, by their attitudes toward learning and possibly by the bigger pile of textbooks they tote around. These earmarks always distinguished the superior student. One of them may think that someone else in the class is "smarter" than he, only to find that the other thinks the same of him. Their perception and their ability to find enjoyment in their work are, if anything, superior to similar qualities in their fellows.

Otherwise you cannot tell them from their fellows. Since most of them are unsegregated in their Home Rooms, activities, and most classes, they look like what they are: high school boys and girls.

Have there been no failures? Has everyone made the grade?

Practically. Some find the sledding hard. One or two have been placed in "regular" classes for reasons not connected with the plan, — the decision, for example, that one field rather than another is to be the field of concentration when the pupil does get to college. In more cases, however, the student feeling hard-pressed has chosen nevertheless to remain in the Kenyon class because "it's more fun," because the atmosphere is one of intellectual curiosity, the experience itself exciting. The attitude of "let's find out about this," rather than "why do we have to study this stuff" attracts them. Some pupils might draw a better grade in a regular class, but they prefer the Kenyon climate.

Is the program flexible enough to move the pupil in or out of Kenyon plan classes if good guidance indicates that it should be done?

Yes, indeed, and several such shifts have been made into such classes. Fewer will be made from now until June because the gap in material covered has been widening since the first day. One or two over-conscientious students have been aided to lighten their programs in the interests of better all-round adjustment of the individual. Perhaps the pupil's intense desire to do well had not been tempered by the realization that he might not be top-dog in the group, a role to which he had been accustomed. The criterion for such changes, in either direction, has always been the welfare of the child.

Advocates Ordinance

Newton, witn the highest debt per capita of any city in the State, according to the Newton Taxpayers' Association, should enact an ordinance to tighten capital improvement procedures by requiring a six-year forecast of such expenditures by the Planning Board and all city departments. The Association advocates such an ordinance.

Legislation Authorized

Legislation authorizing the division of Newton into eight wards, sponsored by former Mayor Lockwood and Rep. George E. Rawson (R-Newton) has been reported favorably by the committee on cities. Under the bill, the voters would have to approve the proposal, which also provides for increasing the number of aldermen to 24, and the school committee membership to eight. One of the present wards would be divided into two.

Civil Service Exams

An examination of the position of junior building custodian in the public schools here will be held May 8, it has been announced by the Massachusetts Civil Service Commission. The deadline for filing application is Tuesday, April 20. At present there are two vacancies for males in the Public Building Department and six vacancies for males in the Newton public schools. The salary for the present vacancies in the Public Building Department is $3038.74 a year. For the vacancies in the public schools, the salary is $3425 a year.

Charge Trio with Robbery

Arraigned in Newton District Court Monday were three Watertown men charged with complaints of assault and battery and robbery of Mrs. Kazimera Kuslieka, 63, of 272 rear Nevada street, Newtonville. They pleaded innocent. According to police, Mrs. Kuslieka was awakened about 3 a.m., by a noise at her door. As she arose to investigate, two men reportedly forced open the door and one of the men grabbed the woman by the mouth and demanded, "Where's the money." $100 in cash and a bank book were taken from the house. An auto registration number, jotted down by an alert patrolman who was unaware that a robbery had been committed, led to the arrest of the men. In court the trio pleaded innocent and were held in $1000 bail each by Judge James E. Luby who continued the case until April 22.

Two Hurt In Falls

Two elderly persons injured in falls were removed to the Newton - Wellesley Hospital and to the Murphy Army Hospital in Waltham by Newton police over the weekend. A possible fractured pelvis was suffered by Bridget F. Morrissey, 88, of 61 Evergreen avenue, Auburndale, Sunday. A possible fracture of the right hip was suffered by Joseph A. McDonald, 75, of 120 Church street, Newton, in a fall in his bedroom Saturday.

Breag Ground for New Building

About 500 gathered at Newton College of the Sacred Heart last Saturday afternoon when Archbishop Richard J. Cushing broke ground for Stuart House, a $1,000,000 building to be constructed at the college. When completed, the new building will provide accommodations for 50 additional resident students, increased classroom space, a 400 seat dining hall, an assembly hall, a day students lounge and offices for the president and other members of the administration.

Weapon Search Continues

A 20 gauge shotgun taken from a parked auto last December was recovered by police as the result of the continuing investigation of school-boy gun trading. The shotgun, reportedly stolen from the car of Everett Munroe of 31 Rockland street, Newton, was traced to a 15-year-old Newton Centre youth who purchased the gun from a 14-year-old collector, who had bought the gun from a third youth, a 14-year-old Newtonville boy who also admitted stealing two souvenir pistols from the War Memorial Building last January.

David Gilfex of 5 Coolidge road, Newton Centre, and a freshman at Nichols Junior College, was awarded his J. V. basketball letter by Coach Nicholas Moutis at a convocation held recently at the college.

MISS TENLEY ALBRIGHT of Newton, who recently successfully defended her National Amateur Figure Skating championship, is one of the outstanding skaters to be seen in The Skating Club of Boston's 42nd annual ice production, 'Ice Chips of 1954" at the Boston Garden tonight (Thursday) Friday and Saturday evenings, and Sunday afternoon. ## To Hold Annual Easter Morning Sunrise Service

The annual Easter Morning Sunrise Service of the Andover Newton Theological School will be held again this year at the seminary's grounds, Herrick road, Newton Centre, at 6:30 a.m.

Mr. David King will be guest speaker at the service, which is sponsored by the Youth Division of the Newton Council of Churches. In case of rain, the program will be conducted at the First Baptist Church, Newton Centre.

Choice of Name For Jury Proves 1000-1 Chance

The long arm of coincidence reached into the Newton aldermen's meeting Monday when a 1000-1 chance occurred during the drawing of juror's names.

Alderman Leo M. Cannon reached into the jumbled box of poll listings, saw the name he drew and clasped his hand to his head in mock horror. "Oh no!" he cried, breaking into a broad smile.

Then he read aloud the name of Miss Adelaide B. Ball, Newton's first woman alderman who occupies the desk beside Mr. Cannon.

Board President Wendell R. Bauckman questioned the legality of Miss Ball serving on the jury, but the Newton woman protested she had always wanted to serve as a juror and asked to let the choice stand.

Ellwood A. Burdsall, son of Mrs. Esther C. Burdsall of 63 Greylock road, Newtonville, recently was awarded the "Wings of Gold" of a Naval aviator in ceremonies at Pensacola, Fla.

Starting the Day with an Hour's Rest!

It's about an hour from his home to his office—but he doesn't think of it as a drive at all.

He just settles back in the deep, comfortable seat—rests his hand on the inviting wheel—looks out over the hood in the general direction of the office—and starts to relax.

Comes first, the ten-mile stretch in the country.

If the car were standing still, it could not be smoother or softer or quieter—as it loafs over the broad, winding highway. There's only the faint sound of the wind, plus the receding trees and posts and buildings, to give him a sense of movement.

Almost before it begins, it seems, the ten-mile stretch is over—and a sign announces the city's limits. The soft pressure of his foot shifts from accelerator to brake—and the big car settles down easily, smoothly and quickly to the prescribed speed

And then begins the real wizardry of Cadillac performance. Stop and go—in and out—roll and creep . . . all regulated with the slightest touch of toe and hand. Insofar as the driver is concerned, it's just as easy as the open road—a little slower, of course, but just as calm and relaxing.

And maybe a little bit nicer, in one notable respect—for now there are drivers all about him—stealing glances at his beautiful car, and wondering who's the fortunate person whose name is on the title!

What a car—for highway or street! Owners say the hours behind its wheel are among the finest hours of the day—restful, relaxing and inspiring.

If you haven't as yet driven a 1954 Cadillac—you've been missing something wonderful! Better come in soon—for the most revealing hour you ever spent behind the wheel of a motor car.

Car Owners Must Obtain Stickers Before May 1st

Registrar of Motor Vehicles Rudolph F. King today issued the following statement:

The first periodic inspection of motor vehicles for 1954 which takes place during the month of April. Every motor vehicle registered in the Commonwealth prior to May 1 and which is operated on our highways at any time during the month of April, must pass inspection and have the black April 1954 inspection sticker displayed on the windshield on May 1, 1954.

"This sticker must be placed in the lower right-hand corner of the windshield and in no other place. All stickers (other than the 1954 plate validating sticker and the official civil defense sticker), baby shoes and other gadgets that might be attached to the inside of the windshield to interfere with the operator's vision, must also be removed.

"Inspectors of this department have been checking the premises and personnel of the 3000 authorized inspection stations throughout the state in preparation for the first semi-annual inspection. With more motor vehicles registered in the Commonwealth than ever before, motorists are advised to have their vehicles inspected as soon as possible after April 1 to avoid being disappointed at the end of the month by overworked inspection station personnel who may be unable to accommodate them. After the May 1953 inspection, there were 1535 delinquents who had to pay a fine or had to appear at a hearing on suspension of their certificate of registration.

"The full and complete cooperation of the public is requested in an effort to avoid accidents resulting in injury and death caused by defective equipment.

"Register King requests that you patronize your neighborhood inspection station as early as possible after April 1, 1954."

chairman of the finance committee, reported favorably on the sale, but agreed to the delay since "the piece has been waiting since 1917; two weeks more shouldn't make much difference." He explained that Fire Lt. Lawrence N. Clark, owner of the museum, was highest bidder of $110 on the antique equipment.

An attempt by the Wesbrook Company to obtain permission for three additional basement apartments at its apartment building at the corner of Church, Centre and Wesley streets, was defeated for the second time.

The company first sought the apartments last month as a change in the zoning laws, but neighbors strongly opposed the change and the move was defeated. Monday night the firm tried to overcome the objections to a zone change by asking "extension of a non-conforming use." However, Newton Corner residents still objected to the extra apartment space.

Miss Adelaide B. Ball repeated her earlier objections to the expansion, declaring "so far I can find no one in favor of this change." Also strongly objecting was Alderman Anderson, who claimed the company had broken faith with the city by renting apartments which were supposedly designed for janitors.

The favorable report on the company's petition by the Claims and Rules Committee was overturned by a 14-7 vote. The petition was also turned down previously by the Planning Board.

The H-Bomb made its explosive effects felt when a $3715 appropriation for Civil Defense radio equipment was held by the finance committee. Mr. Mattson reported there was "some doubt — I might say some confusion — over future plans" of the Civil Defense organization.

Permission was granted for Needham to construct a headwall and drain on Newton city property, and to discharge water from its drainage system onto Newton land. Edwin A. Terkelsen, chairman of the public works committee, said the discharge of water would "in no way" affect the city's water supply.

Furthermore, he pointed out, if Newton does not give permission, the state will step in and take over by eminent domain. The two Needham petitions were made necessary by connecting that town's water system to Newton's water supply.

Acting on a resolution by Alderman Lawrence B. Damon, the board asked the state to prohibit left turns at the intersection of Hammond and Boylston streets at the Chestnut Hill Shopping Center to overcome traffic congestion.

The resolution stated that "through such low-cost action a very substantial portion of the present congestion will be eliminated without the necessity of making substantial expenditures in the form of over or underpasses and roadway changes."

Mr. Anderson, who cast the lone vote in opposition, protested that the banning of left turns would confuse the traffic situation even further, and would make it difficult for all drivers.

Rough grading of the site of the Meadowbrook Junior High School in Oak Hill was authorized at a cost of $40,000. Alderman H. Eugene Jones said that although plans for the school would not be completed for three months, grading now would save the city money.

Also approved was a 1000-foot television tower asked by Station WHDH near the railroad tracks at the rear of 1172 Chestnut street, Newton Upper Falls. The tower was approved with the restriction that it be used for Channel 5 only.

A Newton Highlands tower in the industrial development area was approved earlier this year for use by the Columbia Broadcasting System, also with Channel 5, and the aldermen added the restriction on the WHDH petition so that two towers would not be built. Both WHDH and CBS have petitions for Channel 5 pending before the Federal Communications Commission.

A REAL CURE FOR CANCER?

PHOTOGRAPH BY RICHARD BEATTIE

The Truth Is...

. . . that this terrible disease can ALREADY be completely cured in about half of the cases . . . IF CAUGHT IN TIME.

The other half can be helped. They cannot yet . . . be saved. RESEARCH aimed at a final, complete solution to the cancer problem is proceeding as fast as available funds permit. Last year, with the help of $5,000,000 allocated by the American Cancer Society from donations made by Americans everywhere, encouraging progress was made.

But, "encouraging progress" is not enough. More money is needed. After all, $5,000,000 is less than 4% per American per year. Won't you please try to manage a real generous contribution? A big check, if you please, is really needed.

"Cancer" is an unpleasant word. It's easier not to think about it . . . to turn the page . . . to pass on.

Most folks who see this ad, will do just that . . .

YOU ARE DIFFERENT. The fact that you're still reading this proves it. Perhaps you have a special reason for being interested in the fight against cancer. Cancer may have taken away someone whom you love. It's not unlikely, for cancer strikes one out of five.

Last year, Americans gave more than ever. But, still not enough.

This year—please give more generously than ever.

Gentlemen:

☐ Please send me free information on cancer.

☐ Enclosed is my contribution of $.....to the cancer crusade.

Local Philanthrophist Gives $75,000 To Jewish Hospital

One of Boston's leading philanthropists celebrated his 50th birthday April 1 by contributing $75,000 to the Jewish Memorial Hospital's building fund.

The gift was made by Kivie Kaplan of 75 Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, for the new $700,000 wing of the hospital which is under construction in Roxbury to expand the facilities for caring of the chronic ill.

This contribution brought the amount given by Kaplan and his wife for the new wing to over $100,000, according to David Stern, Newton, president of Jewish Memorial Hospital.

In recognition for services to the hospital, the new wing will be named the "Emily R. and Kivie Kaplan Family Wing," Stern said. Kaplan is treasurer of Jewish Memorial Hospital and chairman of the endowment fund committee.

Kaplan, vice president and general manager of Colonial Tanning Co. and president and general manager of Hartnett Tanning Co., is also a trustee of Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

He is a founder and trustee of Temple Emanuel in Newton, board member of Brandeis University Associates, president of 210 Associates, JDA National Council member, treasurer of Roxbury Cemetery Assn., board director of Hebrew Free Loan Society, executive committee member of Asso. Jewish Philanthropies, treasurer and honorary member of Shawmut A.F. and A.M., and national board member of National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Mrs. Kaplan is also active in philanthropic and civic work. She is a member of Jewish Memorial Hospital, Jewish Women's Convalescent Home, Home for Aged, Beth Israel Hospital, Roxbury Ladies Aid & Fuel Society, Hadassah, Ladies Helping Hand Home for Jewish Children, Hebrew Teachers College, American Red Cross, Jewish Anti-Tuberculosis Assn., Jewish Tuberculosis Sanitorium of New England, Hebrew Free Loan Society, Hecht Neighborhood House, Jewish Vocation Aid Society, Hebrew Immigrant Aid Socety, Child Welfare Assn., Women's Scholarship Assn., Boston YWHA, Boston Aid to the Blind, Women's Committee of Brandeis University, Sisterhood Temple Emanuel, American Jewish Congress Women's Division, Cerebral Palsy Council of Boston, Hillel House, Boston Assn. for Retarded Children, Assn. for Advancement of Retarded Children, Friends of the Creative Arts Centre of Brandeis University, National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People and Mainonides School Ladies Auxiliary.

Meeting Discusses "Newton Corner Planning for Future"

There was a large attendance at the Newton Improvement Association's Meeting held on March 31st at the Hunnewell Club to listen to a large list of speakers discuss "Newton Corner Planning for the Future" and "Legislation Affecting Newton Corner." Senator Richard H. Lee emphasized the importance of long distance planning, calling attention to the fact that many of the problems we have today could have been avoided had proper planning been done twenty years ago.

Representative Donald L. Gibbs discussed "Legislation Affecting Newton," which was being considered by his Committee on Taxation and, also, "Legislation Affecting Workers" being considered by his Committee on Labor.

Representative George E. Rawson discussed several bills specifically affecting Newton Corner and referred to the original zoning bills in Newton, which he helped to introduce and put into effect.

The President, Edward J. Pease, presented a scroll to Joseph Perry, President of the Newton Savings Bank, in honor of their one-hundred twenty-fifth anniversary. In accepting the scroll, Mr. Perry made an interesting comparison of the conditions in effect in 1829 when the Newton Savings Bank was organized as compared with conditions today. In 1829 there were no automobiles, no parking problems, practically no manufacturing in Newton Corner and, in fact, Newton was just beginning to grow.

A Scroll was also presented to Judge Thomas Weston, Chairman of the Board of the Newton National Bank, in honor of their fine, new bank building, which has just been completed in Newton Corner. In his acceptance, Judge Weston referred to changes in currency and other matters which had taken effect during the last twenty-five years. He expressed confidence in the future of Newton Corner.

Alderwoman Miss Adelaide Ball was moderator of a panel discussion, which included Alderman Winfield C. Anderson, Richard H. Lovell, and William H. Powers. The question of off-street parking was discussed at length by this panel.

President Edward J. Pease appointed Guy Baker, John Snider and Gene Anderson as a Nominating Committee to bring in a slate of officers for next year. Appreciation was extended to the Program Committee, consisting of Mr. Harold Wooster, Chairman Miss Adelaide Ball, Mr. Guy Baker, Mrs. Grace Becherer and Mr. John Snider.

Appreciation was also extended to the Refreshment Committee, consisting of Miss Margaret Magoley, Mrs. Paul S. Rich, Mrs. William Powers and Mrs. John Snider.

Spaulding PTA

Stanley Lewis of 360 Brookline street, Oak Hill, was elected president of the newly organized Spaulding School Parent-Teacher Association.

Other officers elected were: Arnold Cutler, first vice president; Robert Richmond, second vice president; Richard Myerson, treasurer; Blanche Endlar, executive secretary; and Doris Sherman, recording secretary.

Russell C. Gleason of 90 Randlett park, West Newton, a dean's list student, has been accepted for membership in Phi Eta Sigma, freshman scholarship fraternity at the University of Oklahoma.

Study of Laws Regulating Guns Advocated by Rawson

"One of the most vexing problems coming up each year before the Committee on Public Safety, of which I am acting house chairman," declared Rep. George E. Rawson of Newton this week, "is the regulation of firearms."

The present law, he pointed out, has not been materially altered since its passage in 1936. There are a number of bills offered every year, "many of them impractical and some of them foolish," stated the Newton representative.

"We have to consider many phases of such legislation," continued Rep. Rawson. "It has been our position that the chief of police alone in every community should have the power of issuing permits to responsible citizens to carry a revolver or pistol.

"We have to consider the rights of sportsmen, of rifle associations and of members of the National Guard. The recommendations of the Department of Natural Resources (formerly the Department of Conservation) agree with Article Two of the Bill of Rights, which declares 'the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.'

"New York has its well-known Sullivan Law, which has worked well for several years.

"Our able Commisisoner of Public Safety, Gen. Otis M. Whitney, has recommended to us that a recess commission study be made of the entire subject.

"Therefore I have had a resolve for such a study drawn—House Bill 2425, which has been adopted by the committee and is now before the Committee on Rules, to whom all such measures are referred. The commission is to consist of two senators to be appointed by the president of the Senate, three representatives appointed by the speaker of the House, the commisisoner of public safety, the chief law-enforcement officer of the Department of Natural Resources, and three members to be appointed by the governor—one a representtive of sportsmen's clubs, one a representative of the National Guard and one a person engaged in the business of buying and selling firearms.

"The commission," he concluded, "is directed to examine the Sullivan Law of New York, and it is to make its report by the first Wednesday in December, the final date for filing bills for next year's session."

Lenten Meditation Group at YMCA Hears Minister

God knows us better than we do ourselves or than others do, Rev. Edson Waterhouse, minister of St. John's Methodist Church of Watertown, told members of the employed group of the Newton YMCA at a Lenten meditation last week in the Newton YMCA building.

"The power to press on to higher goals is present within all of us," Rev. Waterhouse said. "He has it in His power to keep us moving forward to the best that is within us."

"There are really three persons in each of us. There is the You that others know, the You that you yourself know, and the You that God knows. We can't fool our own consciences and neither can we deceive God!"

Rev. Waterhouse's talk was the second of two meetings planned by the Christian Emphasis committee of the Newton YMCA, Dr. Prentiss L. Pemberton, chairman.

Warning

Newtonville's Robert Choate, dean of the College Music at Boston University a new president of the Mu Education Association warn that if parents don't encoura their children to enterta themselves, they will devel into advanced cases of "co sumer mind."

Dean Choate, at a meeting the educators' group here, sa that children are watching t much television, too ma sports events and too ma movies without doing enou things by and for themselves.

Newton Dealers Now Displaying Sunbeam 'Frypan'

The sensational new Sunbeam Controlled Heat Automatic Frypan was shown to area dealers and distributors at a dinner last week at the Woodland Golf Club.

According to the manufacturer, never before in appliance history has there been anything like the Sunbeam Controlled Heat Frypan. This entirely new and different appliance enables the user to fry and cook foods at the correct automatically controlled heat every time. The Sunbeam's highly accurate thermostatic control maintains the proper controlled heat for perfecting cooking and frying results without constant watching. The shortening is always at just the right temperature, resulting in less grease absorption into the foods. Chicken, pork chops, ham, fish, hamburgers, etc., are tastier, more flavorful, with their natural juices sealed in.

Another outstanding advantage of the Sunbeam Frypan is its WATER-SEALED electric element, making it possible to immerse the entire pan in water up to the control knob on the handle for quick, easy washing. The unit wipes clean in a jiffy, retaining its shiny appearance inside and out.

An easy-to-see "Fry-Guide" gives the housewife amazing convenience right at her finger tips at all times. It lists frying temperatures for all favorite dishes, completely eliminating guesswork and failure. The easy-to-set Heat Control Dial is right in the handle with a convenient signal light. A full 20 per cent more food can be cooked in the Sunbeam than in an ordinary round pan because of its attractive square design.

The appliance itself is a sturdy, serviceable unit built of cast aluminum with its tubular 1150-watt element embedded right in the bottom. The Frypan's even, rapid distribution of heat eliminates "hot-spots" and results in an even all-over temperature. Sturdy bakelite legs let the housewife use the Frypan any place she wishes. Heat resistant and aluminum high dome covers are available for such dishes as stews, macaroni and meat balls, Swiss steak, pot roast, chili, etc.

You are invited to visit any of Newton's dealers and see all the outstanding features of the revolutionary new Sunbeam Frypan.

"He that is of merry heart hath a continual feast." (Proverbs XV, 15)

NHS Drops Baseball Opener 1-0 Despite No-Hit Pitching

Newton High School's opening baseball game of the season Tuesday afternoon could be titled "Frustration Unlimited" after the Tigers outhit, outran, outfielded, outplayed and outpitched Medford High, but lost the game 1-0.

Three Newton hurlers combined in the independent clash to hold the Mustangs hitless with the aid of some spectacular fielding, unusual for an opening game where the players have been unable to get outside practice.

Medford counted the only tally of the game against Russ Halloran in the fourth inning. Entering the game after Bill Reilly had breezed through the first three frames, Halloran walked the first man to face him. After a sacrifice and an infield out, a pitch bounded away from the Tiger catcher to the backstop, allowing the runner to trot in from third base.

Newton muffed a number of scoring chances, leaving eight men stranded. The best chance for the home forces came in the fifth inning when Jimmy Wiper, catcher-third baseman, tripled to left with only one out. In all, Newton banged out six hits.

The game originally was scheduled to be played Monday afternoon, but the cold weather forced postponement until Tuesday.

TELE-VIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS

Sometimes I wonder whether the purpose of advertising is to mislead rather than to inform. This has been a sore spot with me for a long time and it seems that unless an entirely new approach is instituted, the nation's adversers will end up "killing the goose".

However, in view of the recent fantastic claims about a new indoor TV antenna, which was widely promoted by the Boston department stores, and the resulting large number sold, I am afraid that as long as there are gullible people there will never be an end to such deplorable practice.

Actually, I doubt very much if the antenna in question is generally any better than a piece of wire of similar length which, incidentally, could be bought for about a dime! I tested enough locations personally to convince me that the best type of "rabbit ears" is still the most effective indoor antenna and even that has its very definite limitations.

Of course, when it comes to UHF reception, there is still no substitute, except in rare cases, to a properly designd and installed roof antenna. In this connection, we note that channel 56, our local UHF station, has been increasing its scope to include a number of network programs otherwise unavailable to Greater Boston viewers. If you want to be able to see these new programs, you can have your set quickly converted to UHF by phoning

Did You Know This About The Nat'l Guard?

That six of our Presidents — an average better than one out of six — were Guardsmen. . . . Presidents who served as Citizen-Soldiers are George Washington, Abe Lincoln, Andrew Jackson, Chester Arthur, Teddy Roosevelt and Harry Truman. . . . The National Guard of the United States was named after the "Garde Nationale" of France in honor of the Marquis de Lafayette who was one of its commanders, when he visited New York in September 1824. Previously the Guard was known as the Militia. . . . Over 160,000 Guardsmen served on active duty in the Korean emergency —in the front lines in Korea, training in Japan and Europe and on Guard in the States. . . . Two divisions, the 45th of Oklahoma and the 40th of California, fought in Korea. . . . 14 Guardsmen won the Medal of Honor during World War II. . . . The oldest Guard unit in the country is the 182nd Infantry of Massachusetts originally organized as the Middlesex Regiment in 1636 to fight the French and Indians.

That young men between the ages of 17 and 18½ are eligible to join the Massachusetts National Guard, AND, as long as they perform satisfactory service CANNOT be called for duty with the regular services under the provisions of the Selective Service Act.

Hometown News Paper Holds Unique Place

The thousands of country weekly and smaller city daily newspapers in the United States stand in a unique position.

Absolutely nothing takes the place of the hometown paper. It leaves a printed record of community life and activity that can be found nowhere else.

For an example, take the Reese River Reveille of Austin, Nevada, published in the geographical center of a state having a population of less than 2 persons to each of its 109,000 square miles of area.

The Reveille has been published continuously since May 16, 1863, two years after the first telegraph line across Nevada replaced the Pony Express.

The files of the Reveille, preserved in the courthouse vault, are said to be the only complete files of any Nevada newspaper dating back to territorial days.

All of which points up the fact that the local newspapers in every corner of our country furnish a deathless record of the people and the area they serve.

Local history is recorded and preserved by the country press of the nation—hopes, aspirations, facts, drama, marriages, births, deaths, political events, legal records—the whole chain of human activity.

A town without a local newspaper is like a phonograph without a record.

Showers

Softly falls the rain of Spring
(And then again it pours!)
While the poets rhyme and sing
About the coming flowers.
Though I try to join their song
And not unduly fret,
Seems to me it lasts too long
And gets me awful wet!

—Carl C. Helm.

Eye Failures

Chicago — Two out of five children in school, it is estimated, are handicapped by inadequate eyesight. On the other hand most of these cases are easily corrected.

Woman Gives Red Cross Time, Blood, Money in 1 Day

The slogan "Neighbor helping Neighbor" is not often better exemplified than during a recent day in the life of Mrs. William H. Toomey of Newtonville.

Mrs. Toomey is a familiar figure at the Red Cross Chapter House on Foster Street. As chairman of Staff Aides she gives faithfully of her time in many services.

One day last week she did more "good turns" than she had anticipated. While serving as receptionist at the telephone desk a call came in for blood urgently needed for an emergency operation. Mrs. Toomey checked the time elapsed since her last donation, contacted the Blood Program Director, offered her services and reported to the hospital as a blood donor. Just after the family dinner that evening, the Red Cross Fund solicitor rang the door bell at the Toomey home. Knowing full well the services rendered by the Newton Chapter, Mrs. Toomey had her contribution ready for the volunteer worker.

In the morning, time! In the afternoon, blood! In the evening, money! It would be impossible to tell how many neighbors were helped by the neighborly Mrs. Toomey. Red Cross is grateful to her threefold.

Commi'ty Chorus Nearing Concert Date of April 28

The rehearsals of the Newton Community Chorus, directed by James H. Remley, are rapidly moving toward the finish line of April 28, concert night. The chorus has planned an evening of contrasting music which could very well be called "Omnibus." The program will present the musical score from "South Pacific," Schubert's "Rosamunde" and Gabriel Faure's "Requiem."

Presenting a program of this nature demands a great deal of concentrated effort on the part of all chorus members. Yet, in spite of the work involved, the members enjoy themselves immensely. This organization is a chorus composed of men and women with average voice talent but with a driving desire to sing and enjoy good music. As a pleasing result, the programs they present are enjoyable and good because they are the results of hard effort. These programs are the members contribution to Newton's culture.

POLITICAL OVERTONES

G.O.P. Politicians Fear Over-Confidence in Party . . . Dewey's Upset Proved No Election Is a Sure Thing . . .

A fear being expressed by some of the soundest of Republican politicians is that the G.O.P. may suffer from a case of over-confidence in next fall's election in Massachusetts as a result of developments which have thrown the Democratic party into a state of confusion and uncertainty.

The worst thing that can happen to any candidate in a major election fight, they point out, is for his supporters to become convinced that he's a sure thing and can't miss. That's when the roof usually falls in, as it did on Governor Thomas E. Dewey in 1948.

As matters stand today, Governor Christian A. Herter and Senator Leverett Saltonstall would have to be rated as favorites to win reelection next autumn, but the odds favoring them are no greater, possibly not even as great, as they were for ex-Governor Dever at this same time two years ago.

A great deal, of course, can happen between now and next November. Factors over which Messrs. Herter and Saltonstall have no control whatever could completely change the complexion of the political picture. An economic recession, for example, could turn the political tide.

Gammons Is Named Bank Board Head

Roland F. Gammons, president of the West Newton Savings Bank since 1928, was honored by election as chairman of the Board at the annual meeting of the bank held April 13 at the Brae Burn Country Club. Kenneth W. Rogers, who became associated with the bank in 1928, was elected president.

Mr. Gammons entered the service of the bank on June 15, 1898 as its only employee. He was elected treasurer in 1902 and president in 1928 which office he has filled with distinction. During his 56 years with the West Newton Savings Bank, he has seen the assets increase from $598,000 to over $16,000,000 and the safety and strength of the institution develop to a point which places the bank among the strongest in the Commonwealth.

In a recent report to the trustees, Mr. Gammons stated, "I have seen the bank go through two world wars and a near war, a panic and a depression or two, a period of 'bank holiday' and bank closings, and a longer period of general real estate troubles. I have seen the bank come through these storms and trials into increasing strength, with a splendid growth in deposits, its present sound portfolio of mortgages and investments, a fine bank building and an excellent reputation."

Limiting Banks Activity Is Hit

In a statement issued this week, Representative George E. Rawson (R-Newton) calls House Bill 630, which would prohibit banks from advertising legal services, "a very poor bill."

In his statement, Rep. Rawson stated:

"A very poor bill, House 630, made its way to the House calendar last Thursday. Entitled "An Act to prohibit banks from advertising legal services rendered by them or from soliciting the use of such services, it would clearly prohibit a bank from advertising its trust business or that it could act as trustee or guardian. Certainly a bank which receives its perpetual charter from the state is in a good position to render such services and should be allowed to advertise the fact. However, some lawyers, of whom there are undoubtedly too many in the House, have long viewed such activity by the banks with alarm.

"The bill was given an adverse report by the Committee on Banks and Banking with six members, all lawyers, dissenting. The sponsor of the bill, Rep. Coltin of Chelsea moved substitution of the bill for the committee report. Rep. Hibbard Richter of Brookline soundly defended the committee report but was unable to stem the tide.

"Personally I agree with Rep. Richter on his stand against the bill. The interest of the whole people is the public interest, and that is the only interest that we should serve. That should come ahead of the desires of any group. Richter and I had further action postponed for a week and we hope we can defeat the bill when it is really understood."

Interviews About Newton

By John N. Sullivan

What Do You Think Is The Best Way To Curb Juvenile Delinquency?

Mrs. Frank Kulesza, 24 Mechanic street, Newton Upper Falls—Homemaker. "I think the best way to curb juvenile delinquency is for the parents toset the example in the home. Most of the trouble, it seems to me, stems from the homes. As it is now, the young people have too much time on their hands and don't know what to do with it. Especially here in Upper Falls, there aren't any clubs for the young people, so it's just up to the parents to supervise them more closely."

William A. Morgan, 1029 Boylston street, Newton Highlands — Supervisor. "Well, it seems to me that the best way to curb it is to put a foot policeman back on the beat instead of in the cruiser. That way the policeman gets to family on the beat and the kids get to know and respect them. I know that's the way it was when I was young. Nowadays, however, the youngsters don't know the police due to the fact that they're riding around in the cruisers."

Miss Elizabeth Ravinski, 216 Elliot street, Newton Upper Falls—Clerk. "I think if the juveniles had more things to do — such as clubs, different organizations and so forth, something to occupy their minds and their time — I think that the problems of juvenile delinquency would be greatly diminished. I think the main problem is that they have too much time on their hands. Also, I think the movies have put wrong ideas in teenagers minds."

Mrs. Robert McLaughlin, 22 Mechanic Street, Newton Upper Falls. Homemaker. "I'm in a great believer in the idea that if the parents set a good example in the home the children automatically follow it. Most children look up to the parents and whatever they see them doing they think is right. Also, I'm in favor of more local recreational facilities and things to interest the young people."

Pledge $63,114 For Enlarged Parish Hall

Last Friday, April 9th, 250 parishoners gathered at 6:30 for a "Victory Dinner" at the completion of a drive for $40,000 to enlarge their parish hall, recreational and church school facilities, at Centenary Methodist Church, Central st., Auburndale.

A tremendous amount of enthusiasm greeted the final announcement that a total pledge of $63,113.80 was the result of two weeks' intensive campaigning.

Dr. R. Emerson Sylvester, Auburndale physician, served as general chairman of the drive. He was named at last Friday's dinner as Chairman of the Building Committee. Dr. Sylvester's first announcement was that construction will begin as soon as one-half of the pledged amount has been paid.

City Clerk Predicts Savings By Use of Public Buildings

Modernization of Newton's voting process—first by switching two polling places from private to public buildings at an annual saving to the city of hundreds of dollars, and later by converting to voting machines—will be recommended to the aldermen Tuesday night by City Clerk Monte G. Basbas.

The first step in the change will be sought by the city clerk by asking transfer of the polling places now located in Edwards Motor Sales, Newtonville, and in the Newton Centre Woman's Club.

Public, rent-free buildings which might be substituted in Newtonville include both the old and new Claflin Schools, Newton High Drill Shed (which is already used as a polling place), F. A. Day Junior High, Civil Defense Headquarters, and the Newtonville Branch Library.

Public buildings in Newton Centre which might be used are the Mason School, the proposed new school site on the Newton Centre Playground and the Newton Centre Fire Station.

According to Mr. Basbas, the city spent $766 for rental of polling places during 1953. By shifting the two polling places to public buildings, the city would save all but $100 of that figure. The $100 is needed, Mr. Basbas declared, for renting a polling place in Chestnut Hill where no public building is available.

Newton's present system of voting by the traditional marking of ballots is also due for revision if Mr. Basbas has his way. He hopes to get the change to voting machines under way by applying the savings from the switch in polling places to the purchase of one or two machines a year.

The meeting of the aldermen will be Tuesday night instead of Monday due to Patriots' Day falling on Monday, the usual meeting date.

The chief appropriations listed in the preliminary docket for the meeting are for Street Department work. The docket lists $59,400 for drain and sewer construction on Dorcar road, Scotney road, Tirrell crescent and Cheever avenue, Newton Centre. Also included is $35,000 for street construction on Stanley road, Waban.

Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr. has approved a request by Fire Chief John E. Corcoran for a hydrant at the Pine street dump. Installation is estimated at $1660.

Need for the hydrant was pointed up Friday when an eight-hour blaze occupied firefighters through the afternoon and early morning. At the beginning of the fire, a plume of smoke soared into the sky above the Auburndale dump and smoke drifted into West Newton Square.

Oak Hill Park residents will be watching the meeting with more than usual interest to see whether action is finally taken on a business block for that area. The block, a controversial project which has been debat-

Rollins, Town Counsel of Brookline, will discuss "Citizen Participation in Local Government" at the Annual Meeting of the Newton Civic Association to be held at the Newton Highlands Workshop on Thursday evening, April 22 at 8 p.m. Mr. Rollins has held his present position since 1946. General Daniel Needham of West Newton, retiring president of the Association, will preside. ## Leo Barry Elected to Head Newton Community Council

Leo Barry, Assistant principal for Administration at the Newton High School, was elected President of the Newton Community Council at its Annual Meeting last week. Mr. Barry has served on the Governing Board for a number of years, the last two as Vice-President. He is a graduate of Bates College, with a Master's degree from Boston University, and is now completing his doctoral study at the Harvard Graduate School of Education. He came to Newton as an English teacher in 1941 and during World War II as a Navy Lieutenant in Communications, was editor of "Navy News in the Pacific" covering the war crime trials in the Philippines. Returning from service he became administrative assistant at the Newton High School, editing School Age and was Director of Radio for the Newton Schools and has been active with a number of local and national educational organizations and editorial boards.

Other officers and members elected were: 1st Vice-President, Mrs. Arthur T. Gregorian; 2nd Vice-President, Albert R. Beisel, Jr.; Secretary, Mrs. Louis F. Billings; Treasurer, William H. Wragg; and Mrs. John C. McClintock, Rev. Russell E. Gundlach, John D. Fox, members-at-large for a term of three years.

The Countryside and Claflin P.T.A. were accepted as new organizational members making a total of 90 in the Community Council.

Parker Wheatley, managing director of WGBH-FM and TV Channel 2 gave a real "down-to-earth" talk about the hopes and aspirations of the new channel with the tentative program outline. He said Newton has had a more important role than any other community citizen-wise in the thinking and planning for the station. Through D. Gores a survey was conducted in High School which showed the students want more science, social science, good dramas, novels dramatized and so do the parents. Our Representative, Irene Thresher, headed the special commission to get the channel and held a hearing for people to express what they wanted.

He said one-third of all listeners in radio were critical and dissatisfied and TV has earned even more contempt than radio. There is a void of what people want; they don't know what they want so Educational TV will bring them what they haven't had for there are many potentialities which haven't been touched. The station plans to be on twenty-four hours each week starting at 5-5:30 Monday through Friday with live programs, to serve all age groups and all levels of intelligence with a wide diversity within a unity of purpose and goal. He will call on the people for he will need our interest and advice and he would like to have us keep in touch with him by writing letters letting him know how we feel.

He closed by quoting Dr. Pusey, President of Harvard College.

"TV is, for good or evil, going to make more impact on human minds than any earlier means of communication. The question therefore, is whether it is going to be used to good advantage or whether it is going to be only one thing more to feed in more inferior material for diversion for restless minds.

"We are hopeful it is going to provide a kind of program that people will be interested in and will want to see and listen to, and that it will continue the age-old battle of trying to provide fitting materials for human minds that will help to grow in subtlety and penetration and give their holders both the information and by indirection the moral fiber we all feel participating members of a democratic society need to have."

Contest for Teen-Age Drivers Under Way by Newton Jaycees

As the first step in a contest by the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce to find the city's most skillful young driver, written tests on road safety and regulations have been taken by students at Our Lady's, Sacred Heart and Newton High Schools.

The examination consisted of questions on "Rules of the Road and Driver Courtesy" and "General Driving Knowledge," according to Nathan Clark, chairman of the Jaycee

The 30 Newton High students who last week were hosts and hostesses to a like number of boys and girls from Cleveland Heights, Ohio, will leave Patriot's Day for Ohio to repay the visit to Cleveland Heights High School.

The 15 boys and 15 girls from Newton, accompanied by faculty advistors Miss Mabel A. Turner and Kenneth White, will arrive Tuesday at 6:40 a.m. at East Cleveland. There will be a square dance in the afternoon and a reception at one of the exchanger's homes in the evening.

Wednesday's schedule calls for classes in the morning at Cleveland Heights High School and tours in the afternoon to an art museum, Western Reserve University and an industrial plant. In the evening, there will be a box supper and a talent show by Cleveland Heights' students in the high school.

School routine will be followed next Thursday. In the afternoon, the girls will engage in a "Playday" and there will be extra-curricular activities for all the exchangers. The Newton students will also see a play in the school's "Little Theatre."

On Friday, April 23, there will be an early-morning tour with classes following until the afternoon. A bus trip to Nela Park, where General Electric manufactures light blubs, will be conducted, and an all-school party will be held that evening.

Gammons-

In recognition of the success of his stewardship, Mr. Gammons and his wife were honored on April 9 by a dinner party at the Brae Burn Country Club attended by the trustees of the West Newton Savings Bank and their wives as evidence of their personal respect and esteem for the retiring president and he was presented with a beautiful sterling silver Paul Revere bowl engraved with the facsimilie signatures of the trustees of the bank.

Kenneth W. Rogers becomes the chief executive officer of the bank. He and his wife Eleanor live at 79 Albans road in Waban. Their sons, Glenn and Alan, attend Warren Junior High School. The new president and his wife are long time residents of Newton and have been active in civic affairs. Mr. Rogers is now serving as chairman of the Horace Cousens Fund, is a member of the Budget Committee of the Newton Community Chest and is affiliated with several other community service organizations. The new president received his education at Newton High School, Boston University and the American Institute of Banking. In 1933 he was elected assistant treasurer of the bank, in 1947 vice-president and in 1949 treasurer.

Largely as a result of Mr. Rogers interest in bringing the best in thrift services to the community, evening banking hours were initiated by the West Newton Savings Bank in January, 1952. It is the only bank providing this service to its customers and the success of the venture is indicated by the volume of business transacted between the hours of 6 and 8 on Friday nights. The bank is one of the few in the Commonwealth to develop any volume of personal loan business. Under Mr. Rogers supervision the bank has made thousands of unsecured loans to deserving people for many worthwhile purposes. The borrowers have benefitted by low cost bank rates.

Robert P. Lurvey was elected treasurer of the bank. He joined the staff in September of 1949, having been a bank examiner for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. He brings to his new position a well-rounded knowledge of savings bank procedure and practice. A Navy veteran of World War II, he is a graduate of Medford High School and Bryant and Stratton School.

Philip A. Lashway who was elected assistant treasurer of the bank graduated from Brockton High School and Bryant and Stratton School. He was formerly an assistant mortgage loan officer in a Brockton bank before joining the West Newton Savings Bank in July of 1953. He served in the armed services during the Second World War and has become a resident of West Newton.

The bank re-elected William F. Chase of West Newton, a member of the firm of R. L. Day and Co., as vice-president. Also elected a vice-president was Maxwell P. Gaddis, who like Mr. Chase is a former member of the Newton Board of Aldermen and who was sales manager of the International Shoe Co. and who has been very active in the American Red Cross and the West Newton Community Service. Re-elected trustees were Charles J. A. Wilson, Judge Thomas Weston, John W. Kellar, William H. Best, Clyde S. Casady, Ernest G. Angevine and Donald P. Perry. Elected a new trustee fo rtwo years was Raymond P. Atwood of West Newton, a realtor associated with Thomas V. Cleveland.

New members of the Corporation elected were Douglas Danner a lawyer with the firm of Peabody, Batchelder and Luther; Donald L. Gibbs, vice-president of the Kendall Paper Co. and a Representative in the General Court, Richard H. Lee, a member of the Massachusetts Bar and the State Senator from Newton, Philip Purcell, the chief of the Newton police and John B. Rubenstein, vice-president in charge of Production and Purchasing of Security Mills.

tion, many members were discouraged because they felt the music too difficult for their capacity. However, by the end of the second rehearsal, the entire chorus was enthralled with the beauty and refinement of every note.

Harold Schonberg, a music critic for the New York Times. recently had this to say about the "Requiem:"

"One of the most beautiful pieces of choral music that the 19th century has to offer is Gabriel Faure's 'Requiem.' Like all of this composer's music, it is delicate, understated and refined. Not for Faure the huge forces and apocalyptic frenzies of Berlioz. The content here is tender and intimate; wistful. even, with a twilight feeling of resignation."

The balance of the concert program affords the chorus members the opportunity to display their versatility by presenting, in addition to regular choral type music, popular music from the hit musical South Pacific.

"Man's Only Hope"

Let Pilot wash his hands and then decry,
All guilt from this great crime, yet bear the stain.
The milling mobs may roar their hate on high,
Yet on their foreheads bear the mark of Cain.
The deed is done, the cross upon the hill,
Will live through all of time, for men to see;
His mission is fulfilled, His Father's will,
Was brought to fruit on that bleak Calvary.

Behold, the Christ is risen from the grave,
His broken body once again is whole;
The agony of cross was meant to save,
The lasting hope of man's immortal soul.
What fool would challenge His great purpose here,
Or from His eternal message turn away;
He will lead us out of darkness and blind fear,
If we but only turn to Him and pray.

It Does Not 'Speak'

"Doctors use the term 'Silent cancer' to describe a malignant condition which is without the symptoms that the individual might recognize as abnormal. The person who has cancer in this stage does not know he is unwell, that his life is threatened. There is no danger signal such as pain, a lump, a sore, or bleeding, to urge a visit to the doctor. Except to the doctor, the cancer does not 'speak'."

This paragraph from the annual report of the American Cancer Society, just published, contains its own answer to the anxious question that it poses. The answer is in the last sentence.

To the doctor, trained to discover that which the patient himself does not recognize, cancer does indeed speak.

It is in this silent and symptomless stage that cancer is most curable—the time when the growth is still confined to the site of origin. When cancer begins to extend into other organs—as it must inevitably by its very nature, unless checked—the cure rate bends sharply downward.

The answer? Regular physical checkups, says the Cancer Society, which is making this message an important part of its year-round program of public education. The routine visit to the doctor is the best insurance against cancer's threat.

To get this message across to the public by every medium of mass communication requires a vast effort. You can help the Soceity in its effort by contributing generously now to the Cancer Crusade, which is seeking to raise $710,000 in Massachusetts for support not only of education but also research and service.

Political Overtones

For that reason the shrewdest Republican politicos are discouraging any suggestion that they face a soft fight and instead are mapping plans for a campaign just as rugged as the one which saw Governor Herter nose out ex-Governor Dever after a pulse-stopping race in 1952.

One reason the situation is fraught with uncertainty from a G.O.P. standpoint is that under normal circumstances Massachusetts is now considered a Democratic State.

A Republican candidate, in order to carry the Bay State, must either have a political trend at his back, such as existed in the 1952 Presidential campaign, or be a more attractive vote-getter than his Democratic adversary.

But while the G.O.P. politicos, with their 1948 disaster still reasonably fresh in their minds, are determined to resist any tendency toward over-confidence, the Democrats are engaged in something tantamount to a bunny hunt in their efforts to find a formidable standard-bearer.

At the moment the list of possible Democratic contenders for Governor appears to be divided into two groups: 1. Those who might have a real chance of winning but won't run. 2. Those who are willing to run but probably would not have any real prospect of winning.

Many Democratic politicians privately concede that in a popular primary ex-Governor James M. Curley probably could defeat any candidate who is now in either the Democratic gubernatorial or Senatorial field.

The gambling gentry in downtown Boston, who bet on almost anything, will place a small wager right now that next September the Democratic voters will nominate Mr. Curley for some office unless the old political warhorse follows the example of Mayor Hynes and ex-Governor Dever and decline to run.

In other words, there is a real possibility today that Curley at the age of 79 will emerge from next September's primary as the Democratic candidate for either Governor or U. S. Senator. Should a strong Democratic trend be caused by some development such as an economic recession, it is not inconceivable that it could carry him into office.

The Democratic politicians recognize this to be a fact. They realize, too, that the battle-scarred Curley is not going to be brushed off because the Democratic State convention denies him its endorsement because he'll simply announce that he's carrying his fight "to the people."

Probably the most significant development last week was the action of 27 Democratic legislators on Beacon Hill in signing a petition to draft Superior Court Chief Justice John P. Higgins as a candidate for Governor.

Higgins promptly announced that he wasn't interested in running, but the action reflected the thinking of the Democratic lawmakers that their colleague, Democratic House Leader Robert F. Murphy of Malden, may have difficulty getting his campaign off the ground.

Congressman John W. McCormack of South Boston has been sounded out as to the possibility of running for Governor but has indicated that he prefers to remain in Washington. So has Congressman Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., who isn't quite ready yet to strike out for higher office.

The two strongest candidates the Democrats now might draft to carry their banner into the fight for the Governorship appear to be District Attorney Garrett H. Byrne of Suffolk County and Governor's Councillor Patrick J. Sonny McDonough of Dorchester.

Byrne has been kept almost constantly before the public by a series of events since the first of the year, notably the widely publicized Maitland case, and he has achieved a real degree of prominence in a comparatively short period of time.

Executive Councillor McDonough is a colorful, ebullient figure who probably has the personality and enthusiasm to rally the various elements of the Democratic party in an uphill fight such as it now faces.

McDonough ran for Mayor of Boston but was caught in the political crossfire of a battle between Mayor Hynes and ex-Mayor Curley and was unable to get into a position where he could show his real vote-getting strength.

A tireless worker and a skilled campaigner with a flare for swaying an audience, McDonough probably could turn the coming gubernatorial fight into a knock-down battle. So undoubtedly could District Attorney Byrne.

Whether either Byrne or McDonough would be interested in making the political gamble and undertaking an uphill campaign fight against Governor Herter, is uncertain. They appear today, however, to be the two best hopes of the Democratic party.

California Politics Queer to Outsiders

California is usually described by politicians as either the "crackpot," "nutcake" or "lunatic" State. And the State repeatedly gives demonstrations of why it has earned such titles.

It is doubtful that either James Roosevelt or Congressman Robert L. Condon would have any chance whatever of achieving election in any of the other 47 States in the Union.

Congressman Condon has been classified as a security risk by the Atomic Energy Commission, and James Roosevelt's marital difficulties have been so widely publicized that they are believed to have lessened his brother Franklin's prospects of winning the Governorship of New York State.

Yet, despatches from California report that Jimmy is considered just about "a sure-thing bet" in the Los Angeles Congressional district where he is running, while Congressman Condon is being backed by the Democratic organization and is regarded as having about an even chance of getting another term.

Democratic National Committee Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell, who has an uncanny faculty for saying the right thing at the wrong time, withheld his blast at Roosevelt and Condon until after they were in their respective contests for the June 8 primaries and couldn't get out, if they wanted to do so.

Mitchell's statement actually was meaningless because he doesn't contribute campaign funds to individual candidates. He supplies money to Democratic State organizations—if he has any to spare—and the State groups use it as they please.

Under California's crazy-quilt system of elections, candidates run in both Democratic and Republican primaries at the same time, and not much emphasis is placed on party loyalty. Ex-Governor Earl Warren in one campaign won both the Democratic and Republican nominations.

As a matter of fact, Richard Graves, a former aide to Warren, who is now carrying the Democratic banner against Governor Goodwin J. Knight, has been both a Democrat and Republican at various periods in the past.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

Statistics compiled by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company disclose that three-fifths of all the men between the ages of 65 and 69 are gainfully employed and that about two-fifths of those between 70 and 74 are working. The statistics refute the impression that the age of 65 usually marks the end of productive life for a large proportion of American men.

Tarawa History Aids 2nd Marine Division's Fund

A special tenth anniversary Edition of Robert Sherrod's memorable "Tarawa — The Story of a Battle" will be published during the month of April as a practical tribute to those gallant Marines who lost their lives on its beaches.

The anniversary edition will lay the foundation for a fund with which the Second Marine Division Association will finance college education for deserving sons and daughters of the Division's heroic dead.

According to Brig.-Gen. David M. Shoup, who won the Medal of Honor on Tarawa, a portion of the price of every book sold will be ear-marked specifically for that purpose. Additional direct contributions to the fund will be accepted and placed 100 per cent to the credit of the fund. Plans for management of the fund already are being worked out.

Copies of the tenth anniversary edition may be ordered from The Tarawa Book Fund Association c/o Brig.-Gen. D. M. Shoup, P. O. Box 2042, Potomac Station, Alexandria, Va., at $2.50 per single copy; $2.00 per copy in lots of five or more, postpaid anywhere.

SPORTS

Newton got its defense of the Suburban League contest off to a dismal start Monday afternoon at its own ball park, virtually handing Cambridge Latin a 4-2 victory with weak hitting, heads-down baserunning and wild pitching . . . The visitors were in the process of trampling the Tigers by a wider margin in the ninth inning when the umpires called a halt to the game because of darkness. Cambridge had scored twice in the ninth and seemed well on the way to further tallies as the festivities ended . . . The Cantabs chipped in with six errors to aid the Newton cause, but the punchless Tigers declined the invitation and let 11 runners die a slow death on the bases. Ron McGinnity, the Cambridge hurler, hurled a strong game to outlast a quartet of local boys. McGinnity was always in trouble, but the Tigers never could come up with the big hit which would have sent him from the mound . . . Both squads banged out five hits, though Newton had only two solid smacks. All-star centerfielder Billy Hamill, one of Newton's two "old pros," collected three singles in four at bat as every ball he hit seemed to have eyes and a rabbit's foot.

Newton hopped off to a one-run lead in the opening frame. With two away, pitcher Billy Reilly—batting third—hit a high bouncer that skidded off the pitcher's fingers. The second baseman picked the ball up on a perfect hop and fired it past first, Reilly taking second. . . . Hamill dribbled a ball that the pitcher couldn't pick up, and then Reilly tallied on a passed ball.

Newton widened the gap by another run in the fourth when outfielder Steve Herring drew a walk, was sacrificed to second and scored on a sharply-hit grounder to right by left fielder Bob Davis . . . Then came the deluge. Reilly, who had breezed through the first three frames without trouble, gave up two hits in the fourth and a base on balls in the fifth as he began to tire . . . Cambridge had a field day in the sixth, batting around the order. A walk, a sliced single down the left field line that barely dropped fair, and another walk filled the bases. That was the end of Reilly, who showed promise of being a good hurler with a little more experience . . . Spindly Russ Halloran followed him to the mound and promptly proceeded to walk the next two batters, tying the score with still nobody out. Exit Halloran from the mound: enter Church Fogarty . . . The first hitter to face Fogarty sliced a double to right field, the second hit of the inning that twisted off a Cambridge bat to the opposite field. Chuck then fanned the side—the last two on six straight strikes—leaving Newton two runs down.

The Tigers still had another threat left, though, and started out on McGinnity with a vengeance in the seventh frame. A weird bit of baserunning choked off that rally, and Newton was unable to touch the Cantab hurler again . . . What happened to Newton on the bases was about as bad as poor Casey at the bat, and might even have caused a few eyebrows to raise in Ebbetts Field, home of some pretty fantastic incidents. Three balls that dropped safely in the outfield resulted in Newton having only one on base and two outs!

It went like this. Hamill hit what looked like a line drive out toward center field, but the ball ran out of gas after passing through the infield and dropped between the centerfielder and the second sacker. Noting both the second baseman and the shortstop chasing the ball, Hamill legged it for second. The villain of the afternoon, McGinnity, alertly dashed over to the unoccupied base and took a perfect throw to get Hamill on the way in . . . Jimmy Wiper, the next Newton hitter, then bounced a single down the left fieldline. Fogarty followed with a blooper over the first baseman's head. Wiper started for second, retreated, then dashed ahead as the ball dropped cleanly in the outfield. A quick peg to second caught Wiper several strides off the bag, costing Fogarty a hit and effectively ending any hopes of a rally . . . In the ninth frame, with the bases loaded, Cambridge third baseman John Theall—owner of the double that won the game for the visitors—repeated the hit for the benefit of latecomers against Newton's fourth hurler, elongated Ted Murphy. . . . Since the shadows had already covered the field and the Orange and Black trailed by four runs with still only one out for Cambridge, the umpires wisely decided that Newton Coach Howie Ferguson should be spared further woes and called the game. The score reverted to the end of the eighth inning. . . . But don't count the Tigers out yet. Newton has an honored tradition on winning in the Suburban League, and something always happens when nine boys come out on the field under Coach Ferguson that makes them potential champions.

Taxpayers' Ass'n Rates an Assist In State Payoff

The Massachusetts Commission of Corporations and Taxation deserves high praise for their record handling of state distributions to cities and towns, and without detracting at all from that achievement the Newton Taxpayers' Association rates a small assist too, stated Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., Association director, this week.

The early distribution of $131,000 to Newton this April compares favorably with the record of 1953 when nothing was sent out in April and only about $9,000 in May, continued Muther, and it is mainly due to the increased efficiency in the office of the Tax Commission following recommendations made earlier by the Baby Hoover Commission.

The part the Association is playing in getting the money to the cities sooner relates to the bill the Association has filed in the legislature for the past two years, Muther said. The bill would require such earlier distribution in order to relate the payments back to the cities more closely to the timing and rate of collections by the state. Earlier payments make city finances more certain and require less borrowing in anticipation of taxes.

In contradistinction to the opposition the bill faced in the past from former Tax Commissioner Long ,the new commissioners agree with the purposes of the bill, Muther declared. The Commissioners have argued, however, that legislation is unnecessary if they can demonstrate that earlier payments can and will be made as an administrative matter and not as a matter of law. The current early payment indicates that the Commission is doing its part, and if they continue to do so we believe it will no longer be necessary to tie them up with rigid legislative directives and rules. The Association's legislative nudge does rate an assist under the circumstances, Muther concluded.

Art Accomplishments of Local Women Shown in Auburndale

The Spring Exhibit of oils hung in the Auburndale Woman's Club room of the Auburndale Club at 285 Melrose street, by members of the Keith Parris Oil Painting Class, received widespread and favorable attention Wednesday.

Outstanding proof of what may be accomplished by a person starting with just a desire to paint, each of these amateur artists started class several years ago by saying, "I can't draw the side of a barn door!" However, the creative urge ws there, as it is being similariy manifested throughout the country today, and this exhibit was the worthwhile result.

About six years ago an art class was organized by Mrs. William Jarvis, then art chairman of the Auburndale Woman's Club, with the thought of creating a larger interest in art in the community. Mr. Parris, editorial artist on the Christian Science Monitor, was engaged as instructor, and, although it has continued to be sponsored by the Auburndale W. C., under the guidance of Mrs. James Cardell, anyone in Auburndale or adjacent communities has been welcome.

Following is a list of the artists and their work: Marie Taylor, Winter Scenes; Isabel Davis, Autumn, and Seascape; Beverly Bostwick, Autumn, Still Life, and Beach Scene; Ruth Draper, Marines; Noel Viedi, Suburban Scenes; Ann Everett, Scottish Highlands and Old Sudbury Mill; Alice Morehouse, Bridge and Seascape; Mabel Norton, Fall and Local Scenes; Virginia Wellock, Seascapes; Ruth Van Leir, Vermont; Esther Howlett, French Seascape and landscape; Lois Cardell, still lifes and seascape; and Esther Glaser, French Landscapes.

George Abbe Speaks on Poetry At N'ville Library

The meeting was arranged by Mrs. James K. Bonnar, sister of the author, and Mr. Abbe was introduced by Kitty Parsons Recchia of Rockport.

Mr. Abbe was recently honored by the Poetry Society of America in New York, where, as invited guest, he gave a reading of excerpts from his newly published book, "Bird in the Mulberry." In addition to duplicating this lecture for his Newton audience, the speaker related how much of his poetry had been developed, and spoke on the relation of poetry to the arts of music, dancing and nature painting, and even the procedure required in having poetry accepted for publication. The meeting came to close after Mr. Abbe had answered many questions concerning modern poetry and had autographed copies of his new book.

Miss Jean L. Dillingham Honored At Bridal Shower

Miss Jean L. Dillingham was honored at a surprise bridal shower Monday evening given by Mrs. Eugene Gruhler of Philadelphia and Mrs. Raymond L. Dussault at the latter's home in Newtonville.

Pink and green, the colors selected by the bride-elect for her wedding, were used for the decorations of the house. This color scheme was carried out in the streamers, bells, shower umbrellas, corsage and the chair of honor in which Miss Dillingham sat to open her gifts. These shades were repeated in a cake decorated with miniature rosebuds and hearts on which was written "Best wishes to Jean and Norman."

Guests were present from Brookline, Dorchester, Medford, Milton, Newton, Norwood, Roslindale, Weymouth and Winchester.

Miss Dillingham, daughter of Mrs. Winfield P. Dillingham, and the late Mr. Dillingham of Newton Highlands, is to be married on Saturday, May 22nd, at the Congregational Church in Newton Highlands to Mr. Norman I. Whiting of Milton.

YOU are part of their prayers . . .

ONE MORE SPRING has come to our spinning earth. The dark soil stirs: the vines revive. Who can doubt now that the resurrection and the life are real—? It is a time for joy and hope; a time for faith; and never, surely—never—a time for despair . . .

Yet thousands of Americans will come this week to the church or temple of their choice—unjoyously, with despair in their hearts—to pray for a miracle.

They are the lovers of the doomed. They have listened to the most terrible words that those who love can ever hear:

"I'm sorry . . . Your wife . . . Your mother . . Your brother . . Yes, Cancer. We discovered it too late . . "

In so little time now, they must learn to live alone. For those they love will die: a year from now; a month from now; a few weeks, more or less. Only a merciful miracle can change the story: the final, sure cure for cancer. It is for this they pray.

And you are a part of their prayers. For man is the instrument of God's works. The miracle men pray for, in the battle with man's cruelest enemy, must come from the laboratories of men . . . the laboratories you support, through your contributions to the American Cancer Society.

You can turn the page now — and forget about the whole thing in twenty seconds. Or you can pause and consider how much you want to give.

School Seder for Children Held at Temple Reyim

Temple Reyim's annual school seder for the children was held Sunday morning, April 10. Because of the great number present, the seder was conducted in two sections. All children in the Sunday School, Grade 3 and higher, and all children in the religious school had one seder under the direction of Rabbi Kastle. The second seder was under the direction of Mr. Ira Hockberg and included Sunday School children from kindergarten through the second grade. Each class prepared its part for participation in the seder. Class 2B prepared candle-lighting ceremony and recitation of the kiddush. Class 2A told the story of the four sons. Class 1B illustrated some of the symbolic passover foods. Class 1A asked the four questions. Kindergarten put on a slave dance.

The older group's seder was conducted by class heh-grade 5 of the religious school. Participants were: Beverly Bernhardt, Robert Copeland, Edward Davidson, Susan Glickman, Kenneth Goldstein, William Heyman, Shirley Klein, Burgess Needle, Arlene Poster, and Franklin Silver. The passover story was told through film strip and narration.

One of the highlights of the seder was an afikomin hunt in which all children took part. The winner of the hunt was Judith Arnold of Class 8-9. Arrangements for the seder were made by a committee of parents under the leadership of Mrs. Nathan Sobel.

Many Newtonites to Attend Annual UCS Meeting Thurs.

Nathan D. Bugbee, president, and Alden R. Bellman, vice-president, of the Newton Community Chest will represent the Chest at the annual meeting of United Community Services of Metropolitan Boston at a luncheon next Thursday at Red Feather headquarters, 14 Somerset street, Boston.

Also invited to the meeting are Mrs. Sylvester McGinn, president, Mrs. Mabel B. Worth, executive director, of the All Newton Music School; Mrs. Philip Segal, president, Mrs. Catherine S. Holden, executive director, of the Family Service Bureau; Leo Barry, president, Mrs. Eugenia T. Copeland, executive secretary, of the Newton Community Council; Mrs. Arthur T. Gregorian, president, Miss Elizabeth Richardson, executive director, of Newton Local Council Girl Scouts; Miss Mabel A. Turner, president, Miss Ruth Irwin, nutritionist, of Newton Nutrition Center; Mrs. Matt B. Jones, president, Miss Katherine MacDonald, executive director, of Newton Visiting Nurse Association; Charles M. Cutler, president, William S. Brines, director, of Newton-Wellesley Hospital; Frederick S. Bacon, president, Alex R. Miller, general secretary, of Newton Y. M. C. A.; Dr. Neil W. Swinton, president, Leigh M. Nisbet, Scout executive, of Norumbega Council Boy Scouts; Mrs. Henry C. Jones, president, Miss Helen Sandstrom, executive director, of Rebecca Pomroy House; Orazio E. Vaccaro, president, Rt. Rev. Walter J. Furlong, executive secretary-treasurer, of Society of St. Vincent de Paul, Newton Conferences; Franklin K. Hoyt, president of Stone Institute; Mrs. Edmund Anthony, president, Mrs. Elizabeth G. Skinner, executive director, of West Newton Community Centre; and H. J. Pettengill, executive director of the Chest.

Philip H. Theopold, President of United Community Services, will preside. Radio personalities taking part in the program will include Charles Ashley, news director of CBS in Boston; Art King of the WEEI news staff; and Martin Tall, staff announcer for WBZ. Election of officers follows the main program.

Reviewing the last five years in the history of United Community Services, Mr. Thepold will call attention to the fact that citizens founding the organization in 1949 charged it with the duty of using in the most effective and economical way all money available for the support of health and welfare services.

Since that time, UCS has carried out this responsibility and has made much progress along these lines. Several agencies offering services duplicated elsewhere have been discontinued and others have helped cut operating costs by merging into more effective units.

Another agency, Associated Day Care Services, was set up to improve the quality and efficiency of nursery school and day care services, resulting in better service to more children.

More recently, USC led the way in the formation of the Greater Boston Council for Youth, an organization set up to attack juvenile delinquency in a concerted manner by getting all interested groups working together.

An interesting and dramatic portrayal of these highlights is planned for this fifth annual meeting. Program chairman is John I. Taylor, UCS Public Relations chairman.

Explains Educational TV's Aims to Community Council

"Educational television will become a reality for all TV set owners in eastern Massachusetts this fall if the public gets behind the move to put Channel 2 on the air and provides adequate financial help," Parker Wheatley, director of the Lowell Institute Co-operative Broadcasting Council, told members of the Newton Community Council Thursday night.

Mr. Wheatley, whose organization will provide the nucleus of programming resources for Channel 2 in connection with the Massachusets Citizens Committee for Educational Television which is directing the campaign to raise operating costs of the station, said educational television would bring into Massachusetts living rooms the greatest educational opportunity imaginable.

"It can be a mistake always to associate education with the school," he stated. "Since education is a lifetime process, the schools cannot carry the load alone. Education should be something that one also associates with home, job and community."

He said that close to a million TV set owners in the eastern half of the state will benefit from the new TV channel, but that the success of the undertaking will depend upon broad community support. One of the first efforts of the station will be to build a children's program every day which will be interesting and diverting, Mr. Wheatley continued.

In this first statement on programming policies, Mr. Wheatley said the telecasts next fall will cover areas which Station WGBH-FM and educators believe are most needed and have been requested. Commenting on this field which is of so much concern to parents, Mr. Wheatley declared:

"The children's program, for example, should be designed for viewing at home, since this is where the greatest need exists, in the late afternoon or early evening, when mothers have to get things ready for dinner. During the school hours of the day there already is guidance by teachers. The TV set is clearly no substitute for personal guidance by the mother or other attendant person."

Further planning encompasses, by drawing on the resources of local institutions, new analysis, programs for older children, broadcasts in the humanities, the social sciences, the behavioral sciences and the natural sciences. These programs will be on the fine arts and literature with the intent to encourage people to read and enjoy reading more, and on interesting programs in the practical arts and skills, such as drawing and sculpture, on music, and on medical science, research and preventive medicine.

The Massachusetts Citizens Committee for Educational Television is an association of many groups interested in seeing that non-commercial TV becomes a reality. Campaign headquarters have been opened at 82 Summer street, Boston, for the current campaign under the chairmanship of Dr. Claude M. Fuess, headmaster emeritus of Phillips Andover Academy.

Mr. Wheatley said educational television will not be in competition with present commercial stations, but will serve as a supplement to the many fine programs now seen on sponsored television. Channel 2, he said, will bring into the living room the rich resources of Massachusetts' world-famed educational institutions, museums and civic enterprises, and will offer information, culture, beauty and entertainment for every member of the family.

Two Fulbright Awards Granted N.C. Students

Two Fulbright awards for graduate study in France have been awarded to students of Newton College of the Sacred Heart. Miss Janemarie Curran of Ardsley Park, Irvington-on-Hudson, New York, of the Class of 1954, and Miss Wilma de Vitry of Sunny Corner, Bainbridge, Pennsylvania, are the winning students.

Miss Curran, a graduate of the Academy of the Sacred Heart, 1 East 91 st., New York City, has pursued a double major field of concentration while at Newton, one in English and one in French. Her award allows her a year of study at the University of Bordeaux where she will do work in Comparative Literature. Miss Curran has also been active in extra-curricular work, being the college's representative on the National Student Association, President of the Dramatic Club in whose productions she has played major roles, and on the staff of the college newspaper and magazine.

Miss deVitry, a graduate of Kenwood Academy of the Sacred Heart, Albany, New York, has, since receiving her B.A. degree at Newton, been studying Philosophy at Georgetown University. Her award is for study at the Sorbonne in Paris, where her subject of research is Existentialism in the philosophy and drama of Gabriel Marcel.

Miss Curran has also been offered a fellowship for graduate study in English at Marquette University.

Newtonville Man To Address Art Ass'n on Heraldry

What figures constitute a coat of arms? What is Heraldry?

These topics will be discussed by Gordon L. Hawes of Newtonville at Wednesday's meeting of Watertown Art Association in the Pratt Room, Watertown Main Public Library.

The study of architecture led Mr. Hawes to this interesting subject, and he has written books on "Rank in Heraldry"; "Family Migrations" and "Arms of the Newton Claus", as well as a volume entitled "The Sheepherder of Moldavia." A seasoned traveler and a teacher in Dedham Public Schools, he received his degrees at Boston University.

This fascinating and appealing program is a presentation of the New England Wild Flower Preservation Society which, as its name implies, exerts its efforts to protect our wild flowers of New England from extinction. The Garden Clubs of Massachusetts share this interest and through mutual efforts the public is informed of the growing rarity of such flowers as the Trailing Arbutus, Lady Slippers, the Cardinal Flower and Fringed Gentian and the care which must be exercised now if we are to preserve these lovely flowers in our woods and fields.

Reports on various business matters of the club will be made by the secretary, Mrs. Frank M. Simmons, and the hostess of the morning will be Miss M. F. Sladen of Newtonville.

N.-W. Hospital Jr. Aid Ass'n

A successful rummage sale, held last Saturday in Wellesley Hills, brought the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Junior Aid Association one step closer to their goal for the year—the purchase of a new Isolette for the hospital's maternity ward. As is always the case in a fund-raising event of this kind, credit for its success goes to the many people who contributed their time and effort. General chairman for this event was Miss Constance E. Linberg, president of the association.

To expedite the collection of rummage, morning coffees were given by some of the members at their homes where bundles were brought to be stored until time for the sale. This was done for the Wellesley area by Mrs. William P. Baker and Mrs. Ned Erne, and for the Newtons by Mrs. Arthur H. Crosbie.

Publicity and distribution of posters were undertaken by Mrs. Douglas R. Stone, Mrs. Vincent Mason, Mrs. Robert T. Steinsieck, Mrs. Marshall J. Leydon, Mrs. Donald F. Whitney and Miss Christine Barnes.

Mrs. John Jacobs headed the marking committee. Assisting her on Friday before the sale were Mrs. James Munro, Mrs. Dickson Smith, Miss Joan Gordon, Mrs. Stuart Hills, Mrs. William P. Ripley and Mrs. Edward D. Leonard, Jr.

The selling committee was under the direction of Miss Constance E. Linberg. "Salesgirls for a Day" included Mrs. Ned Erne, Mrs. William P. Baker, Mrs. Robert I. Carney, Mrs. Richard L. McEldowney, Miss Sally Pride and Mrs. Harold W. O'Leary.

Red Cross Raised $86,353.02 Of Its Quota Of $94,400.00

With the official closing of the 1954 Newton Red Cross Fund Campaign, Edward C. Michaud, Fund Chairman, announced $86,353.02 as the amount raised as of April 12.

In announcing the achievement of 91.5 of the goal of $94,400, Mr. Michaud said, "We have every confidence that late returns will put us over the top. I am sure the large group of loyal workers feel a deep sense of satisfaction that so many Newton people have expressed their confidence in the work of the Red Cross, both local and national.

"In addition to my own personal appreciation, I speak in behalf of the entire chapter in taking this opportunity to thank all the chairmen, vice-chairmen, captains, solicitors, office workers and all those who have worked so conscientiously and untiringly on this drive. We know that in these days of multiplicity of drives it is not easy to give up evenings and week-ends to call on one's neighbors for donations. Our solicitors are truly the ones who 'Answer the Call.'

"We also express our gratitude to all persons who have generously contributed to this worthwhile, city-wide, nation-wide effort. The work of Red Cross is continuous and the people of Newton realize that Newton Chapter determines its financial needs on the minimum amount required to maintain effective and efficient service. Although we have not raised as much money as at the corresponding date last year, we have had a larger number of contributors — 13,654 in the Residential and Special Gifts Divisions.

"It is really never too late to contribute either time, blood or money to Red Cross. Your local chapter is at 21 Foster street, Newtonville. A thank-you to all past, present and future donors!"

Colorful Exhibit Of Paintings Now On Display

A colorful exhibit of paintings is on display at the Newton Public Library, 414 Centre street, Newton. They were created by students in their regular Art Classes at the Newton High School and Weeks and Bigelow Junior High Schools for the International School Art Program. This program is sponsored by the American Junior Red Cross in cooperation with the National Art Education Association.

The pictures will be sent to Washington, where they will be judged and distributed to various foreign countries. They are expressive of life in America as young people feel and see it. Since art is a universal language, this exchange of student paintings can make a valuable contribution to better international understanding.

Spotlight on Weeks

One of the finest school orchestras is the orchestra at Weeks, conducted by Donald March. Its annual assembly was presented to the school last week.

A few of the selections played were: "The Turkish March," "You'll Never Walk Alone" and the "Theme from Romeo and Juliet." Billy Hibbard, an outstanding violinist played a solo.

As an added attraction, the Glee Club, directed by Gene Gray, together with the orchestra, sang "June Is Bustin' Out All Over."

Weeks is proud of the two groups and we wish to thank all participating for a fine performance.

By Willa Meyerhoff

If you had been in Weeks on Tuesday, April 6, you would have seen the students doing the teaching and the teachers doing the relaxing. That's right; the teachers didn't teach at all for Tuesday was Council Day.

On this day the Council representatives take the teachers' places. The purpose of this is to give the Council members a chance to take the responsibilities and leadership of planning and carrying out activities. It also gives the pupils an opportunity to follow the leaders whom they have chosen.

We wish to thank everyone for cooperating and helping to make this year's Council Day a great success.

'Knock on Wood' Opens Saturday At Astor

Hollywood may have its full share of cadillacs, but Danny Kaye drives the town's first $100,000 automobile in his new movie, "Knock On Wood."

Actually, the car—first of its kind—cost over $100,000 according to its designer B. R. Woodill, a former automobile salesman, who sold his agency in order to devote full attention to advancing a dentless, largely automatic, radically engineered and lined car.

The result of these efforts, a whistle-evoking sports car of long sleek silhouette, has doors that open and close hydraulically as well as a similarly operated top, engine hood, baggage compartment, jack and seats. Woodill poured over $100,000 into the car which makes its public bow in "Knock on Wood," which will open on Sat. April 17 at the Astor Theatre. It can be powered with any motor desired, but the one Danny drives has a Chrysler engine.

The car weighs about half as much as a similarly styled car with a stell body. The body cannot crack or dent or chip and it hugs the road perfectly. Woodill expects to get his brainchild into limited production soon.

'Very Much Like' Newton Says Mexican High School Student

The citizens of Newton, the Newton - Wellesley Hospital, Newton High School—in fact the entire city can take a pat on the back—at least as far as Alfonso Garcia is concerned.

Alfonso, a 17-year-old exchange student from Mexico City, has been studying at Newton High School since December. He and three other students came from Mexico City under the current exchange program and became guests in various homes in Newton. Alphonso was invited to live at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Mandile of 11 Chesley road, Newton Centre. His 15-year-old brother, Raul Garcia, accompanied him here, and was taken into the home of Mrs. Ruth M. Blue, of 223 Church street, Newton.

Alphonso knew little of our language, having had only a few years of elementary English in school, but he caught on so quickly and found that he enjoyed Newton so thoroughly, that when his period of stay under the exchange program expired, he and his brother requested permission to stay on until June.

Request granted, they are still attending school here, and are voluble in their praise of just about everything. Alphonso is so enthusiastic about the exchange program which brought him here, that he has infected Anthony Mandile, Jr., with his enthusiasm to such an extent that Tony now plans to go back to Mexico with Alphonso in June, to live with the Garcia family and to study at Mexico High School until August.

"Newton High School was very confusing in the beginning, "Alphonso said, "so big, you know. But everyone helped, and I didn't have time to get lost. A very good school, but I am surprised. I take only four subjects, while in Mexico I took 10, among which were mathematics, English, French, biology, chemistry, physics and others. Not so many can go on to high school in Mexico, you know, many have to get to work. I would say 80 out of 100 continue.

"Our schools are not so well-equipped as yours; they are government sponsored, and our government is not so rich as yours, so we pay a little, not much, but a little. Our school term runs from February until December—just the opposite of yours. But we have many sports, most of them the same as you have here, except of course skiing and skating.

"The cold weather I didn't like at first, but it didn't take long to get used to it. And Tony took me skating and skiing a little bit. This is a fine sport. The snow makes everything look so clean, but I think this city is very clean always—much cleaner than in Mexico. And I like the friendly people; everyone has been very kind and of help to me.

"I will give you an example of this kindness. It was the 10th of March that I had an attack of appendicitis. So I went to your Newton-Wellesley Hospital where they took out my appendix and treated me with the greatest of kindness and courtesy. I had the best of care. My uncle who is Dr. Robert Garcia, a surgeon in Mexico City, flew up to Boston to make sure I was all right. My family was very worried because I was here in this country with only my brother. But after my uncle had come and the hospital found him a place to stay nearby, and after he came to see me, and saw how well everything was, how efficient the doctors and nurses and how up-to-date the equipment, and the courtesy and helpfulness of all the people, he was very happy.

"The doctors took him all through the Newton-Wellesley Hospital and also the Massachusetts General Hospital and he liked all this; he was very impressed. He did not feel he had to wait for me to leave the hospital as he had planned, because the care was so good, so he flew back to Mexico. Now I am out of the hospital, having stayed one week, and I am feeling fine—a little sore perhaps, but fine!

"I will give you another example of the kindness of your people. Mr. Argento, who is a teacher at Newton High School and is the head of the exchange department there, has invited me to make a speech at his men's club, to tell them about my country. I will speak on 'during' in Mexico—no . . ."

Alphonso turned to Anthony Mandile who had been sitting quietly listening to our conversation.

"How do you say it?"

"Touring."

"Yes,' Touring in Mexico' is what I will speak on. Mr. Argento has been very helpful to all Mexican exchange students. We very much admire him.

"Now when I go back to Mexico I will go to the brand new Mexico City University." And at this point Alphonso produced a long folder of pictures of the new University which we all agreed was certainly very handsome.

"It is beautiful," said Alphonso seriously, "very modern and brand new. There I shall study to be a surgeon, like my uncle—and I shall return to the United States to intern. This is why I come in the beginning, to learn your language so that I would be able to study medicine in this country.

"You know we have no taxes in my country, also we do not have as much money. If we buy American items in Mexico they seem to be very expensive to us, because of this American tax. I think the people here seem to have a great deal of money. But it goes so fast. So many drugstores!! I would say that it seems to be easy to make money in these United States, but also very easy to spend it.

"Also I find that American girls are prettier than Mexican girls. I have an American girl. Very nice. In this respect I shall be sorry to return to my country. Also I shall miss the Mandile's very much. They have been very good to me; here I am one of the family."

When asked how it was that she had taken a complete stranger from another country into her home, Mrs. Mandile said, "I saw his picture. I liked his face. We all did. It's worked out very well. We will miss Alphonso terribly. He is one of the family here, but we have tried to keep his important Mexican customs intact, and at the same time show him our American ways. For example, in Mexico, boys never do housework—they never help with dishes or make their beds; these things are considered degrading and fit only for women. So I don't let Alphonso help with housework, and now that my son Anthony is going to Mexico with Alphonso, he thinks he should begin getting in practice for the customs there. Fortunately, there are enough women in this house to take care of this 'degrading' work. I don't mind, you understand, I am the one who has insisted that Alphonso will not help with housework. We will miss him . . ."

Alphonso was asked if he had any kind of a statement to make to the general public. "No," he said, "just tell them that I have been very happy here. I like it—I like it very much."

Miss Holly Lee, teacher, and William Powers, critic teacher, both of Newton, were guests at a reception and tea held recently at Boston University in honor of principals, superintendents, supervisors and critic teachers from schools where B.U. students now practice teaching in speech and English classes. The tea gave the student teachers the opportunity to meet informally the educators with whom they are working, and to exchange ideas and information helpful to the students in their teaching. Guest speaker at the tea was Dr. W. Linwood Chase, Dean of Boston University's School of Education.

The U. S. last year accounted for more than 42% of all electricity generated throughout the world, and coal supplied the power for about half of this enormous generation of 513 billion kwhs.

Newtonite to Seek History Of Ice Islands

A 42-year-old geophysicist of West Newton left Westover Air Force Base last week for the Polar regions to gather data on an island formation.

A member of the Air Force Cambridge Research Center, Albert P. Crary of 152 Chestnut street, will spend five months near Ellesmere Island, Canadian territory, about 2700 miles due north of Boston and less than 500 miles from the North Pole.

Crary will seek to confirm the theory that a fabulous floating island, known as T-3 in the Arctic Ocean, broke off an ice shelf at Ellesmere Island some time in the past 200 years. The T-3 island was discovered in 1952 by an Air Force colonel.

This ice shelf is 60 miles long and 10 miles wide. There is no other formation like it in North America and scientists are certain that T-3 and other floating islands broke off this huge mass of ice.

The shelf glaciology and geology will be studied during the five-month stay, as well as whether other islands similar to T-3 are ready to break off and start floating in the Polar seas.

Crary, assigned to the terrestrial science laboratory of AFCRC, has spent half of his time during the last two years in the Arctic area.

Have Approved Parent, Teacher Student Ass'n

Manuel Beckwith, chairman of the PTA Council PTSA committee, reports that both the faculty and student legislature of the Newton High School have approved the principles of a Newton High School parent-teacher-student association.

An organization meeting of the parents is planned for this spring at the high school. A nominating committee of high school parents will be appointed by Melvin Dangel, president of the PTA Council, to report at this meeting. Nominations for officers and directors will also be accepted at the meeting. Publicity and public relations for the meeting will be handled by the PTA Council public relations committee.

POLITICAL OVERTONES

McDonough and Murphy Leading Democratic Opponents.. Gird for Hard Fight at Worcester Conclave Early in June

There appears to be little doubt now but that the contest for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination and the right to run against Governor Christian A. Herter in the November election will narrow down to a two-man race between Governor's Councillor Patrick J. Sonny McDonough of Dorchester and Democratic House Leader Robert F. Murphy of Malden—unless ex-Governor James M. Curley decides to step into the field.

Except for the possibility of Curley upsetting all the forecasts by moving into the fight for Governor, the battle within the Democratic party may be settled at the State convention in Worcester the first weekend in June.

Murphy has indicated that he will abide by the convention's decision and that if he is not endorsed at the Worcester conclave he will withdraw from the field and seek reelection to the State Legislature. McDonough is likely to adopt a similar position and stand or fall on the outcome of his convention bid.

While there are other contenders in the Democratic gubernatorial field, including Sheriff Howard W. Fitzpatrick and former Undersecretary of Labor Michael J. Galvin, most political observers recognize that they do not have the strength and drawing power to stand up to McDonough and Murphy and that one of the duo is likely to carry his party's banner against Governor Herter next November.

Two Newton Members of MIT Faculty to Retire This Year

Two Newton members of the faculty will retire this summer after long service at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. They are Professor John B. Babcock, 3rd, '10, professor of railway engineering in the Department of Civil and Sanitary Engineering, and Professor Gordon B. Wilkes, '11, professor of heat engineering in the Department of Mechanical Engineering. Professor Babcock will remain at M.I.T. after July 1st as a lecturer in the civil engineering department.

A native of Boston, where he was born in 1889, Professor Babcock received the degree of bachelor of science at M.I.T. in 1910. After five years' experience as a railway, highway, and construction engineer, he returned to the Institute as instructor in the civil engineering department. In 1919 he was promoted to assistant professor of railway engineering; in 1925, to associate professor of railway and highway engineering; and, in 1928, to full professor of railway engineering.

In addition to his teaching activities, Professor Babcock has been a consultant on railway, highway, and airport engineering; and during World War II he served as Railroad Evacuation Officer, Evacuation Division, Massachusetts Committee on Public Safety. Awarded a special prize in 1936 by the Boston Society of Civil Engineers for his presidential address on the society and its founder members, Professor Babcock is

Testify in Favor of Improved State Adoption Law at Hearing

Two Newton residents—Rep. Irene K. Thresher and Atty. Benjamin Levin—testified last week in favor of improved state adoption laws at a hearing before the legislative committee on public welfare.

Rep. Thresher is chairman of a subcommittee on child care and adoptions of a special legislative commission whose report was discussed at the hearing.

Atty. Levin was a member of a special commission on adoption laws from 1946 to 1948.

They favored recommendations of the commission which would add further protection under the law for the unwed mother whose child is given in adoption. The legislation is also designed to make sure that adopting parents obtain a child without later dragging the case through the courts on the question of custody.

In a joint statement, they pointed out to the committee that with thousands of adoptive parents eager to obtain children, many youngsters have been placed in families with felonious criminal records, while families of good background have not been considered.

Urging an end to both the "black market" and "grey market" for adoptive children, they stated that "Most of all, the proposed legislation would give all adoptive parents an equal chance to take children into their homes. A modest home often has a better environment for a child than a wealthy home. Ability to provide a healthy, normal environment for a child should determine placements for adoption rather than bidding in the 'black market.'"

Every major social agency of the various religious backgrounds also endorsed the legislation.

Interviews About Newton

By John N. Sullivan

Do You Think Red China Should Be Admitted To the United Nations?

Edward Dunn, Langdon street, Newton, Civil Designer. "No, I don't think they should be. I think Red China is an aggressive nation and in my opinion the leaders over they don't represent the people of China. They took over through the will of the majority but by gaining control of the few at the top and then subduing the masses. That's the main reason I'm against admitting them to the U.N."

Daniel Notartomaso, 18 West street, Newton, Chemist. "Yes, I think Red China should be allowed to enter the United Nations if it wants to. I think that any country that wants to be admitted should be. Even though I don't believe the Red China government truly represents the people it must be recognized that they are the accepted rulers of China and therefore we must recognize them as such."

David Barry, 20 Curve street, West Newton, Chauffeur. "No, I think that if Red China were admitted to the United Nations that they would be just a pawn in the hands of the Soviet Union and they would vote just the way the Russians told them to. To my mind, admitting Red China wouldn't be any help at all in the cause of peace so why bother to let them in."

Mrs. Shirley Blevins, 27 Gerard court, West Newton, Housewife. "Well, I'm sorry you I just like to listen to music on the radio or the local news. So as far as admitting Red China to the United Nations is concerned it doesn't matter to me much one way or the other."

Improvement Ass'n Says It Advisable

City Clerk Monte G. Basbas announced Tuesday that the acceptance and construction of Montclair road, Waban, before the development of the proposed playground in the area has been requested by the Waban Improvement Society.

The request came in the form of a communication to the Board of Aldermen from Dr. Christopher J. Duncan, chairman of the Society's Traffic Committee. In his communication, Dr. Duncan stated:

"The Improvement Society believes if Montclair road can be developed before the playground, the north side of Beacon street can be free of cars. This will permit a normal flow of traffic on this much used street. The Improvement Society hopes that Montclair road can be finished rapidly."

Montclair road is now an unaccepted street, between 1537 Beacon street and 180 Moffat road. There are no buildings on the street, which will have to be constructed when the proposed playground, which abutts on the street, is developed. Under ordinary conditions it would take about three years for the city to construct a street after a petition is filed by the abutters, since there is a backlog on the list, officials stated.

Term 'Illegal' Sunday Dance for Teenagers

Whether or not Oak Hill Park will get its controversial business block "package," consisting of seven stores and a gasoline station, remains undecided after the Board of Aldermen again took no action on the block at its meeting Tuesday night.

Outside of appropriations for street, drain and sewer work, only $335 was appropriated, a new low for the aldermanic sessions. A total of $6120, representing two items, was held for further study, and $3715 was voted down unanimously.

No mention was made of the Oak Hill block, which has been

Complete Plans for the 77th Annual Meeting of Newton Y

President Frederick S. Bacon will preside at the business meeting in the course of which a financial report will be presented by Harold T. Pilsbury, YMCA treasurer. A program report for operation of the year will be given by Alex R. Miller, general secretary. ## W. Newton Community Ctre. Buys Land for New Quarters

The Centre Building Association of The West Newton Community Centre has purchased the land on Cherry Street, West Newton, next to the "Old Telephone Building" as the site of the proposed new headquarters of The W st Newton Community Centre.

Through the cooperation of the Centre Building Ass'n. with Mr. Maxwell Gaddis, trustee and treasurer; and Miss Catherine Bolster, asst. trustee and treasurer; and the Board of Directors of The West Newton Community Centre, plans are being made for a private fund solicitation.

The Fund Committee with Mrs. Henry Shepard, as chairman, has arranged for the campaign to raise $25,000. Mrs. Edmund Anthony, Mrs. Melvin Dangel, Mrs. Hugh Robinson and Mrs. Ernest Kuebler are in charge of the Fund Plans.

The receipts of the semi-annual rummage sales, conducted by the Centre Building Ass'n. have made possible the purchase of the land. The $25,000 to be raised is needed to meet the balance necessary to construct a modern, adequate building for the Centre's activities.

The West Newton Community Center serves over 750 girls, boys and adults in a varied program to meet the educational, social and recreational needs of the community.

This Red Feather service has as director Mrs. Elizabeth Skinner, and is staffed with trained workers and volunteers. The year-round program, for the Centre conducts a summer day camp, is a vital part of the community life.

Mrs. Edmund Anthony, president of the board of directors and general fund chairman is optimistic that the loyal friends, good citizens of Newton, and parents of the Centre's children will put this campaign over the top.

Resignation of Noted Boy Scout Leader Is Announced

Norumbega Council, Inc., B.S.A., has announced the resignation of Leigh M. Nisbet, professional manager of the council and highly respected Boy Scout leader. Nisbet retires after more than twenty years as a professional Scouter and two terms as Scout Executive of Norumbega Council which serves Newton, Wellesley and Weston.

Mr. Nisbet rejoined Norumbega Council in 1950, coming from the Boston Council where he had served since 1946. He first became Norumbega's Scout Executive in 1935, having previously gained wide Scouting experience in Ohio. In 1940 he went on active military duty and resumed Scouting in 1946 with the Boston Council.

Affectionately regarded and respected by Scouts and Scouters throughout New England, "Dick" Nisbet has had a hand in guiding thousands of boys through the ranks of Scouting and in the training of hundreds of adult leaders who work closely with the boys. His stewardship of the Norumbega Council Administration has to a large extent been responsible for this council's becoming one of the best run in the country.

Prior to World War II, Nisbet was instrumental in organizing Norumbega's unusual and very successful Mounted Scout Troop. During the 1937 Boy Scout National Jamboree he was in charge of Troop movements for the New England delegation. Throughout his career in Norumbega Council he has been responsible for making the council one of the leaders in two summer Scouting activities: the "wilderness" canoe trip through northern states, and the Philmont Wagon Train to the Scout's ranch in New Mexico.

"Dick" Nisbet is an authority on Indian lore and through his Scouting work has done much to encourage others to learn of and perform Indian craft. His Indian ceremonials and sign language messages will be remembered by those who have attended Camp Quinapoxet (N.H.) and functions at the Council's Nobscot Reservation in Sudbury-Framingham.

The retiring Scout Executive hails from the mid-west. He was

Wilhelm Gericke has captured in music and words all of nature's springtime magic, making it a most appropriate selection for this time of year.

"'Where'er You Walk' and 'Black is the Color of My True Love's Hair' are both well-known compositions that provide light and refined music, but which are also beautiful in their simplicity.

"'South Pacific' needs no introduction. This musical by Rodgers and Hammerstein has undoubtedly provided more singable music than any other musical comedy ever produced.

"'Rosamunde' like so much of the music of the masters, never received its merited popularity during the lifetime of the composer. This music was uncovered in a cupboard 44 years after its premiere, by Sir George Grove when he was hunting relics and forgotten beauties of Schubert in Vienna in 1867.

"'Requiem' by Faure has captured the devotion of the entire chorus by its simple and magnificent beauty. Faure has presented the sereneness and complete meaning of the Requiem Mass in his beautiful combinations of tones and chords."

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the chorus or at the auditorium door.

a student at Dennison College in Ohio when he was commissioned a Second Lieutenant and entered military service in World War I. Between wars he maintained reserve status and since World War II has held the rank of Colonel in the reserves.

In his Wellesley home workshop he blends his interests in history and handicraft. He has many scale models of ships important in American history. Among his souvenirs are historic letters and vital telegrams in Civil War history. "Dick" is also a hunting and fishing enthusiast. In 1934 he was president of the Newton Archers Association and later the first president of the Massachusetts Archery Association. He is presently an active member of the Norumbega Gun Club.

While Mr. Nisbet's future plans are not immediately available for publication, it is known that he will continue to make his home in Wellesley.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Frederick Clune and daughter Evelyn, are registered at Atlantic Shores Hotel, Key West, Florida, after spending a month at Olympia Hotel, Miami.

John Shea, 24 Middle street, Newton, Plasterer. "No, I'm definitely against admitting Red China to the United Nations. After all they're just a bunch of Communists, aren't they. That's reason enough for me to say keep them out. I think they'd just be a tool of Russia if they were allowed to get in. They'd do and vote for everything Russia wanted them to."

Thomas Vahey, 547 Washington street, Newton, Retired. "No, I wouldn't like to see China as it is today admitted to the United Nations. In fact, I don't think most Americans would. I strongly believe that the Communist government which is in power in China today doesn't represent the greatest majority of the people so the way it stands now I wouldn't like to see China admitted to the United Nations."

Tuesday they made a tour of Mt. Vernon and visited Arlington Cemetery arriving at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in time to see the changing of the guard. Lunch that day was at the Pentagon followed by a visit to the Library of Congress. They saw the Lincoln Memorial by night, and with special permission, viewed the city from atop the Washington Monument, also by night.

Wednesday morning they took a trip to the Jefferson Memorial, the Bureau of Printing and Engraving and the Smithsonian Institute. After lunch they visited the Capitol, Supreme Court, Federal Bureau of Investigation, National Gallery of Art, the White House and the Lincoln Memorial, seen by day. They left for home this morning (Thursday).

To finance the trip, these girls sold over 500 boxes of Girl Scout Cookies, part of the proceeds of which goes to the troop for troop activities such as this, and the Mothers and Daughters held bridge parties in their homes to raise the rest of the necessary amount.

Better Highways are Built with CONCRETE

Concrete has the strength and stamina to carry today's heavy truck traffic and is ideal for fast-moving passenger cars.

Concrete is safer. It is naturally skid-resistant and its light color improves visibility at night. It helps cut your driving costs by saving money on gas, tire and vehicle repair bills.

Durable concrete keeps traffic rolling without shut-downs for untimely repairs.

Only concrete pavements offer these advantages at low annual cost. Its first cost is usually less than other pavements designed for the same traffic, its maintenance is much less and its life is much longer.

Concrete roads can be built even better today than in the past. Engineers can build concrete roads to last 50 years and more!

Most of America's great new toll roads are concrete. New York's new 535-mile Thruway; Pennsylvania's 360-mile Turnpike; Ohio's 241-mile Turnpike and Indiana's 156-mile Turnpike are or will be entirely paved with concrete.

Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr., will hold a conference April 30 with three Nonantum associations on four issues of common interests.

The groups will discuss long-sought betterments for the Silver Lake region and make four definite proposals. They are: condemnation of an old two-story wooden frame building; erection of a new branch library; installation of a third synchronized traffic light in the area; and, creation of off-street parking facilities.

The three organizations involved, representing approximately twenty-five smaller groups and 87 businesses in the area, are the Nonantum Improvement Council, the Italo-American organization, and the Nonantum Businessmen's Association.

Easter Seal Sale Short of Goal By $2215 Here

Newton has raised $6285 of its Easter Seal goal of $8500, according to figures released today by Miss Ruth Burns, assistant treasurer of the Newton-Waltham Bank and area treasurer for the campaign.

Because contributions to the 1954 campaign have been lagging, the statewide drive for $320,000 to benefit the crippled and handicapped will continue.

We must extend this campaign if we are to come anywhere near our goal," stated Massachusetts chairman S. Bruce Black. "At the present time, returns from across the state total only $200,312, which represents 63 per cent of what we need if we are to be able to maintain the services of the Bay State Society for the Crippled and the Handicapped.

"If we fail to meet the goal which has been set as a minimum requirement for the various programs for crippled and handicapped children and adults, we will be failing in our responsibility to do what we can to help make the handicapped useful citizens who can take their place in everyday society," he emphasized.

"I cannot urge too strongly that anyone who has not yet mailed in his Easter Seal contribution to do so," Mr. Black continued. "Experience in previous campaigns indicate that late gifts run into several thousands of dollars."

As McDonough and Murphy prepare for what looms as a rugged, knock-down battle, there is widespread speculation in political circles as to whether ex-Governor Dever will throw his weight behind either man. Dever unquestionably is still the Democratic party's most influential leader in the Bay State, and his support at the convention would mean a great deal.

However, after declining either to run or to yield to a draft, Dever is expected to follow the example of Mayor John B. Hynes, maintain a strict hands-off policy and allow the delegates to make up their own minds.

Hynes has gone so far as to state that he does not plan to attend the Worcester convention and that he will support no candidates either at the convention or in the September primary.

Senator John F. Kennedy also intends to adopt an attitude of complete neutrality, according to persons close to him.

Unless Dever mixes into the convention conflict, which seems improbable, the State's three top Democratic leaders—Hynes, Kennedy and Dever—all will be watching from the sidelines as spectators.

* * * *

The political spotlight will be playing on two interesting personalities these next six weeks, as McDonough and Murphy seek to sew up delegate votes.

Murphy is a sound student of State government, and the serious-minded, hard-working Democratic leader of the House of Representatives.

McDonough is the more colorful and ebullient of the two and, despite Murphy's position as Democratic leader in the House, is at least as well known to the rank and file of Democrats throughout the State.

He has four times won election from a large councillor district. A natural organizer, he handled most of the details for the trips the Massachusetts delegation made to the 1948 and 1952 Democratic national conventions, and he directed this year's Jefferson-Jackson dinner.

Whether either McDonough or Murphy would be able to build himself to the point where he would be strong enough to unseat Governor Herter is, of course, a question.

Each is undoubtedly gambling upon the development of a strong Democratic trend between now and the November election, but in the coming weeks the Democratic aspirants will be too engrossed in the fight within their own party to do much battling with the Republicans.

* * * *

Most political observers privately expect that the Senate hearings on Joe McCarthy's dispute with the army will be inconclusive, will prove nothing decisively and will leave most persons in the position where they can think what they want to think.

Whatever happens, however, it is likely that the Republican party will be harmed in some degree, for it is almost impossible to stage a public row of this nature without some mud being spattered in practically all directions.

It has been obvious for some time that the Eisenhower administration is determined to curb McCarthy, cut him down and put him in his place. Bitter resentment on the part of McCarthy's followers is very apt to develop before the battle is terminated. Some of them already are asking why the army waited so long to make public its allegation against the Wisconsin Senator.

McCarthy himself also is a rugged, two-fisted character who is certain to fight back with everything at his dispo: and who will not be easily subdued.

He has demonstrated his strength in past campaigns in such widely separated states as Illinois, Maryland and Connecticut by playing an important part in accomplishing the defeat of Democratic senators who had stood up and opposed him.

The Senate hearings will be history-making, for both McCarthy and the army will be on trial at the proceedings, and the final judges will be the people, even though they may not immediately give their verdict.

* * * *

It is amusing to read the conflicting appraisals of Republican and Democratic leaders on what has been accomplished to date at the 1954 session of Congress.

Senators Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Russell B. Long of Louisiana charge that Congress has accomplished so little during the past 3½ years that G. O. P. chieftains have been forced to resort to promises of future action.

Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., on the other hand, declares: "I consider we have accomplished more in three months than was done in such a period in any previous session."

And Vice President Nixon, most optimistic of all, asserts: "The conclusion of the 83rd Congress will see enactment of the greatest, most affirmative program offered to the American people in a generation."

Apparently, it all depends on whether you're looking at the Congressional record through Democratic or Republican glasses.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

New York State, which likes to consider itself the most progressive State in the Union, last week got around to enacting a law requiring semi-annual inspection of automobiles. It was the 14th State to adopt such a system. Massachusetts was among the first.

—0—

And Montreal is thinking about building a subway because Toronto now has one. Montreal is faced with a business crisis because of the traffic congestion on her intown streets. It takes approximately two hours to reach downtown Montreal from the suburbs.

—0—

Fourteen-year-old Kay Stephenson of Roanoke, Va., serves as a seeing-eye girl for her blind dog. She has trained her sightless pet spaniel to take the hem of her coat in its mouth and walk beside her.

—0—

After arresting Lyle Gann for drunken driving, Los Angeles police searched his car and found his wife, Wilda, in the trunk compartment. "I knew he would get drunk so I stowed away so I could drive him home," she reported. Now there's a real cooperative helpmate!

—0—

Nabbed by Meriden, Conn., police for peeping into the windows of homes on Gilbert road, Gordon A. Sanderson had a ready explanation for his activity. He informed the amazed officers that he was contemplating moving into the district and wanted to make certain his prospective neighbors were "quiet, decent people."

—0—

Charged with stealing two suits from a Denver store, Elmer Blakely informed police that he merely had taken the clothes "to examine them under the natural light." The reason he had endeavored to elude a pursuing female detective, he said, was that he "first thought she was my estranged wife."

—0—

Tim Bright, campaigning for the Republican nomination for Governor in Baltimore, told a Baltimore gathering just what he meant by "100 per cent prosperity." This was his definition: "Chicken legs raining around this State like a snowstorm in Chicago, turkey legs dripping like Niagara Falls, porterhouse steaks for breakfast." Tim then sat down to a supper of frankfurters and lemonade.

—0—

Out in Gardena, Calif., pro-gambling candidates last week were elected to the City Council by a 2-1 margin. Gambling is the main industry in the community in the suburbs of Los Angeles which is known as "Little Las Vegas."

—0—

One of the issues which brought out a big vote in New Jersey this week was the question of legalizing bingo and raffles.

—0—

Out in Billings, Mont., Paul Rides-the-Horse, 28, a Crow Indian, told a judge how it happened that he has been arrested for drunkenness on five different occasions this year. A friend, he said, had told him that the best remedy for a toothache is to "keep whisky on the tooth at all times."

—0—

Lincoln police charged that Peter Keane, 25, had turned in 118 false alarms, had sent 200 taxis on phony errands, had taken 300 letters from private mailboxes and had committed 130 other miscellaneous work. He certainly was a busy individual.

—0—

Arrested after leading 11 police cars on 100-mile-an-hour chase through Kansas City and its suburbs, Motorist Donald C. Mangus informed the judge: "I thought the siren was on an ambulance, and I was just trying to get out of the way." The judge must have thought it would have been simpler for Peter to pull to the curb because he fined him $325 and sent him to prison for 60 days.

—0—

Charles Windoffer of Peru, Ind., was arrested for drunken driving after he mistook the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad tracks for the road to his home, forced an oncoming train to stop and then berated the engineer for not dimming his lights. Now whatever could have made them think Charles had imbibed too liberally.

—0—

One month after her husband was locked up in a Quebec jail for threatening her with an ax, Mrs. Armand Beland pleaded with the city judge to send her spouse home. She also appealed: "Would it be possible to have the ax back, too? The St. Vincent de Paul Society has given us some wood, and we have no ax to split it." It might be safer if she saved up and bought a saw.

News Brevities

To Enforce

Police Chief Philip Purcell has announced, that with the coming of warm weather, members of his department have been ordered to enforce strictly the city's ordinance governing ice cream vendors on the streets. Frend, 23, of 400 Cherry street, West Newton, was given nine concurrent sentences of six months each in the House of Correction by Judge Wilfred J. Paquet in Middlesex Superior Court in Cambridge last week. Lt. John N. McMullen told the court that the defendant stole 18 blank checks from Bresci J. Pentabone, whose taxi office is at 400 Cherry street, and used a company check-writing machine to draw four bad checks for a total of more than $255, which were cashed in Newton.

Fined for Crash

Prince Jr., of 57 Floral street, Newton Highlands, was fined a total of $85 in the Newton District Court last week by Judge Donald E. Mayberry. TELE-VIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS
Critics will often take a TV show to task if it lacks action or "movement". And a slow-paced show can often make you want to try another channel. However, it isn't lack of movement on the screen that so often bothers the TV set owner . . . it's too much movement . . . interference, that is.
The broadcasting band for a TV signal is about six times as wide as an entire radio band. The result is that the TV beam can't be quite as selective about what it will include and what it won't. Many sources of interference can thus sneak into the picture . . . literally.
Radio stations themselves can cause interference accidentally (wavy lines in the picture). Moving traffic, powerful appliances, electrically powered machines, another set nearby, or an antanna placed too close to yours . . . all of these are possible sources of annoying interference. Sometimes accurate tuning and possibly a shorting bar can screen out this interference. Re-adjustment of the antenna, or placing it in a different spot, will often help (this can often correct "ghosts" in the picture, too). The lead-in wire itself can sometimes be the culprit, if it's tangled, coming loose or otherwise not doing its best work.
Much later interference and other reception problems can be prevented with the right installation in the first place . . . and with the choice of a quality set built to screen out unwanted signals. For a better set, expertly installed, see our big television display in our showroom today.

4 Camping Programs for Boys Offered This Year by YMCA

Four Newton YMCA-sponsored camping programs are being offered boys from Newton and surrounding communities for the 1954 season, according to an announcement from Frederick S. Bacon, president of the Newton YMCA.

Opening in June will be Camp Frank A. Day, the YMCA residence camp in Brookfield and the two day camps, Massasoit and Chickami.

Camp Day, located on the shores of Lake Quacumquassett at Brookfield, will open on Wednesday, June 30. The camp's capacity enrollment for its two four-week periods was reached early this month. Founded in 1916, through the efforts of the late C. D. Kepner and other Newton YMCA board members, camp will this year be open for its 39th season.

Three unit divisions are used at Camp Day: midget, junior, and senior. Frank M. Simmons is camp director with John E. Danielson,, YMCA youth work secretary, as associate director and director of the senior unit. Frederick A. Hawkins is chairman of the Camp Day committee.

A new camping opportunity, Camp Vagabond, an "adventure" camp will be offered for the first time this year under the sponsorship of the youth work committee of the Newton YMCA, Philip D. Wilkensen, chairman. A camping trip of between 800 and 1000 miles through Maine, New Hampshire, and Massachusetts has been planned for July for boys of Junior or Senior High school age. David B. Potts, associate youth work secretary of the Newton YMCA, will lead the expedition.

Enrollment is now on for the two Newton YMCA-operated day camps, Massasoit and Chickami. Both programs will begin Monday, June 28, the first Monday following closing of Newton public schools.

Camp Massasoit activities are held on the playfield and on the grounds of the YMCA at 276 Church street, Newton. Richard B. Simmons is the director of the camp. The camp will open its eleventh season in June. Boys enrolled in the program are divided into "Indian tribes" for group work. Leon A. Huston is chairman of the Camp Massasoit committee.

Camp Chickami, founded in 1946, will also open on June 28. Bruno J. Ottavi, associate youth work secretary of the YMCA will again direct the camp this year.

A chief interest at Camp Chickami, newest of the three YMCA camping programs, is nature study. Donald Robinson, member of Watertown school system, specifically prepared by both training and experience, leads this interest group. All boys enrolled are exposed to the beauties and wonders of the natural world around them on the wooded banks of the Charles River at Riverside, where the camp is located.

Chickami boys are also enrolled in groups, each with a leader-counselor for effective work. Members of the Camp Chickami committee are S. Page Cotton, Maurice A. Reidy and George R. Ware.

Scouts Re-plant Chestnut Trees At Reservations

Norumbega Boy Scouts, participating in the National Conservation Good Turn requested by President Eisenhower, are again introducing chestnut trees to their Nobscot Scout Reservatibn located in Framingham and Sudbury.

At the turn of the century, the hillside at Nobscot was apparently covered with American chestnut trees. These trees were destroyed by the chestnut blight and forest fire that swept over the area about 20 years ago. There are many of the dead chestnuts still standing on the hillside that leads to the Forest Fire Lookout Station. Many a cabin on the reservation has posts made from solid chestnut cut on the reservation in years gone by.

During the past two weekends Norumbega Scouts have planted a number of new chestnuts on the hillside in back of the section of the reservation known as Ellis Land. These are not the American type of tree that succumbed to the blight. The trees now being introduced are a grafted hybrid variety of the Chinese Blight Resistant strain Chestnut.

These trees have been developed by the United States Department of Agriculture and grow to a greater height than the regular oriental chestnuts from which they originated. These trees will bear nuts within four years, and it is expected that the Scouts who spend Fall weekends at Nobscot in the late 1950's or early 1960's will have the opportunity of gathering crisp, sweet chestnuts as they hike around the reservation.

F. C. Williams of the camping committee is heading up the Chestnut planting program and has invited all Troops and individual Scouts to join in the project. Each tree costs about $4 and it is hoped each Scout unit using Nobscot will sponsor the planting of one or more trees. The individual Scouts can plant their Troop's tree as part of the requirement for the National Conservation Good Turn award.

The following units have already planted one or more of the Blight Resistant Chestnuts: Troop 80, Wellesley; Pack 34, Wellesley Hills; Troop 27, Newton Centre; Troop 11, Newton and Post 7W, Wellesley.

CHLORDANE FOR LAWN GRUB PROOFING

Help fight the Jap beetle menace by grub proofing your lawn. Chlordane applied now will destroy the grub as it feeds on your grass roots shortly before its July first emergence.

For small areas 5 lbs of 5% Chloro Dust is applied to each 1,000 square feet of grass. Then a thorough soaking is given the area until no trace of the chloro can be seen. This one application remains effective for between 3 and 5 years.

For larger lawns or for those who prefer spraying 50% wettable Chloro is used. Can be mixed with fertilizer (see illustration) at the rate of one-half lb to each 15 or 20 lbs of fertilizer, or can be sprayed at the rate of one-half lb to 5 gallons of water to each 1,000 square feet of lawn. If used with fertilizer, the same soaking used for 5% is necessary.

Mrs. John Carding of Newton Upper Falls, a cousin of the bridegroom was matron of honor. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of pink gladioli and blue iris with her ballerina-length gown of ice blue lace and tulle. Her headpiece was of pink flowers and blue tulle.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Brown wore a navy blue dress with pink accessories and a pink gladioli corsage. Mrs. Jones, mother of the bridegroom, wore a tan suit with rust accessories and a yellow gladioli corsage.

SPORTS

Newton High garnered its first Suburban League win Tuesday afternoon by trouncing Arlington, 10-2, in a game that looked at times like the opening of the Little League farm club schedule . . . A strong wind blowing straight towards the batters from Arlington's Spy Pond made any ball lofted high in the air a potential hit as the fielders circled nervously beneath the weirdly-drifting balls. Pop flies to the outfield acted like billiard shots off the cue of Willie Hoppe . . . Newton had a far-from-potent hitting attack, but still managed to end up with nine bingles for their afternoon's work. Junior Billy Reilly became the first Tiger hurler to go a full nine innings, limiting Arlington to five safeties and pitching brilliantly out of a pair of bases-loaded jams when the score was still tight . . . Although the wind made playing conditions difficult, it cannot be blamed entirely for the feeble fielding performance turned in by both squads. Arlington booted nine balls and Newton six, but the Orange and Black was always able to come up with a good play when it counted.

Newton jumped off to a 1-0 lead in the opening frame through the courtesy of Arlington when, after a pair of singles, the throw following the second hit sailed over the third baseman's head . . . The Tigers tried to give the lead back to Arlington in the third, when on two consecutive ground balls Newton infielders froze in their tracks debating whether or not to throw. But the Tigers snapped out of their lethargy to retire the side scoreless after the Spy Ponders had loaded the sacks with one out.

Reilly's wildness gave the Spy Ponders the tying run in the fifth inning when an error, a soft liner to center for a base knock, and a walk loaded the bases. Billy bore down for a swinging strikeout, then lost control momentarily to walk in a run. He quickly regained his touch, however, and a forceout at the plate and an easy fly to center ended the threat . . . Arlington just couldn't stand prosperity, and handed the game to Newton the following inning. The Tigers loaded the bases on an error, a walk and a sacrifice that turned into a hit when the pitcher, fielding it cleanly, became lost in thought about which base to throw to . . . Newton's drive faltered as catcher Tom McLellan fanned on a 3-2 count, and the rally seemed by the boards when Reilly popped a ball out behind shortstop. The wind did tricks with the easy chance, blowing it back to the infield as the shortstop gave way to the centerfielder, and nobody laid a glove on it . . . Arlington still had time to force a runner at third, but the throw went straight into the players' bench, clearing the bases and moving Reilly to third. Reilly scored an instant later as speedy Bob Davis beat out an infield hit.

That gave the Orange and Black a 5-1 lead and effectively took the starch out of Arlington's offensive. -Reilly, wild in spots but never in much trouble, coasted the rest of the way to pick up his first mound win in high school . . . Just to make things definite, Arlington kicked the ball around for five more runs.

One of the best catches you'll see all year was turned in by the Arlington right fielder. Newton catcher McLellan thought he had his first hit for sure when he tagged a curving fly down the right field line . . . The Arlington fielder drove through the air as the ball curved away from him, took it one-handed about a foot from the turf, and rolled over a couple of times with the ball in his glove . . . Earlier the same player had put on a juggling act after being fooled by another curving fly. He caught up with the ball, snared it cleanly, bobbled it back into the air, grabbed it again and then let it squirt from his hands running at top speed . . . Last week Newton seemed to be well on its way to victory number 1 with a 6-0 lead over Watertown at the latter's ballpark. Then everything went wrong all at once, and when the dust had cleared the Orange and Black had to settle for a 6-6 deadlock . . . The tie was scheduled to be played off yesterday (Wednesday) afternoon as this paper went to press.

1954-55 "Marsha Jordan" Contest Now In Progress

Another one of the famous Marsha Jordan contests is now in progress .The 1954-55 edition, like its predecessors, offers an opportunity for girls from 15 through 17 years of age who live within easy commuting distance of Framingham or Boston to enroll. An entrant must also attend a local public, private or parochial high school, either senior or junior.

Enrollments may be made at the Marsha Jordan Shop at Jordan Marsh Co., Shoppers' World, Framingham, on any of the next three Saturdays, April 24, May 1, and 8 between the hours of 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 to 4 p.m. They may also be made at the Boston store from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday. # A REAL CURE FOR CANCER?

PHOTOGRAPH BY RICHARD SOATTIE

The Truth Is...

. . . that this terrible disease can ALREADY be completely cured in about half of the cases . . . IF CAUGHT IN TIME.

The other half can be helped. They cannot yet . . . be saved. RESEARCH aimed at a final, complete solution to the cancer problem is proceeding as fast as available funds permit. Last year, with the help of $5,000,000 allocated by the American Cancer Society from donations made by Americans everywhere, encouraging progress was made.

But, "encouraging progress" is not enough. More money is needed. After all, $5,000,000 is less than 4% per American per year. Won't you please try to manage a real generous contribution? A big check, if you please, is really needed.

"Cancer" is an unpleasant word. It's easier not to think about it . . . to turn the page . . . to pass on.

YOU ARE DIFFERENT. The fact that you're still reading this proves it. Perhaps you have a special reason for being interested in the fight against cancer. Cancer may have taken away someone whom you love. It's not unlikely, for cancer strikes one out of five.

Last year, Americans gave more than ever. But, still not enough.

This year—please give more generously than ever.

Gentlemen:

☐ Please send me free information on cancer.

Arnold's Surplus Center Opens Modern and Fully Equipped Store

Ever since the news spread around town about the opening of Arnold's Surplus Center, Arnold Feldman has been literally deluged with inquiries of aroused and interested Wellesleyites. Since the response to the news has been so great, Arnold feels the best way to satisfy the curiosity of his future customers is to tell them the story in detail as follows:

Arnold's Surplus Center, which will be the only store of its kind in Wellesley will open Friday, April 23, on Route 9 at 180 Worcester street, Wellesley Hills, opposite Fairview Dairy, near the Cedar street overpass. The store will feature work clothes, sporting goods, war surplus items, outdoor supplies and all general merchandise commonly stocked in surplus type stores.

For sometime Arnold has been aware of the fact that Wellesley has been without a store to fit the needs of the worker who appreciates savings.

Arnold Feldman needs no introduction to those who are natives of Wellesley. He was born, brought up and educated in the schools in Wellesley and formerly operated a toy shop adjacent to his present location which was called The Old Bar. He intends to combine this unit with his new store.

Congratulation and best wishes to Arnold Feldman on his new venture at 180 Worcester street on the Turnpike. Newton residents will find Arnold's Surplus Store handy to, and only minutes away, from their homes. A cordial invitation is extended to all Newton residents to drive up to Wellesley and inspect this new, modern and well stocked store, equipped to meet all your needs.

SHAVE AND A HAIRCUT?—Well, maybe not that, but a lot of barbering is ahead of Candy before the shaggy dog assumes the classic outline of a French poodle. Doing honors with the electric clippers is George Hall, owner of the Newton Pet Shop at 352 Centre street, Newton, while Mrs. Hall comforts the poodle. (Photo by GoGrdon R. Wilk).

Parade, Two Games Saturday In N.C. by East Litle League

A parade by 168 boys and an afternoon doubleheader at the Newton Centre Playground will launch the 1954 season of the Newton East Little League.

The opening games will pit the Thompsonville Athletics against the Newton Centre Senators at 1:30 p.m., and the Oak Hill Cubs against the Chestnut Hill Phillies at 3:30 p.m.

The following week, the Newton East new farm loop (International League) will open its schedule with six teams playing.

Selling the most tickets for the recent dance to aid the Newton East Little League were Doug Alton, Jr., 127; Jonnie Boroksky, 90; Harry Simons, 59; Alan Gordon, 55; Ed Lynch, Jr., 52; Dave Brown, 51; Harvey Karofsky, 51; Jack Doherty, 50; Richie Isenberg, 49; and Neil Driscoll, 41.

BEING SHOWN at the Home Show this week at Mechanics Building is this section of Altec-Lansing Hi-Fidelity equipment. This display may be seen at LEE LOUMOS INC. booth along with other electronic features of true-sound quality.

Slogan 'Be Kind to Animals' Newton Pet Shop's Advice

Mr. and Mrs. George Hall make their livelihood by following the sage advice "Be kind to animals."

As owners of the Newton Pet Shop at 352 Centre street, Newton, they treat with understanding care all the animals they sell, train or shear.

All pet supplies—cages, kennels, baskets, toys, food and a hundred other items—may be found at the Newton Pet Shop, which has been at its Centre street location for the past 13 months.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall (the former Margery Adams of Waban) managed a Belmont pet shop before opening their own store in Newton, and have a long background of thorough experience in the care and handling of pets.

The Halls are experts in shampooing, clipping and shearing dogs of all shapes and sizes. Mr. Hall is also adept at obedience training, conducting classes for dog clubs in Shrewsbury and Concord and holding another class weekly in a hall near the Newton Pet Shop.

But dog care and supplies are only a small part of the services offered by the Halls.

Birds, tropical fish, hamsters, turtles, goldfish and rabbits are regularly stocked in the store. Their tropical fish collection now occupies roughly one-third of the store in answer to demands by hobbyists taking up this ever-growing spare-time activity.

A sidelight of tropical fish collection is that the fish are being used in doctors' offices to replace a table filled with magazines, according to Mr. Hall. He has installed several tanks in offices where the colorful fish keep patients' minds off their woes and help relax children.

The Newton Pet Shop can supply the needs of either the expert or novice collector, from a single goldfish to a rare fish such as the cannibalistic piranha — source of legends about men being stripped to the skeleton in seconds after falling into a school of these sharp-teethed fish.

The Newton Pet Shop stands ready to help the animal hobbyists of Newton no matter what their needs. Come in and see for yourself!

Oak Hill-

under consideration ever since the veterans housing project was constructed shortly after the close of World War II. When the project was first planned, a business block was included.

The original contractor, however, did not exercise his option to build, and another builder is now seeking permission. The new contractor, V. Ciulla and Sons, have stated that the block must be considered as a "package," since the stores would be financially unprofitable without the gas station.

The long-delayed issue has split Oak Hill Park residents so clearly that their Association was unable to take any stand on the matter at a public hearing held last month before the aldermen. The business block was reported out of the franchises and licenses committee two weeks ago, but it was withdrawn into executive session before a vote could be taken and has not come onto the floor since then.

Last week Fire Chief John E. Corcoran requested the aldermen to vote $1660 for a new hydrant closer to the Pine street dump, Auburndale. This was also held in committee for study, although the reports docket listed the hydrant as receiving a "leave to withdraw" vote from both the finance and public works committees.

The Pine street dumping area has been a constant source of nuisance to West Newton and Auburndale residents for a number of years because of its fire hazards.

Earlier this year, when the aldermen censured Watertown for the fire dangers in the Bemis dump opposite Newtonville homes on the Charles River, one of the aldermen suggested it would be better if Newton clean up its own hazards before complaining of another town's dump.

"Club Over Our Heads"

Wendell R. Bauckman, president of the board, accused a contractor seeking permission to relocate Paul Brook, which runs off Parker street in Newton Centre, of trying to influence the board's decision by indirect threats.

Referring to dumping now going on at the property, Mr. Bauckman declared, "I think we have had a club held over our heads."

The contractor intended, it was explained, to relocate the brook so that the land it crosses could be used for home building. At present, Alderman Earle D. Wood stated, debris was being dumped on the land, making it an eyesore.

President Bauckman termed the action "a club," by giving the board the choice of having an "eyesore" at the site or allowing the brook's course to be altered. He suggested that health officials might be successful in having the debris removed.

Upholding Alderman Bauckman's objections, the board turned down the contractor's petition by a 16-3 vote. The petition had been reported favorably by the public works committee 5-0, but two of those previously voting in favor changed their minds.

Voted down was a request by the Civil Defense department for $3715 for radio equipment. This approriation would have been matched by the federal government to make a total of $7430 in equipment.

The finance committee report stated that the Civil Defense program was still unsettled after the hydrogen bomb disclosures, and therefore the appropriation should not be made now. Previous purchases of CD equipment made suddenly had "proved unwise," it was stated.

The finance committee held a second CD appropriation—$4,460 for a pumping engine—for further study.

Street and Water Department appropriations voted were $35,000 for constructing Stanley road, Waban; $59,400 for drain and sewer construction on Dorcar road, Scotney road, Tirrell crescent and Cheever avenue, Newton Centre; and $945 for a water main extension on James street, West Newton.

Tea Dance Illegal?

A Tea Dance for teen-agers at the Woodland Golf Club was questioned as illegal by Joseph B. Davis, chairman of the franchises and licenses committee.

Alderman Davis drew laughter from the board when he stated, "I understand the only type of dancing that can be done in the city on Sunday is at a wedding. If they can produce a wedding, then it would be all right."

The aldermen tried to find some way they could legally grant permission to the club to hold its dance for young members and children of members, but were forced to hold the matter. Alderman H. Eugene Jones cited Police Chief Philip Purcell as telling the committee dancing could only be allowed Sundays in connection with a wedding by state law.

A motion by Edwin A. Terkelsen to require Health Department approval of construction plans was referred to the claims and rules committee.

A resolution by Alderman William R. Mattson—which he termed "somewhat of a suggestion by the mayor"—was passed, calling for a survey of all municipal insurance plans.

Street betterment assessments will now be charged at the flat rate of $6.50 per front foot, the board voted.

POLITICAL OVERTONES

Governor Herter and GOP Enjoying Democratic Confusion; Political Situation Just the Reverse of Two Years Ago

Governor Christian A. Herter and his advisers must be sitting back and enjoying the confusion-creating race being waged for the Democratic gubernatorial endorsement and the right to contest with Mr. Herter in the November election.

Mr. Herter can well appreciate the feeling of the Democratic contenders because a year ago at this time he was himself experiencing considerable difficulty in convincing the political wiseacres that he had any real chance of defeating the redoubtable Paul A. Dever.

The Democrats are in much the same position today as were the Republicans early in 1952, when a group of top G.O.P. leaders went to Washington and importuned the then Congressman Herter to carry his party's banner against former Governor Dever.

It appeared then that Herter was being asked to make a political sacrifice, to give up an important place on Capitol Hill and enter a race he probably could not win, with the thought that even though he made a good fight and lost, he might be the means of winning back control of the Massachusetts House of Representatives for his party.

Order 8 Suspended Sentences In Fatal Shooting at School

The unhappy sequel to last month's accidental shooting of a 14-year-old boy in a classroom at the F. A. Day Junior High School was enacted Friday in the Juvenile Session at Newton District Court when suspended sentences were meted out to four adults and four boys.

The adults all received suspended sentences until November 13 on charges of contributing to the delinquency of minors. A Newton Centre man at first appealed a two-month sentence to the House of Correction, but withdrew the appeal when the sentence was suspended.

One juvenile was charged with larceny, a second with trading guns without a permit, and the other two with carrying a gun without a permit. The larceny charge arose out of the theft from the War Memorial Building at Newton City Hall of two Civil War relics.

The juveniles received suspended terms to the Youth Service Board until November 13, with the exception of the boy who fired the fatal bullet in the back of John H. Frankenberger of 613 California street, Newtonville, as he sat in an eighth grade English class. A year's probation was ordered by Judge Donald E. Mayberry.

All the charges resulted either from the shooting or the subsequent investigation by Newton police of gun trading and firearm collections by students throughout the city. Police seized a large number of guns, including a 19-gun collection from the next-to-last owner of the fatal weapon and a submachine gun from another youth who voluntarily reported it.

Mrs. Helen C. Stevens Named Matron of Stone Institute

Several major improvements during the past year were announced at the 54th annual meeting of the Stone Institute and Newton Home for Aged People in Newton Upper Falls on April 24, by President Franklin K. Hoyt.

MRS. LILLIAN M. GROVE, who retired as matron of the Stone Institute after 15 years of service is shown receiving a traveling clock from President Franklin K. Hoyt in appreciation for her fine work. Shown witnessing the presentation are Mrs. Helen C. Stevens the newly appointed matron, and Metcalf Melcher. (Photo by Gordon R. Wilk)

Some of the improvements include a new screened front porch, installation of water sprinklers in the older section of the home. A chain-link fence was built around the large lot of land, acquired in 1950, at the rear of the Institute. Many bulbs and flowering shrubs have been planted to add to the beauty of the grounds. He also reported the gifts to the home of a television set, a deep freezer and a piano.

President Hoyt also announced, with regret, that Mrs. Lillian M. Grove was retiring after 15 years as matron and 11 years as nurse at the home. The executive committee presented Mrs. Grove a traveling clock in appreciation of her many years of service. She is looking forward to living with her son in Dover and plans to visit friends and local places of interest after a brief rest.

Mrs. Helen C. Stevens was elected to succeed Mrs. Grove and will assume her new duties on May 1. She is a graduate of Pratt Institute in Brooklyn, N. Y., and has had several years in leadership and supervision of nurses in hospitals. Mrs. Stevens was born in Worcester, Mass. and lived a number of years in Northfield. ## PW Director Asks Another 'Expert' Study

A $225,000 modernization program to double the burning capacity at the city incinerator and extend its useful life "15 or 20 years" was proposed by an M.I.T. professor last week after concluding a survey of the Newton Highlands incinerator at the city's request.

In a 17-page report filed with Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr., Prof. Rolf Eliassen of M.I.T. agreed with Public Works Director Willard S. Pratt that a proposed replacement of the entire plant, costing nearly a million dollars, should not be undertaken at this time.

Mechanization of the two furnaces at the incinerator will provide, Prof. Eliassen estimated, a capacity of 160 tons per 16 hours of operation or 240 tons for every day. This is approximately double the present capacity.

Because of the increased capacity the smokestack must be altered, the report continued. Within five or ten years, the

Held Post 13 Yrs., Founded Jun'r College

The retirement at the close of the current school year of Raymond A. Green, principal of Newton High School for 13 years and head of Newton Junior College for seven, was accepted "with extreme regret" Monday night by the School Committee.

Mr. Green has been connected with the Newton Public School System since 1923, when he became a teacher at the high school. In 1932, after serving four summers as an assistant at Columbia University Teachers' College, he was promoted to assistant principal in 1932. He was appointed principal of the High School in 1940, and principal of the Junior College in '46.

At their Monday meeting, the School Committee members decided to investigate the possibility of changing their terms from the present two years to four, under the terms of a bill now pending in the state legislature to expand Newton to eight wards.

The School Committee would like to see its members elected

Says Church Hope Of Future Peace

"The Christian Church as it is developing around the world is indeed the hope of the future and the major factor in binding the world together in peace," stated Miss Alice E. Cary of Boston, secretary of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions for Japan, Micronesia and the Philippines recently back from a more than five months administrative tour around the world. She will speak next Tuesday noon in the Newton Centre Congregational Church at the Woman's Association luncheon meeting.

Born in Japan, a "missionary kid," the daughter of distinguished Japan missionaries, Miss Cary spent her childhood in that country and has a brother and nephew at work there today. She herself completed her education in the U. S. A. at Wellesley College and then went back to Japan as a Christian social worker in the Yodogawa Neighborhood House in Osaka for some 25

During World War I Miss Cary did relief work for nine months with the Red Cross in Siberia. World War II forced her out of Japan and for four years she worked in Hawaii as a member of the staff of the Church of the Crossroads in Honolulu. Here she was located on Pearl Harbor Day.

In 1945 Miss Cary was called

Newton Tribute Foundation Tour of 7 Gardens May 8-10

Seven Newton gardens will be opened on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, May 8, 9, and 10, in the seventh Spring Garden Tour of the Newton Tribute Foundation.

This tour offers those who participate an afternoon filled with spring flowers and at the same time provides the major support for the Newton Tribute Foundation's memorial plantings along Commonwealth avenue in the city — a memorial to honor Newton citizens who serve in the Armed Services.

The seven gardens chosen this year exemplify a wide variety of landscoping. The garden of Dr. and Mrs. Charles P. Sheldon, 67 Dedham street, Newton Highlands, is a fine example of what can be done with an irregular lot with "mountainous terrain" where every foot of space is used and blooms profusely. A charming rock planting with a natural outcropping ledge features the garden of Dr. and Mrs. John E. Knight, 125 Country Club road, Newton Centre.

In the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Warren B. Kennedy, 39 Columbus street, Newton Highlands a wide lawn provides a setting for fine trees, a delightful little pool, formal beds and a unique combination of fireplace and toolshed. Mr. and Mrs. Clifford H. Walker, 711 Chestnut street, Waban, have

Mayor Gives Endorsement Of Palsy

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., today stated "The well-being and strength of any community depends upon the health of its individual citizens and inasmuch as residents of this community are numbered among the more than half a million children and adults in the United States who were born Cerebral Palsied and the condition of those affected by this crippling ailment can be greatly improved through correct diagnosis, treatment and education, I earnestly urge the citizens of this community to support to the fullest the 'May Campaign' of the United Cerebral Palsy. In their humanitarian efofrt to raise funds to alleviate suffering and assist the Cerebral Palsied to become useful, self-sustaining citizens, more specialists, doctors, and nurses specifically trained in the treatment of this affliction will be provided.

"I am hopeful that the citizenry of Newton will co-operate to the utmost."

Do You Think the Communist Party In the United States Should Be Outlawed?

ROBERT C. HUSE, Newton Visitor — "No, I don't think it should be. I think that if it were outlawed it would be dangerous even more than it is now. As it is now, the Federal Bureau of Investigation has a close watch on all their activities but if the Communists went underground it would be a terrific job for the FBI to get at them.

ALBERT E. HOUSTON, West Newton — "Yes, I think it should be outlawed. To me, there is no doubt that the Communist Party in the United States is under direct orders from Moscow. I think their main purpose in life is the direct overthrow of our Government so that is why I am in favor of outlawing them and the Communist Party

JOHN E. CODY, Newtonville — "No, I don't think they should be outlawed. The main reason I say this is that the basic ideals of our Constitution guarantee freedom of choice in regard to political parties and as far as I know Communism, no matter what we might think of it, is a recognized political party. Also, I think if it were outlawed it'd be more difficult to keep our eyes on them."

WILLIAM SULLIVAN, Waban—"No, I think it would be a great mistake to outlaw the Communist Party. There is no doubt in my mind that they are a real danger and threat to our country's safety and yet I feel that if their party were outlawed, it would be much more difficult to observe their activities."

Plan To Organize PTSA Wednesday

Wednesday, May 5, at 8 p.m. parents of Newton High School students will participate in an organization meeting of a proposed Parent-Teacher-Student-Association at the High School.

Tuesday the High School faculty approved the appointment of a nominating committee by Principal Raymond A. Green to present a slate of teachers to represent the faculty on the proposed PTSA.

Before the May 5 meeting the student legislature will have also nominated members from their group, according to John Hobbs, student president.

Following the May fifth meeting, the executive committee comprising representatives from the three bodies will then draw up the by-laws for the proposed organization.

professor stated, the city will probably have to provide additional refuse storage capacity outside the existing building. He also suggested several technical changes from the modernization plan outlined by the city.

"Time is an important factor on account of limited dump capacity and the present run-down state of the incinerator," Prof. Eliassen reported.

"If the recommended changes can be negotiated with the low bidder on the city's plans and specifications, the modified incinerator should be ready for operation by December 31. If new bids are required to fulfill the objectives of the recommended modifications, a consulting engineer should be retained to prepare a complete set of plans and specifications. The incinerator should be ready by August 31, 1955, if this is done."

Although public protest has forced a halt to plans for cooking garbage at the incinerator, the modification of the Newton Highlands plant should include enough room for possible future incineration of garbage, the report stated.

At present, Newton's garbage contractor boils the garbage himself before feeding it to his hogs. "However," Prof. Eliassen wrote, "it is certain that the costs will increase, and it is possible that in future years the present method of disposal may prove infeasible because of economics."

However, in a five-page review of Prof. Eliassen's report, Mr. Pratt took isue with several of the proposals made by the M.I.T. professor.

Disagreeing particularly over whether a "traveling grate" should be incorporated into the changes at the incinerator, the director of public works asked for a study of the situation by another consultant.

"Regardless of the urgency of this installation," Mr. Pratt wrote Mayor Whitmore, "since there are various points of disagreement; and the opinion expressed by members present in a discusion in your office that the employing of a consultant would not increase the cost materially, I would recommend that this problem be presented again to a consultant to relieve me of any responsibility whatsoever in the final solution of the problem."

Mr. Pratt continued, "As far as suggested repairs to the building, the maintenance and repair of the building comes under the Building Department. Much of the window breakage cannot be attributed to the operation and, therefore, becomes a police matter, to protect public buildings from vandalism. Much of the deterioration he spoke of is caused by the present method of ash handling, which will be eliminated should the ash handling equipment, as proposed by us and recommended by Professor Eliassen, be installed.

"Another point on which I do not concur completely is the necessity of increasing the stack unless the total number of grates are installed, as recommended in our original proposal. The price for repairing the stack is slightly in excess of $12,000. The cost of repairing the stack and increasing the lining of the diameter is in the vicinity of $35,000. Unless the capacity is increased to the point we proposed originally, what is the necessity of increasing the diameter of the stack?"

A $225,000 appropriation request from Mr. Pratt for "alterations and repairs to the incinerator" is being held by the alderman's finance committee for a decision on what work will be accomplished.

The garden of Mr. and Mrs. E. Graham Bates, 46 Central street, Auburndale shows what can be done with a smaller lot in creating a most inviting living area. At the home of Miss Josephine Douglass, 21 Kinmouth road, Waban, a terraced garden of modest dimensions is most pleasingly planted. The garden of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Shipley, Jr., 71 Vista avenue, Auburndale, provides a unique landscape design featuring tulips and flowering trees.

Noteworthy also is the recent planting by the Newton Tribute Foundation itself on Commonwealth avenue, near Lake street, where a large number of flowering crabwoods and dogwoods have been added to the Tribute Foundation's memorial.

The gardens will be open from 1 to 5:30 p.m. on each day, and tickets may be obtained at any of the gardens or from the Newton Tribute Foundation, 25 Chestnut street, West Newton.

Dance on May 8 By Cabot PTA Aids Scholarship

The fund for the Cabot Parent - Teacher Association Scholarship, awarded a former Cabot student each year, will be raised by a dance to be held next Thursday, May 8, at 8 in the school auditorium.

Music for all types of dancing will be furnished by Albert Haynes and his Wayside Inn Orchestra. Mr. Haynes is a well known caller for square dancing, and the five members of his orchestra are equally skilled in playing swing or sweet music.

Mrs. Harris Snyder, chairman, and Mrs. Charles Moses, co-chairman, have arranged a program which includes free refreshments and many prizes. The PTA is asking your support to assure a 1954 Newton High graduate a substantial scholarship while you enjoy an evening of fun and relaxation. four at a time, instead of facing the possibility of an entirely new committee at the semi-annual elections.

If the change was made at this time, it could be added as a "rider" to the current bill in the state legislature increasing the School Committee by one member for the new ward.

However, the members emphasized they did not wish to seek action at this time if their request might jeopardize passage of the ward-increase measure. Combination of the two would save filing a separate bill later for a change in the city charter.

Expressing opposition to the ward line changes were Haskell Freedman and Mrs. Genevieve Oncley. Mrs. Oncley stated that an extra member required by the eighth ward would make the School Committee unwieldly and would force a system of subcommittees.

Under the School Committee's plan to change the terms, all members — as under the present system — would come up for election at the first election following the passage of the bill. Those winning the most votes would serve four years, and the half of the committee with lesser votes would have two-year terms of office.

At all subsequent elections the members would serve for four-year periods, with half the Committee's terms expiring every other year.

The School Committee also accepted the resignations of 12 teachers, effective July 1, and appointed two men and 14 women to teaching posts. Three leaves of absence were granted.

The retiring High School principal, a graduate of Muhlenberg and Columbia, resides at 7 Dexter road, Newtonville. Before coming to Newton, he taught at Allentown High School, Allentown, Pa.; Muhlenberg College, also in Allentown; and St. George's School, Newport, R. I.

He is the author of several articles of education which appeared in various educational magazines, and has delivered lectures on both educational and travel subjects. Mr. Green is a veteran of World War I, is a member of Newton American Legion Post and is a past president of the Newton Kiwanis Club.

Mr. Green founded Newton Junior College, the first public junior college in New England, and sponsored Newton High as a pilot school in the Kenyon Plan study by the Ford Foundation.

BU-Underw'd Summer School Opens July 13 for 4th Year

The Boston University-Underwood Summer School will begin its fourth year of operation on Tuesday, July 13. Classes for boys and girls who wish to attend elementary school for a six-week period during July and August are now being organized.

This program is offered to all Newton children attending private, public or parochial schools in the city. The special session is arranged to train liberal arts college graduates for teaching careers and to offer an educational program for children who wish to attend classes beyond the regular school year.

In all grades, kindergarten, grades One through six, a regular program of studies is offered. Children receive instruction in reading, oral and written language, arithmetic, spelling, handwriting, social studies, science, music, art, and physical education.

Pupils are placed in the grade they are scheduled to enter in September, 1954. To be eligible for entrance into the kindergarten group a child must attain five years of age on or before January 1, 1955. Class size is limited to approximately 25 pupils per grade. Daily class sessions are held from 9 a.m. until noon. Parents are expected to provide transportation to and from the school. Children using commercial bus lines may purchase special student tickets at a cost of $.75 for ten rides. These tickets may be purchased at the school. The cost of the materials used during the six-week period is financed by Boston University. Instruction ends on Thursday, August 19.

The teaching staff for the summer school is made up of Newton classroom teachers. Members of the faculty include Miss Henrietta Brebbia, kindergarten; Mrs. Audrey Callahan, grade I; Mrs. Carmella Nadeau, grade II; Miss Gertrude Welch, grade III; Miss Coralouise Lyford, grade IV; Miss Anne Wilson, grade V; Frank Zervas, grade VI; Mrs. Marguerite Fitch, secretary; and Allan Acomb, principal.

Parents desiring to register children for this program should write or telephone Mr. Acomb, principal, Underwood School, 101 Vernon street, Newton 58, Massachusetts; BI 4-5156. Upon receipt of request, application forms giving complete details for enrollment procedure will be forwarded. Applications will be accepted in the order of their receipt at the Underwood School.

Last year nearly 200 elementary pupils in the city attended the school. Mr. Acomb hopes that many parents again will avail themselves of this opportunity for extending school experiences for their children.

The Ladies' Guild of the Lutheran Church of the Newtons in Newton Center are sponsors of the concert to be presented Friday evening, April 30, at 8:15, in the Parish Hall of the church for the benefit of the Organ Repair Fund. This promises to be a very enjoyable evening for all who attend.

Ingeborg Jarratt directs the Beaver Country Day School Glee Club in a group of selections consisting of "O Jesu, so sweet" by Bach, "He Watching over Israel" from Elijah by Mendelssohn, "The Lamb" by Orvis Ross and "Psalm 150" by Cesar Franck.

Carole Weeden, pianist, will play "Impromptu in A" by Schubert and "the Night Winds" by Charles T. Griffes. This will be followed by a soprano solo by Ingeborg Jarratt, "L'amero Saro Costante" (II re pastore) by Mozart, accompanied by Marion Haffenreffer, violinist and Alice McDowell pianist. Mrs. Haffenreffer will play the violin solo Romance by Svendsen, accompanied by Mrs. Harry Gibby at the piano.

After the intermission, the program continues with 2 baritone solos by William Sear, accompanied by Margaret Scar, "Pilgrim's Song" by Tschaikowsky and "Ol' Man River" from Show Boat by Jerome Kern. Margaret Scar will play "Rhapsodie—Opus 11, No. 3" by Ernst Van Dohnanyi, and the "Newtones" of Newton High School will present a group of selections. Members of this quartet are Dave Jarratt, 1st tenor, Ted Murphy, 2nd tenor, Norm Kattwinkle, baritone and Bob Johnson, bass.

The concert will conclude with the Beaver Glee Club singing the following numbers: Song from "Ossian's Fingal" by Brahms, "The Gipsy" (Hungarian) by Kodaly, "The Inch Worm" from Hans Christian Andersen by Frank Loesser and "O Dear, What can the Matter Be?" by Howarth.

MISS BIRDIE McKEE

Visiting Nurse Ass'n to Hear National Member

Miss Birdie M. McKee, Assistant Director, Department of Public Health Nursing of the National League for Nursing will visit the Newton Visiting Nurse Association, a member agency of the League on Tuesday, May 4. She will discuss nursing problems, both local and national with the nursing staff and board members, according to Miss Katherine MacDonald, Executive Director of the NVNA. "The good that comes from local-national association flows both ways," Miss McKee says. "The N L N acts as a central clearing agency for ideas that have proved of worth in one community and passes them on to other communities. Thus a good public health nursing practice is spread as quickly as possible."

A morning meeting and luncheon will be held at the headquarters of the Newton VNA which is located on the grounds of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital. Mrs. Albert Biset, chairman of the hospitality committee, will be responsible for the luncheon.

The Newton Visiting Nurse Association is a Red Feather public health agency which provides nursing service on an hourly basis—to the sick in their homes, and which participates in health education programs to promote better individual, family and community health.

Ten Members Give $99,500 In Fund Drive

Bernard D. Grossman, president of the Temple Shalom of Newton, has announced that $99,500 has been subscribed by ten individual members of the Temple as advance gifts toward the $350,000 goal for a new house of worship to be erected at 175 Temple street in West Newton.

One hundred members of the Congregation are serving in the campaign organization which consists of four divisions: Big Gifts, Special Gifts, General Gifts, and Junior Gifts. The latter division is made up of children in the Religious School.

The Special Gifts Division will have its first report meeting tonight (Thursday) at the Temple Shalom. The Co-Chairmen of that division are: Abe L. Rothstein, Harry Elson, Dr. Daniel Miller, and Bertram Matz.

Mr. Grossman also stated that the Building Committee plan to begin construction of the new Temple this Fall.

A rotary rig used to drive an oil and gas well some 4,000 feet deep requires about 800 feet of wire rope in a derrick 100 feet high.

High School Music Club to Present Larry Green, Pianist

Today (Thursday) the Newton High School Music Club will present Larry Green, a distinguished pianist, band leader and recording star who is appearing currently at the Meadows.

Mr. Green's career as a pianist began at the age of ten when his father sold a stock in his mattress business to a dealer who gave him a piano in exchange. Later, the elder Green traded a new mattress for a series of piano lessons for his son. That was how Larry began.

In 1927, when he was 14 years old, Larry played his first professional engagement. It was a summer job at the Regal House in the Catskill Mountains. After this he used his music to pay his expenses through high school and college. When he was 18 he played the piano on a 40-day cruise of the Mediterranean. Ever since, he has had a strong desire to travel.

Not long after Larry graduated from Boston University with a law degree and passed the Massachusetts Bar, he became more interested in music and spent considerable time at the New England Conservatory. Until this point in his career, he had always thought of music as a pleasant and profitable divertisement from his regular business. But now he found that he enjoyed the keyboard more than the bar. So he consulted his friend, Jack Marshard, leader of Boston's most famous society orchestra.

The result of these conferences was the present Larry Green Orchestra, which has since been featured at such swank locations as the Biltmore in New York, the Oval Room of the Sheraton Plaza Hotel in Boston, the Bar Harbor Club at Bar Harbor, Maine, and the smartest night spots in Philadelphia and Pittsburg.

Mr. Green has been the guest of the Music Club in the past. He lives in Newton and has a daughter who is a Junior at Newton High School.

Political Overtones

Herter, of course, turned out to be a condemned candidate who ate a hearty breakfast, bid his relatives and friends goodbye, walked the last mile and then executed the executioner, a turn of events from which some Democratic politicos have not completely recovered in the intervening 17 months.

One big difference in the present Democratic picture and the Republican situation of two years ago is that the Democrats will be so busy fighting among themselves for the next four and a half months that they aren't going to have time to pay much attention to their archenemies in the G.O.P.

It is apparent that five weekends from now the Democratic State convention at Worcester will give its endorsement either to Governor's Councillor Patrick J. McDonough of Dorchester or Democratic House Leader Robert F. Murphy of Malden

Also in the race but conceded no chance whatever of obtaining the endorsement are former Undersecretary of Labor Michael J. Galvin and State Bank Commissioner Timothy J. Donovan. Middlesex County Sheriff Howard W. Fitzpatrick appears to have one foot in the race and one out of it. His supporters seem to be having some difficulty deciding whether he's running or not, but it isn't going to make too much difference either way.

Perhaps the most realistic candidate in the contest is Galvin who privately concedes that he isn't going to get very far at the Worcester convention before the Democratic delegates torpedo him but who adds that he will then carry his fight to the Democratic voters in the September primary.

Some Democratic politicians profess to believe that this situation will not hurt their party's chances for the November election. They flip back the pages of political history 20 years to recall the events of 1934 to support their contention.

In that year ex-Mayor James M. Curley and General Charles H. Cole battled for the endorsement of the Democratic State convention. Cole won with the help of the late Senator David I. Walsh, the late Governor Joseph B. Ely and former Mayor Frederick W. Mansfield.

But Curley made a comeback to defeat Cole in the primary and then went on to win the election over Gaspar Bacon.

It is a fact, however, that a bitter primary conflict usually wrecks a party for an election. The Republican candidates for Governor wore themselves out fighting each other in 1950 and had neither money nor strength left for the final fight with the Democrats.

The only immediate problem confronting the Massachusetts G.O.P. at the Republican State convention six weeks from now is the selection of G.O.P. candidates for the offices of State Treasurer, State Auditor of Secretary of State, and then they can sit back and wait for the autumn campaign, watching their Democratic brethren battle down the line in the intervening months.

The one conclusion this observer has drawn to date from watching portions of the McCarthy-Army hearings on television and reading the transcripts of the testimony, is that they are going to hurt the Republican party nationally.

This is basically a fight between Senator McCarthy and the Eisenhower administration as represented by Secretary of the Army Stevens, and it is extremely improbable that it will end with the close of the hearings.

A guess now is that the hearings will be inconclusive in that they will not definitely prove anything, that the people who have taken sides in this strange controversy will go on believing what they believe now and that the same arguments will continue after the television screens in cafes and barrooms have turned to other subjects.

It will be established that Senator McCarthy and Roy Cohn tried to obtain an army commission for G. David Schine and probably that Cohn went pretty far in his attempts to get preferred treatment for Schine.

On the basis of the testimony up to now it seems highly doubtful that the army will be able to prove that McCarthy acted improperly in his efforts in behalf of Schine, and there undoubtedly will be a furious argument as to whether Cohn did so and exactly where he stepped beyond the bounds of propriety.

When the row eventually subsides, the likelihood is that its principal outcome will be that Cohn will be dropped by the McCarthy Committee. That probably will be the result of all the clamor, all the furore, all the charges and counter charges, all the television testimony and the columns of news stories.

McCarthy's claim that the Army tried to blackmail him will be unsubstantiated in all probability. The Wisconsin Senator, who periodically addresses Secretary Stevens as "Bob," doesn't shape up as a very likely object of blackmail.

Some observers believe that Secretary Stevens' days in his present post also are numbered and that he will slip out of the Defense Department after a respectable face - saving period has elapsed.

But when the controversy is concluded Joseph R. McCarthy will still be a U. S. Senator from Wisconsin, with four and a half years of his term to serve, Dwight D. Eisenhower will still be President of the United States, and the relationship between them is not apt to be a particularly friendly or cordial one.

The most speculation now centers on the extent, if any, to which McCarthy's wings will be clipped after the current conflict is ended.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

Harold Krogstad, 44, was sitting in a Hoboken, N. J., tavern, quietly sipping a glass of beer, when a rhesus monkey stormed through an open door and attacked him. Tavern Proprietor James Carney finally chased the monkey into the kitchen with a broom, closed the door and left it there until two police officers arrived and captured the animal with a blanket. The monkey, pet of a truck driver, had escaped from its owner. It must have been a teetotalling monkey.

When Daniel Bean pleaded not guilty to a charge of drunken driving in North Sacramento, the judge asked him if he had any witnesses to support his claim. "No sir, judge," Daniel responded. "They were all drunker than I was." The judge decided he had heard enough and sentenced him to six months in jail.

Congressman George H. Bender of Ohio is involved in a hard fight for renomination, and one of the charges being hurled at him is that he made "a spectacle of himsel" ringing a cowbell for the late Robert A. Taft at the 1952 Republican national convention in Chicago.

The Florida Times-Union in Jacksonville last week carried this announcement in its personal column: "In retraction to a statement made previously in this column, I wish to state that I am again privileged to be responsible for my lovely wife's debts. Robert A. Colson." Well, a man can change his mind, can't he?

After pleading guilty in Houston to forging checks amounting to $177,000 and cashing them in 44 different states, Frederick D. George defiantly told the judge: "I planned every hot check I wrote. My only regret is that I didn't write twice as many."

Housing officials in Hartford, Conn., evicted Louis Maile from a public project after he explained that the reason he had kicked a hole through the kitchen wall was so that his four children could run from one room to another without passing in front of his television set in the living room.

—0—

The Anchorage, Alaska, Times recently carried this situation-wanted advertisement: "Young man . . . sober at present . . . not proud, will even take janitor's job. Sixteen years schooling, same room, same class, married the teacher . . ."

—0—

The Town Council in Thurso, Scotland, inspected Andrew McPhee's municipally owned three-room house and concluded that he needed more room after learning that he was sharing the space with 21 relatives in order to keep down expenses. It must have been just a little crowded.

—0—

Arrested in Weymouth, England, for speeding, Psychiatrist Robert Stansfield explained his action as follows: "The sunshine, the clear road, and the additional stimulus of the car behind me (not recognizable as a police car) undoubtedly gave added impetus to my psyche." The judge apparently was not over-impressed because Mr. Stansfield was fined $5.60.

Newton has now reached 82 per cent of its goal, or $6971, in the Easter Seal Campaign, Miss Ruth Burns, assistant trasurer of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company and area campaign treasurer, announced today.

As a result of last week's special drive continuing beyond Easter Sunday, statewide contbutions have amounted to $229,598. S. Bruce Black, state campaign chairman, is still keeping the books open for additional gifts.

"The officers and directors of the Bay State Society for the Crippled and Handicapped are particularly pleased with the results shown during the Easter period," Mr. Black said. "The unselfish efforts of our Easter Seal volunteers have paid off for those handicapped children and adults who look to the Society for the kind of assistance and treatment they so desperately need."

Chairman Black, president of Liberty Mutual Insurance Company of Boston, said that while the Easter Seal campaign was still $90,402 short of its $320,000 goal, he felt confident that thousands of dollars in additional contributions would be forthcoming from the citizens of the Commonwealth.

WATER FLUORINATION

Editor, Newton Graphic:

As you know the water supply in the City of Newton is not fluoridated. However, many dental and public health authorities are in favor of fluoridation, among them James M. Dunning D.D.S. lecturer in public health dentistry, Harvard Dental School, and our own Health Department of the City of Newton.

On this matter I am a layman with no particular knowledge of the subject and no particular benefit to be gained other than the increased health of my family and myself.

Would it be possible for those who are against the fluoridation of water to offer through the columns of your newspaper their opinion and would it then be possible for your newspaper to print replies of the proponents of fluoridation. I believe that you would thereby render a distinct public service and would clear up much confusion in the minds of the citizenry of Newton.

If we can discuss this issue with complete calm, with a maximum of objectivity, with a view toward the best interests of the whole community, and thereby arrive at a decision, we will have provided a demonstration of democracy at work.

CALLING ALL FARMERS

Editor, Newton Graphic:

What a great joy it is that our Barns and Storehouses are constantly filled to an overflowing capacity, with all the fine food stuffs of the earth's productivity, and that God the Provider of all good, continues to smile on this blessed country of ours. America without doubt is a land of 'Milk and Honey." Are we grateful for all this wonderful abundance?

Judging from the news items pro and con, which constantly appear, and the Congressional debate on this agricultural overflow, some of us at least are quick to conclude that the farmers and their productivity, economically speaking, are as a group becoming burdensome to the tax paying public, and that legislation should be enacted to curb the constantly growing food stock piles. That line of nonsensical reasoning should be quickly spiked. What an appalling thing it would be if the housewife had to stand in line for hours, quota ticket in hand, as has been done, and is still being done in many poverty stricken areas throughout the world, waiting and praying that when her turn came there would still be sufficient food on the shelves to cover the family's daily needs. Rather an unpleasant picture, is it not? Yet, just such a picture confronted this nation in the first World War, and at the present hour the scarecrow confronting our people from the food angle, is the good old coffee bean, and every housewife knows what a dent this shortage is making in her food budget. Furthermore, the advent of a ravenously hungry Mr. and Mrs. Lotus and family after 18 years of sleep, is not without its destructive possibilities. Then we ask who will it be that shall reap the harvest?

Eugene Holman, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Standard Oil Co. in a recent statement, warns us that, "In this age all nations look to Industrial development as an important means to National strength and better living standards for their people, but important as it is, industrial development should not be allowed to get out of balance with other elements of the economy. Mr. Holman goes on to say that "pushing industrial development at too fast a pace can disrupt agriculture and foreign trade dependent on it," and Walter Lipmann adds to this by saying, "we have an enormous margin of luxury in this country, against which we can draw for our vital needs, and we have learned how to defend ourselves whatever the cost."

This enormous luxury then, and this ability to defend does not come from the destructive force of idle manpower lacking purchasing power, nor from Congressional programs based on limitation—Napoleon sadly learned that armies do not move successfully on empty stomachs. Curbing the flow of the dollar in the belief that a budget will then be balanced, is just about as practical as skimping the gas in the car, hoping in the process to get more mileage.

If it's "In God We Trust" as our latest Liberty stamp states, then the real truth and strength of these words should be completely free from human road blocks based on the worship of the Golden Calf. Give to the farmer then, and his productivity, our constant blessing, and blame him not for the weakness in our distributary system.

WANTED — A NEW LOOK IN OAK HILL PARK

Editor, Newton Grahic:

I have read with interest about a proposal to erect suitable and attractive stores and a gas station on a site originally proposed at the time the project here was under discussion, which is about 5 years ago.

Being a newcomer here, and a property owner, I observed the vacant location and was surprised that it had remained so long as it is now—nothing there, nothing new—just like a cemetery — nothing doing, 99 percent of the time.

While a former member of the Board of Aldermen for four years in a neighboring city, I heard many objectors as well as many in favor of a change. We don't want this, we don't want that, all undesirable fc the community, etc. But a time went by and the change were made, what a change too place in the objectors opinions Hoo-ray they have said tim and time again, we neve thought that such an improve ment was possible.

Look around today and w find, new highways construct ed, new roads, new stores, nev gas stations and other improve ments in the march of progres to serve the people better.

I believe that the empty lc cation has been a loss to th city for revenue for many years. Taxpayers howl abou higher taxes. Wouldn't in creased revenue help to hold taxes down, which is certainly what taxpayers need in these times.

Unquestionably this section would receive continued police and fire protection as in the past. Also the location would be an ideal one for bus stops and motorists would not have to travel two miles to obtain gas when necessary. Also the convenience of having stores handy will be an asset.

Isn't it true that the petitioner would be under specific obligation to comply with all rules and regulations granted under the permit? If not, there is always authority to revoke the permit.

The plans submitted by the petitioner, i.e., what they will build, the kind of structures that will be attractive is something to think about.

It is time to hop aboard the wheel of progress and spin with it to the rostrum of decision and advancement for better conditions in Oak Hill Park in 1954 — not remain dormant, and avoid having the younger generation asking this question later on—Who have been the Rip Van Winkles here and why?

Let us have a new look and place Oak Hill Park in the spotlight.

LEE CARVER KITSON,

Simplification Program At Hospital Makes Many Savings

Tuesday in the Usen Auditorium of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, Miss Gertrude Loud, Personnel Director of the hospital spoke on "Work Simplification" at the regular meeting of the trustees.

The objective of this program is "to render a better service, at a lower cost, at the right time, with less effort," and Miss Loud ably demonstrated how well the hospital has succeeded in putting the principles of the Work Simplification program to valuable use. Founders of these principles have endeavored to establish as their first premise the fact that the basic problems in hospitals are no different from those encountered wherever people work. Employees are trained to think creatively toward the better use of time, energy and materials, said Miss Loud. She went on to stress the importance of starting such a program at the top-management level, and continuing downward through all classifications—Department Heads, supervisors and ultimately to all workers. To date 449 employees and students of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital have completed the Basic Training for the Work Simplification Program and 101 of these have had follow-up sessions.

Miss Loud explained that hospital employees are brought together in groups of 10 to 15 for instruction. Through group discussion, demonstrations, illustrations, and leader's directions, understanding as to how to eliminate the unnecessary, solve problems and simplify work is reached. Important aspects of the instruction include principles of motion economy, work-area layout, job breakdown, and problem analysis.

The results of this program have been most successful, and cover a range of improvements, from dollars and cents savings, to improved employee relations, improved routine work practices and improved planning and scheduling. Miss Loud cited various examples of the truly impressive improvements that vary widely in scope and savings. Among the most significant results was a saving of 2½ hours a day in the loading of breakfast food trucks, amounting to an annual saving of $773.50. Changes in the Laboratory office resulted in time saved and a yearly monetary saving of $236.47. Job analysis in the Administrative office of the Newton-Wellesley, eliminated an annual mailing house bill of $300.00, in addition to a saving of time and materials. Many other improvements were cited —all of which add up to increased efficiency in the management and routine of the hospital.

Basic requirements for the continued success of the Work Simplification Program, said Miss Loud, are a desire to make work easier and methods better, coupled with an open mind and a questioning attitude. Trained employees who practice the principles of motion economy plus intelligent handling of the human relations problems involved and willingness to contribute ideas are integral to success. Observation as a guide to elimination of waste is also of great importance, as is co-operation among workers to help do a better job, give better service to patients, at the right time, with less cost, and with less effort. There must be a desire to continue to improve, rather than to be content with what has already been achieved, and, finally, knowledge that, although the Newton-Wellesley Hospital has accomplished a great deal, there remains much more than can be achieved through the Work Simplification approach.

Miss Loud concluded her most interesting and informative talk by thanking those who had contributed to the success of the program, and expressing the hope of all concerned for its continuing success.

YMCA Jr. Club Sends Uniforms To Belgian Team

The Y Knights, a Newton YMCA Junior Hi-Y Club recently completed a project of sending 12 basketball jerseys to a group similar to theirs in the Belgian YMCA.

A letter was received in January from Hugh Boudin, National Boys' Work Secretary of Belgium stating that he had under his leadership a group of young men who played basketball as a team. The squad, he explained, would like to have uniform jerseys that carried the YMCA emblem but were experiencing difficulty in obtaining them. At a Y Knights meeting, where the letter was read, the group unanimously voted to accept the task of raising sufficient funds to buy and send the needed shirts.

Over the past few months, through various activities and money raising events, the club was able to accumulate the necessary amount and has sent the package to the YMCA boys in Belgium.

The Knights are now waiting for some correspondence from the foreign group telling of their activities and the success of their basketball team.

Members of the local club are Jack Shaughnessy, president; John Akerman, vice-president and treasurer; David McLeod, secretary; Donald Johnson, Oliver Noonan, Peter Wallace, John Marchetti and James Woodlock. Advisor to the group is Bruno J. Ottavi, associate youth work secretary at the Newton YMCA.

Mrs. John Wesley Lord Guest Speaker at Lower Falls WSCS

"The sun has risen in Africa, and great strides have been made in this beautiful country of gracious and kind people, who, in my mind, are destined to become a self-ruling people." So spoke Mrs. John Wesley Lord, wife of Methodist Bishop John Wesley Lord, resident Bishop of the New England area, at a reception in her honor given by the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Newton Lower Falls Methodist Church last Thursday evening. Mrs. Lord has recently returned from a three months' survey of missionary work in Africa. On this trip she accompanied her husband on a 6,000-mile tour of Africa from Tunis to Johanasburg. They were impressed by the need and importance of the work that missionaries of all denominations are doing there. She described the country as being "young in civilizatiaon but its people are anxious to learn western customs." Mrs. Lord further stated, "Modern methods of agriculture and the harnessing of its natural resources are being taught in missionary schools." In one town the Lords arrived for the initial turning of the electric switch in a hospital which heretofor had used lanterns for light and carried all water for hospital use from a nearby waterhole. The pumping system and electric lights were the gift of Methodist churches of the New England area. "The lack of water, the almost complete segregation of Africans and whites, and the extremely low wage scale are problems that are still to be faced in Africa," Mrs. Lord pointed out. "Although work in the government gold mines is not compulsory, boys are brought in great numbers from the bush country to work for the monthly wage of three pounds (about $8.00 in American currency). Only 5 percent of these boys are capable of counting their own salary. Missionary schools are so crowded that three shifts of classes daily fail to accommodate all those who wish instruction."

Mrs. Dorothy Paterson, president of the W.C.S.C., presented Mrs. Lord wtih an orchid corsage. Refreshments were served by the committee: Chairman, Mrs. Malcolm Peterson, assisted by Mrs. Donald Campbell, Mrs. Edwin Daniels and Mrs. Joseph Schmidt. Bishop and Mrs. Lord are now residents of Wellesley.

Taking a respite from Suburban League activities, defending champion Newton High School clobbered a lackluster, spiritless Brockton nine 10-3 Monday afternoon for the third victory in a row by the local batters.. . . . Last week Newton ended the brief winning streak of Watertown, lone unbeaten team in the Suburban League, by bouncing from behind with a 6-run outburst in the late innings and capturing the game 6-3. Russ Halloran, combination pitcher-first baseman, went the distance for the win at Watertown. . . . Evidently taking a hint from the performance of the pitchers in the Arlington and Watertown victories, lanky Ed Murphy limited the Brockton batters to five singles while also going a full nine frames. Displaying good speed which had the visitors bouncing the ball into the dirt all afternoon, Murphy only gave up one solid hit. One hard grounder hopped off the shortstop's shoulder for a hit, and three other singles didn't even get off the infield grass . . . Although not striking out a man—an oddity for a winning pitcher in a high school game—Murphy showed a world of poise and control in getting out of a bases-loaded jam in the first inning and coasting to victory.

After that slight fright by the visitors Newton picked up a single run in its first time at bat. Left fielder Bob Davis, who continues to display an uncanny ability to get on base one way or another, was hit on the arm . . . Billy Hamill singled to right. Brockton had a chance for a play at the plate but missed up on a cut-off, and Davis scored easily.

The second inning saw the game blown wide open as Newton runners clattered six times across the plate. Tom McLellan got the rally started with a solid line single to left on a curve ball that hung in front of him like a balloon. It was McLellan's first base knock of the season . . . Murphy came up to sacrifice, but was hit on the foot. The speedy Davis then dropped a bunt down the third base line and, moving with a deceptive smooth stride, beat it out for a hit despite a perfect play by the Brockton third sacker. . . . With the bases jammed, Halloran lined a single into right field for one run. Jimmy Wiper followed with a two-run double that raised the chalk in left field. Hamill waved vainly at his smash into right, and then stole second as Wiper held third. . . . The rally momentarily halted with four men home as the next two batters went out, but Paul Keyes came through with a single to left that rescued Wiper and Hamill. . . . And that was the end of Brockton.

The visitors managed to score once in third on a trio of infield hits—one a dribbler to third that wouldn't roll foul, another that struck shortstop Levon Kasarjian on the shoulder and the last one that Murphy fielded before slipping near the mound.....Newton displayed a brilliant pick-off play this inning in the Boudreau fashion to break the back of the incipient rally.

Adding single runs in the last four innings, Newton kept Brockton away from the plate until errors allowed a pair of scores in the eighth. One of the errors was the first by center fielder Hamill in his high school career . . . Billy played a high fly to left center a little too casually with the result that the ball bobbled out of his glove. It snappd his errorless string at 69 straight chances. . . . The error habit was catching, as testified by the final box score which showed seven miscues for the Orange and Black. The batting was encouraging for Newton Coach Howie Ferguson, with the Newtonites coming through with 11 hits. . . . Newton is scheduled to play at Waltham tomorrow and at home against Rindge Tech on Monday. These two games will give the Orange and Black a chance to show what it can do against Suburban League opposition, and will give an indication of whether the 1954 Tigers can come through again. . . . Newton pitching has come along marvelously the past three games (discounting the 6-6 tie with Watertown). The hitters are beginning to meet the ball solidly and the boys are starting to look like a team on the field. . . . But a big question mark—and this is a very big one—is the off-and-on fielding performances turned in to date by the Tiger infield. Newton erred seven times beating Brockton, a like number while trouncing Arlington and only two in defeating Watertown in a replay of the tie. If the infield becomes a little more sure-fisted, this team will be on its way!

Large Throngs Visit Arnold's Surplus Center at Opening

Opening of Arnold's Surplus Center on Route 9 at 180 Worcester street, Wellesley Hills, last week drew large numbers of interested and eager customers and Arnold Feldman, the proprietor, proved beyond a doubt that his new enterprise meets the needs of Newton, Needham, Wellesley and other community's residents.

So great was the response to the opening of this new store that Mr. Feldman urges those who have not yet visited his completely stocked store, to pay him a visit and see for themselves.

The store features work clothes, sporting goods, war surplus items, outdoor supplies and all general merchandise commonly stocked in surplus type stores.

For some time Arnold Feldman has been aware of the fact that surrounding communities have been without a store to fit the needs of the worker who appreciates savings. Mr. Feldman needs no introduction. He was brought up and educated in the schools in Wellesley and formerly operated a toy shop adjacent to his present location which was called The Old Barn and he has combined his new store with the old unit.

Arnold's Surplus Center is within a short drive of many surrounding communities and Mr. Feldman is ready to extend a hearty welcome to all who come to visit his new, completely stocked store.

CABLE SPLICE being made to give additional telephone service for new homes being constructed as well as giving higher clases of service to those who made requests.

Engineering Work By Telephone Co. Assures Better Service Here

In Newton on January 1, 1954 there were 1600 requests of telephone subscribers for a higher class of service than that which they have, according to J. J. Connery, Manager. In addition to this it has been estimated by the Telephone Comphany that there will be 1200 additional requests made this year for a higher class of service. These figures are for people who already have a telephone.

In addition to these requests the Telephone Company estimates that there will be 500 new telephone subscribers in Newton in 1954 due to the continuing building program in both the home and business field.

In order to meet these needs the Telephone Company has cable work under construction and more planned so that by the end of 1954 all existing customer requirements should be met and all requests for new residence and business service fulfilled.

This has required a great deal of engineering on the part of the company in rearranging cables and adding facilities in many places to accomplish the program during this year.

The industrial section of Newton known as the "Miracle Mile" has created the need of additional facilities to be routed out to Needham street and the company is keeping pace with the building going on at that location.

Manager J. J. Connery also pointed out that during the year 1953 the requests for higher classes of service has been reduced from 4285 to 1600. This has been a tremendous accomplishment in that the completion of these requests has made it possible to give some type of service to customers who came into the city during 1953.

At present there are 11 people waiting for a telephone in the city and some type of service will be available to them by June.

Says State DPU Doing Good Job Protecting the Public

Stating that the Department of Public Utilities was doing a good job of protecting the public, Rep. George E. Rawson of Newton praised the State House of Representatives this week for turning down a bill which sought to have the attorney-general represent the public at hearings before the DPU.

"One of the 'hottest' issues before the House last week which escaped notice in the press," the Newton legislator stated, "was House Bill 704" The bill would require the attorney-general to represent the public at all hearings before the Department of Public Utilities.

"The real grand-daddy of this bill is one which the Democrats have been trying for several years to enact, to provide for a consumer's-counsel to provide such representation. They were never able to pass such a bill, even in the years when they controlled the General Court and there were more members than there are now who believed that all our public utilities wore horns and forked tails.

"At least many members seemed to believe that the votes were on that side of the case. As a matter of fact, it was always a specious argument, because if a homeowner adds up the cost of all his utilities — gas, electricity, telephone, etc. — they are a very small part of the total cost of living.

"The committee on state administration voted unanimously to reject the bill, and the chairman, Rep. Michael J. McCarthy of East Bridgewater, who is one of the ablest members of the House, carried the adverse report. He told the House that the DPU has for years done a good job of protecting the public on all matters before it.

"That is particularly true," Rep. Rawson declared, "at the present time, under the able chairmanship of David Brackman. The House agreed with Rep. McCarthy and rejected the bill by a roll call vote."

Newton Players' Final Production May 6, 7, 8 in W.N.

With the presentation of "See How They Run" on May 6, 7 and 8 at the new Pierce School, Temple street, West Newton, at 8:30 p.m., the Newton Players will bring to a close a season which has been notable for th variety of plays presented.

The opening production—the first by an amateur group—of "Affairs of State" under the direction of Carlene Samoiloff proved an entertaining comedy. "Dark Tower" directed by Maude Graham Higgins fulfilled the authors' description of it as a "melodrama" and Robert G. Reed's production of "See How They Run" will offer a complete change of dramatic pace.

The successful meeting of the specific demands of these three plays in staging, acting and direction are evidence of the versatility of the Newton Players' organization. A limited number of guest memberships at one dollar each for the final play may be obtained through any regular subscriber to the series, who will in turn refer the request to the ticket chairman, Mrs. William T. Donovan of 120 Collins road, Waban.

Evan Johnson, director of Recreation Department of Newton; Mrs. J. Lawrence Oncley, member of the Newton School Board; Kenneth E. Prior, probation officer of the Newton District Court. Moderator will be Dr. John T. Evans, clinical psychologist of the U. S. Naval Hospital, Chelsea, and who lives in Newtonville.

The purpose of the meeting to which all interested parents and members of Newton organizations are invited is to bring together a diversity of relevant viewpoints on the subject of assisting our children to become efficient and mature adults.

Juvenile delinquency provides an indication of trouble spots. Many more minor delinquencies occur than are publicized. What lessons can the delinquencies teach us? How can we avoid delinquencies of even minor degree? Specifically what is being done by resourses available in Newton? What are the problems of children in Newton? What means are available or can be established to assist parents in helping their children to mature to adulthood? These and similar questions will form the nucleous of the discussion.

The general theme is that "Prevention is far more valuable and efficient than treatment."

Each of the above experts will speak for 10 minutes, after which there will be an opportunity for members of the audience to present written questions to the panel members for discussion and answers.

Students Report on Exchange Trip to Ohio

OFF TO A GOOD START—Win Shaw of the Thompsonville Athletics hits the ball solidly in a losing cause as his team drops a 13-4 decision to the Newton Centre Senators in the double-header opening the Newton East Little League season. In the other game, Oak Hill swamped Chestnut Hill, 21-3. (Photo by Gordon R. Wilk)

One-Sided Wins Feature East Little League Opener in N.C.

Following a colorful parade of all 168 boys in the Newton East Major and International Little Leagues through Newton Centre, Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr. tossed in the first ball to launch the 1954 Little League season Saturday.

Mayor Whitmore made a brief speech before getting the game under way, and Police Chief Philip Purcell also spoke at the ceremonies at the Newton Centre playground.

A large crowd was on hand to watch the Newton Centre Senators take advantage of 13 bases on balls to overpower the Thompsonville Athletics by a 13-4 count. Outstanding for the victors was the clutch pitching of Mike Altman and the hitting of Jerry Burg and Ed Fineburg.

Going into the sixth and final inning, the game was deadlocked 3-3. Then Win Shaw, on the mound for Thompsonville, ran out of gas. Two relief pitchers tried vainly to stem the tide, but the Senators tallied nine times before the final out was made. Thompsonville then tried to counter with a rally of its own which petered out with one run home.

In the nightcap of the opening-day doubleheader, the Oak Hill Cubs swamped the Chestnut Hill Phillies 21-3. Neil Driscoll's 5-hit pitching kept the Phillies at bay while Oak Hill rapped out 22 hits, six of them for extra bases.

Big stickers for Oak Hill were Dave Rose with the season's first homer, a double and a single; Johnny Borofsky with a double and a single; Dick Aborn with two doubles; and Billy Sklar with four singles in five at bats. The Cubs rallied for four runs in the second inning and 10 in the third to clinch the verdict.

For the losers, left fielder Ed Hootstein smashed a round-tripper and a double to pace the Chestnut Hill attack, while Pete Kaplan did some nice relief hurling.

In the first weekday game of the young season Monday night, the Cubs unloaded a pair of home runs in the fourth inning to come from behind and beat the Thompsonville A's 6-2. Dave Rose smashed his second homer in as many games, and Paul Weinbaum provided the winning runs with a one-on round tripper.

Open School Addition Bids Tues., May 4

Opening of sealed bids for the construction of a new type addition to the Franklin school, Derby street, West Newton, will take place at 2:00 p.m., Tuesday, May 4, at the office of Public Building Department in City Hall, Building Commissioner Arthur Campbell has announced.

The four classroom demountable addition will be of prefabricated walls, constructed to blend with the present building. The first school addition of this type in the area, the project has been approved for a twenty by John E. Marshall, administrator of the Massachusetts School Building Commission, officials report.

The cost per classroom, estimated to be about $15,000, is about half the cost of a classroom of the usual type of construction, it is said. In addition the walls, held by bolts, will be salvageable to be used on another site if the extra classrooms are no longer needed at the Franklin School, it was reported.

The new type of construction has the appearance of a permanent addition and is far superior to the old type of "temporary" additions, according to officials.

L. J. BALBONI of 30 Lindbergh avenue, West Newton, has been appointed manager of the Faneuil district of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. He is married to the former Miss Laura Gentile, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Gentile of 166 River street Auburndale.

Proclaims May 15 As Armed Forces Day Observance

Calling upon Newton citizens to participate in exercises honoring the Army, Air Force, Navy, Marine Corps and veterans of these services, Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr. today proclaimed May 15 as Armed Forces Day.

The mayor pointed out in his proclamation that the armed forces at "posts, fields, garrisons and stations within our shores, in our island possesisons and in our foreign zones of occupation, courageously and unselfishly ever protect and promote those sacred doctrines of liberty upon which our nation was founded and has grown great."

He continued, "It is eminently fitting and proper that our gratitude and appreciation for the devotion and zeal of our armed forces be given concrete personal expression."

In conclusion, Mayor Whitmore stated, "I also call upon the citizens of Newton to join their countrymen in common dedication of this day to the armed forces of the United States, to display the flag of the United States, and to participate in exercises of our recognition of the skill, gallantry and uncompromising devotion to duty, characteristic of the armed forces in carrying out their missions."

Group of 30 Returns from Ten-Day Trip

(The following is a report in the students' own words of the Newton High School exchange visit by 15 boys and 15 girls, accompanied by two members of the faculty, to Cleveland Heights High School, Ohio. The group was scheduled to return yesterday (Wednesday) from their week-long visit to Ohio after a quick trip to Niagara Falls.)

After a slightly tearful—but nevertheless cheerful — farewell at the Newtonville station, our exchange bound for Cleveland Heights, Ohio, boarded a train Patriot's Day and started on our way.

Within a few hours we had settled down, and some of the novelty had worn off. Then we discovered that in the very next car was a group of Holy Cross men on a singing tour. They consented to sing for us, and so the evening passed quickly.

Following their departure, things became quiet (?) and a few of us even got some sleep.

Early the next morning a groggy but still cheerful group of exchangers met our Ohio pals at the East Cleveland station and went home to sleep for three hours.

Temporarily lifted by this dose of somnolence, we dragged ourselves to Heights High at noon and attended classes for the remainder of the school day. At the close of school, we were invited to a very pleasant reception with the faculty.

A little later we all went to a square dance which made it perfectly clear that we should have concentrated on sleeping the night before. The dance —put on by the senior class— was a lot of fun and introduced us nicely to the population of Heights.

I think I am quite safe in saying that most of us slept the rest of the day in preparation for a party at Nancy Greene's (one of the Cleveland exchange group) that evening.

Wednesday morning we arose bright and early to get to school on time for an official welcome by the entire student and faculty body. It was a great beginning for a wonderful day.

That afternoon we were excused from our late classes to visit the Cleveland Art Museum. The building itself is beautiful, but what is almost more lovely are the gardens around and in front of the museum.

On the front steps is the statute of "The Thinker" by Rodin. In a little lake which fronts the museum are swans and some of the largest goldfish we have ever seen. An unsuccessful attempt was made to catch one; we were going to bring it home to Boston and hang it in our school exchange room. This idea was vetoed by students and fish.

Incidentally, all the cherry blossom and apple blossom trees were in bloom, and there were daffodils and vari-colored tulips planted all over in dazzling beds.

Tour Foundry

Reluctantly we piled back into our bus and went out to the Cleveland Graphite-Bronze Company. This trip really proved interesting. We saw bearings made from iron bars, and followed all the processes through to the finished product.

We rushed home, and then returned to the high school with our exchange partners' parents for a box supper and Heights talent show. There are a lot of talented young people, there, and they gave us a wonderful show. Speaking of Heights' talent, Don Howard—the "Oh, Happy Day" boy—attends this school.

On Thursday, things were relatively calm except that the high school held an assembly for us during the third period. A panel of four Ohio people asked questions of four of our people, and the rest of us just sat and smiled knowingly.

After school, there was an all-girls "Playday." Many of the exchangers participated in this affair and had a lot of fun.

That evening we visited "Junior Achievement". It is an organization of high school pupils who get together to form a company and make things like lamps, lampshades, key chains, house markers, etc. They have a regular workshop and showroom, and it was very interesting to see them.

Later that night we visited the Karamu Theatre, which is a Negro theater in Cleveland. We were conducted through their workshops, both drama and art, and afterwards saw an operatic production of "The Trial" by Kafka in the theater-in-the-square.

On Friday, after school, we were conducted through Nela Park Light Institution. There we saw the largest and the smallest light bulbs, how to light our homes effectively and get the most out of the lamps we have, how a classroom should be lighted, and the various types of dramatic lighting. Nela Park is the administration and laboratory headquarters for the Lamp Department of General Electric.

All-School Party

An all-school party was held Friday night. There were booths and games, and the pool was open until 10 p.m. To begin the party, there was a student-faculty basketball game followed by professional entertainment. The exchange was invited to the party gratis, and we all had a wonderful time.

Since Saturday was a free day, many of us slept until quite late, then went into town or to a track meet or some other activity. The pool was open from seven to nine o'clock that evening for the exchange, so we all let off steam before gathering at Elliot Aronson's exchange pal's home for a party.

Sunday morning we attended services with our pals, and in the afternoon a big picnic was held in the Metropolitan Park. We played baseball, football, hiked and ate until we were stuffed.

A surprise party was held by Henry Genaske's exchange "pal". That evening we attended a performance of "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" at the 77th Street Theatre. After the show the cast visited with us and showed us around the building.

Full Line of Office Supplies Stocked at Moody Stationery

The public is invited to an open house Saturday at the newest stationery and office supplies store in the area, the Moody Stationery Company at 368 Moody street, Waltham.

This name has a familiar ring for all who have need of stationery or office supplies, for the Moody Stationery Company has been located in Waltham for the past 15 years, and its proprietor, Ben Richman, has been in the business for the same length of time.

The newly-opened store—a beautiful, well-lighted, modernistic place—was termed "the nicest looking stationery store in New England" by one of the office supply manufacturers representatives who has personally visited all such stores in the six-state region.

Mr. Richman stocks everything in stationery supplies from a paper clip to a complete office installation. At one side of the colorful showroom is one of the largest displays of steel office furniture to be found in this area. Also shown are typewriters, safes, adding machines and filing cabinets.

Practically every item in the showroom is displayed on open racks, either at one side or in a long case running down the middle of the gaily-tiled floor.

Moody Stationery offers service on both adding machines and typewriters, including a free pickup and delivery service.

The firm also features a complete office planning service with installation. One example of the magnitude of its work is the installation recently of 500 steel lockers in the Waltham Boys' Club.

An engineering department, with all supplies needed in this line of work, is included in the store. Moody Stationery stocks the largest fountain pen and desk accessory supplies in the area.

The store is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Fridays, and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. the rest of the week.

Besides Mr. Richman, the staff includes Robert Senigo, assistant manager; Richard Milligan, in charge of shipping and stock and a former Our Lady's High football luminary; Mrs. Myrna Fox, in charge of office and telephone sales; and Mrs. Rose Richman, in charge of general sales.

Gordon Smith of Weston will be the caller. Mr. Smith, who studied under the famed Charles Baldwin, is an experienced teacher and caller of square and folk dancing.

The Mason-Rice P.T.A. sponsors this dance to raise money for the Marion Cutts Scholarship. This $250 award is presented to a Newton High School graduate who is training for the teaching profession.

The ways and means committee in charge of arrangements is Mrs. Gerald Krumm, Mrs. Harold Berman, and Mrs. Walter Dietz, chairman. Tickets may be obtained from committee members or at the door of the club on the evening of the Square Dance.

Jackson Homestead Trustees List 'Good Start' on Museum

"A good start" toward transforming the Jackson Homestead into a true historic center and community museum was made during the third year of the Homestead's existence, according to the annual report of the board of trustees.

Several hundred gifts and loans of exhibits have enabled the trustees to make a start on their project of refurnishing the Homestead in the period of 1809 or earlier and also stocking the building with interesting historical displays.

"It is hoped in time to present there," the trustees reported, "as complete a picture as possible of life in early times in Newton and of the people who, through the centuries, by their diligence and by their foresight made possible the present-day Newton, of which we are all proud."

However, the trustees pointed out, "Compared to most existing historic houses and museums its existence as such has been short; but this is all the more reason to be convinced that a future of expansion and of great usefulness to the City of Newton lies ahead."

A new undertaking by the Friends of the Jackson Homestead — an organization which aids the work of the community museum—is the forming of the Newton Historical Society from the membership of the Friends' historical research committee.

"One of its first activities," stated the trustees, "will be to continue and enlarge the listing of the older houses in Newton; something which Newton, almost alone of the neighboring towns and cities has not done.

"A number of houses over 200 years old have been found; and each of these—and later, others of less age—will have its own folder, containing photographs and information. As research into Newton's past continues numberless other facts will be collected and made available to those interested."

A new step taken during the year was the appointment of a full-time director, Mrs. Walter R. Sears of Quincy, who now resides in an apartment in the Homestead.

During 1953, about 3500 persons visited the Homestead, the report continued. About 1000 of the visitors appeared the last two months of the year.

"Cataloguing and storing in good order the numerous items in the Homestead is proceeding rapidly, so that documents, pictures, etc., will be readily accessible. The small library of historical books in Newton and related subjects is constantly growing."

Repairs were made on several sections of the building, and the grounds are in the process of being beautified with flowers and shrubs, mainly through the help of the garden clubs in Newton.

Relating the work of 1953 to their aims, the Jackson Homestead trustees listed their program as follows:

"To restore, preserve, and furnish the Homestead (or parts of it) so as to show conditions of living in 1809 and before. This includes programs and demonstrations of historical interest.

"To collect and preserve articles, documents, pictures, etc., relating to Newton and its history—all of which might be otherwise lost.

"To make the Homestead and its work of continuous active value to the community through research into Newton's past and present; and to make available the results of such research to school children and to adults of Newton."

The trustees are Chairman Fred C. Alexander, Mrs. Harry S. Middendorf, Donald Dana McKay, Prof. Arthur S. Dewing, Mrs. Helen F. Walker, Dr. Sterling N. Loveland, and Secretary Mrs. E. Graham Bates.

Wellesley Night At Pops May 15

May 15 is the date for this year's Wellesley Night at Pops sponsored by the Boston Wellesley College Club. Proceeds from this event will be given to Wellesley's Student Aid Society. This Society supplements the work of the scholarship committee, and arranges gifts and loans to needy students.

A group of local alumnae are acting as advisors in this undertaking. They include Mrs. Charles C. Hornbostel of West Newton, Mrs. F. Robert Houlihan of Wellesley Hills, Mrs. Herbert V. Kibrick of Brookline, Mrs. Willis E. Pattison of Newtonville and Mrs. William F. Ray of Newton.

The betatron, producing 26,000,000 volts of radiation, is used in cancer treatment, the American Cancer Society says.

College 'Indians' To Stage Program Of Customs May 7

The Hosaga Indian Tribe of Springfield College, composed of students who study Indian lore and traditions, will present a program of Indian customs Friday, May 7, at 7:45 p.m. in the Newtonville Methodist Church.

The Hosaga tribe, dressed in full costume and painted as the original American Indian, has appeared throughout the northeastern section of the United States. The main purpose of the tribe is to give a sympathetic interpretation to the history, art, culture, costume and dance of the Indians.

The program will include fire-making, medicine dance, rattle dance, the elk mystery, Indian challenges, Chippewa deer hunter, and other phases of Indian life.

Marine Pfc. Robert J. Speer, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Speer of 287 Washington street, Newton, has been discharged from the service at the Marine Corps Air Station at Cherry Point, N. C

SPRING FEVER DOESN'T SLOW DOWN THESE WANT AD RESULTS . . .

Backyard Gardener

by Alfred W. Boicourt

Now that spring is really breaking into its full glory, gardening questions are coming thick and fast. Most of the questions pertain to bulbs but we also receive questions like "Why doesn't my Forsythia bloom or when do I prune my Forsythia?" So, this is an effort to answer briefly several questions.

Why did my Daffodil buds blast? Daffodils (Narcissus) buds were injured in many sections of New England by the drop to 15 degrees F. in the early part of April. If your Double White Poet's Narcissus escaped the frost, they may still blast because of too high temperature and dry atmosphere. These particular bulbs should be planted in a partially shaded location where it is cooler and the humidity higher. Also they should be sheltered from drying winds.

My Crocus leaves have been chewed off by rabbits. Will this reduce next year's flowers? Any injury to the foliage of most bulbs before the leaves turn brown will reduce the amount of food stored in the bulb and thus reduce flower bud development. Fortunately with Crocus, they will continue to send out new leaves for the next few weeks. Just hope the rabbits find something better to eat. Spray crocus with nicotine to discourage rabbits.

Can Easter Lily bulbs be planted outdoors? Yes, and you may expect bloom again outdoors next year. Croft Lilies, the type often sold at Easter, is hardy in most sections of New England. Set the bulbs 4 to 6 inches deep.

Forsythia buds may also have been killed by the severe drop in temperature in April or by low temperatures last winter. Severe pruning in the fall or early spring may also reduce the flowering. The best time to prune is immediately after flowering, taking out the oldest branches (larger than your thumb) clear to the base of the plant. Do not shear off the top of the Forsythia because it not only will encourage dense growth on top, but will reduce the total number of flowers. A shrub that is sheared will allow little light for the new shoots developing from the base. Thus, new shoots soon become spindly in a poorly pruned shrub.

Do You Know Massachusetts?

NEW FIRST

With the affixing of Governor Herter's signature, Massachusetts became the first and only state in the Union to specifically authorize its cities and towns to establish economic development commissions. Heretofore each community had to file a bill authorizing it to establish commissions to promote its economic development. The new bill permits cities and towns to establish industrial commissions and to appropriate sums for their use.

The Massachusetts Department of Commerce has been called upon to advise on the proper procedures for the establishment and operations of these commissions. Fifteen localities already had such commissions prior to the Legislative Act. The new bill is an important step in the industrial revolution of Massachusetts.

NEW TRANSPORTATION SERVICES

Waterman Steamship Corp. recently inaugurated a Boston-West Coast freight and passenger service. Nine C-2 type vessels, with accommodations for 12 passengers each, will be used in the run. Italian Airlines, a newcomer to New England, will inaugurate twice-a-week service from Boston to Rome beginning June 1. Its DC-6B's will carry both first-class and tourist on the same ship.

MASSACHUSETTS STILL LEADS

Shoe factories in Massachusetts during February shipped 7,619,000 pairs of shoes valued at $28,275,000, continuing the Commonwealth's position as the largest shoe producing state in the Union.

MILITARY CONTRACTS

U.S. Department of Commerce reports that between July 1950 and the close of 1953, military prime contracts amounting to $2,622,514,000 were placed in Massachusetts.

NEW PRODUCTS

The Burton Brush Co. of Cambridge has announced two new paint rollers for exterior house painting, the Pilgrim Industries of Brookline has produced a new type fin-tube radiation called "Raparound" for attachment to pipes in homes, greenhouses and factories which converts the pipe into a radiator which keeps home floors warmer and provides the kind of heat most needed in greenhouses. A bathroom shower valve that shuts off automatically after a sixty-second rinse and goes back on with a push of the button is now made by Symmons Engineering Co. of Boston.

STATISTICS

The Massachusetts Department of Commerce, Division of Research, is preparing for publication "Statistics of Massachusetts Cities and Towns by Regional Areas" which will contain information on land, population, form of government, valuation and land and buildings, tax rates among other items.
